Gas rationing unlikely, says energy chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government appeared determined today to put off gasoline rationing as long as possible — if not forever — with the emphasis on higher prices to discourage consumption.

President Nixon's new energy chief, William E. Simon, said Thursday that if rationing ever is used, it will not be before March 1. Chairman Herbert L. Stein of the President's economic council made clear today a preference for so-called price rationing.

Some major opponents of a direct rationing system have contended that an unwieldy new bureaucracy would have to be constructed to handle it, and also that by allowing prices to go up, the effect would be self-rationing by users unwilling to pay the costs.

Higher prices for diesel fuel already have caused some major disruptions of traffic on key highways by independent truckers conducting protest blockages. Most of these appeared to have ended today, but some truckers began using a new tactic in Ohio —forming parallel, slowmoving caravans of rigs that had much the same effect.

Cable found guilty on pot charge

UPLAND — Roger Cable, 35, an owner of the Cable Airport here, was convicted Thursday in Riverside Superior Court of transporting marijuana in his airplane.

The conviction was the result of a marijuana smuggling arrest May 31 at Banning Airport by Banning police and Riverside County deputy sheriffs.

Convicted with Cable on a separate charge of possessing marijuana was James Thomas Boyle, 23, of Costa Mesa, a passenger in the plane that Cable was reportedly using.

Judge John Neblett ordered both men to appear for probation hearings and sentencing in his courtroom Jan. 11. Both are free on bond.

Officers said at the time of the arrest that they found nearly 800 pounds of marijuana in the hangar which Cable used to store his plane at Banning.

Cable, member of a well-known Southland aviation family, soared into prominence in 1967, when he started Cable Commuter Airlines, a busy feeder service to major airlines, as well as a short flight opeation. The airline was bought by Golden West Airlines in 1969.

At the time of his arrest, Cable gave his occupation as a self-employed salesman. The Cable family has been operating the airport here since 1945.

U.S. remembers Pearl Harbor with prayers

PEARL HARBOR (UPI) — A group of Americans bowed their heads in prayer today over the quiet Pearl Harbor waters at the exact moment of the Japanese attack on a sunny morning 32 years ago.

The United States plunged into World War II 32 years ago today when Japanese planes bombed Pearl Harbor in a sneak attack that took 2,335 American lives and severely crippled the Pacific Fleet.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt called Dec. 7, 1941 "a date which will live in infamy."

The first bombs fell at 7:55 a.m. Hawaii time. The huge harbor became a holocaust with ships blowing to pieces and walls of flame racing across the oily waters.

More than 2,000 of the American dead were Navy men, and more than half of them were aboard the battleship Arizona. Eighteen of 46 U.S. warships were destroyed or badly crippled, and only 38 of 384 American planes got off the ground.

The United States was flung headlong into World War II.

5 men, 3 women caught in rolling stakeout

8 booked in Pomona burglary

By JACK BURSON
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — A rolling stakeout by Los Angeles police, which included use of a helicopter, resulted in the arrest of eight persons caught burglarizing McMahon's Furniture Co. here early today, authorities said.

All the persons arrested, five men and three women, are from Los Angeles and are suspects in burglaries there. They were jailed here after their arrest at 4 a.m. They are:

Robert Sims, 19, a shipping clerk; Robert Robertson, 20, a checker; Samuel Jackson, 24, a landscaper; Leon Glover, 32, a telephone operator; Paulette Geneva Rivera, 21, a waitress; Sandra Jean Sims, 21 a babysitter; Dedra Marshall, 19, an assembler, and a 17-year-old youth.

Authorities gave the following account.

Los Angeles police began surveillance of the suspects several weeks ago. The stakeout teams followed them by car and often by helicopter, hovering 5,000 feet above the vehicles.

Thursday night, LAPD officers followed the suspects from Los Angeles to Pomona. They watched the suspects in several vehicles, including a camper, drive around Pomona and then Claremont and later Ontario.

Eventually they returned to Pomona and parked at the rear of McMahon's at 505 Pomona Mall East. Then the suspects, still being observed by LAPD officers, waited for a train to pass just behind the store and as it did, kicked in the back door.

The men and women immediately raced inside and began removing television sets, stereo equipment and clock-radios. The items taken amounted to about $2,100.

The break-in was accomplished despite a 100-watt light burning over the door and a ringing burglary alarm. The scheme apparently called for quick entrance, flooding the place with persons to carry out items and quick escape. Similar burglaries have been accomplished in less than eight minutes.

The items were quickly loaded into the vehicles and driven away. The suspects were stopped by Los Angeles officers, and Pomona police who had joined them, at Garey Avenue and Philadelphia Street. They surrendered to about 17 officers without incident.

Police said that after the arrests, several shotguns were found in the rear of the camper. They said the guns are believed to have been taken in an earlier burglary in Los Angeles.

State OKs '55' limit for Jan. 1; will study more drastic measures

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California motorists will have to de-accelerate to 55 miles an hour on New Year's Day as a first emergency step toward easing a 30 per cent gasoline shortage.

It will mean added driving times from Los Angeles of 25 minutes to San Diego, 1 hour to Las Vegas and 1½ hours to San Francisco. It will take another hour to travel from Bakersfield to Sacramento. And San Francisco motorists will spend an additional 20 minutes driving to Sacramento and 40 minutes to Lake Tahoe.

The legislature, with varying degrees of seriousness, also is talking about more drastic measures when it reconvenes in January —such as disconnecting automobile air conditioners, requiring car pools, imposing gas rationing, delaying installation of new anti-smog devices and the state taking over ownership of California-produced oil.

Cutting the maximum speed limit from 65 m.p.h. to 55 m.p.h. is expected to reduce total gasoline consumption in this freeway-oriented state by 3 per cent—or 300 million gallons annually.

For individual automobiles used to zipping along at 70 m.p.h. —the pre-December maximum limit on many freeway stretches —the gas savings will be 15 per cent.

Both houses of the legislature, just before recessing a special three-day session until Jan. 7, passed the 55 m.p.h. bill Thursday and sent it to Gov. Ronald Reagan for his routine signature.

Reagan will sign the measure "within the next few days," his office said.

The bill (AB1969) by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, passed the Senate 27-4 with no votes to spare. The Assembly, on a 63-4 vote, then concurred in a Senate amendment putting the bill into effect Jan. 1.

Sponsors originally had hoped to cut speeds this weekend, but decided to wait until Jan. 1 to provide time for buses to change schedules and for workmen to replace 2,500 road signs.

"There's no way we can lose passing this bill," Morretti told his colleagues.

Besides saving gasoline, Moretti said, motorists should be entitled to lower car insurance rates because accident claims will "drop sharply as people drive less and do their driving at lower speeds."

The Reagan administration testified before the Senate Transportation Committee, which Thursday approved the bill 7 to 1, that the highway fatality rate doubles each time speed increases by 10 m.p.h., and that cutting back to 55 m.p.h. may help to relieve congestion by smoothing traffic flow.

Affected by the new speed limit, which could stay on the books until June 30, 1975, will be automobiles, buses, motorcycles and trailerless trucks. There already is a 55 m.p.h. speed limit for trucks and automobiles pulling trailers.

There was no organized opposition to the bill, which was whisked through the legislature in unusual speed.

But a few legislators questioned the "band-aid" approach of merely reducing the speed limit without taking more drastic actions.

Summing up the proponents' argument, Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, said both short and long range solutions were needed.

"Let's grow our own oil and increase our chances for peace (in the Mideast) instead of scrapping around for it in some foreign land," said Petris. "Meanwhile, let's slow down a bit and think."

SAN BRUNO (UPI) — Krimpin Wright, 18, committed suicide Thursday by wrapping wires around himself and plugging an extension cord into a ceiling light fixture.

Tense Middle East situation

Dayan here for urgent talks with Kissinger

By United Press International

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan flew to Washington today for urgent talks with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. Dayan said there was tension on the battlefronts but that it would not destroy the cease-fire nor prevent the convening of the Geneva peace conference.

Similar assurance that the Geneva conference would begin Dec. 18 as scheduled came from Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi who ended days of uncertainty over the Egyptian position by saying in a Swedish television interview that Egypt would go to Geneva "and hope for speedy and decisive results."

Kissinger told a Washington news conference Thursday it was "extremely probable" the Arab-Israeli peace conference would open and that it most likely would begin with discussion of "problems of a military nature." He said the Russians were cooperating very well in the work of setting up the conference and that if this attitude continues into substantive negotiations it offered real hope that an Arab-Israeli peace could be reached.

The Middle East situation remained so explosive that the Israeli and Egyptian armies were on a war footing along the Suez Canal. There has been a rash of cease-fire violations and an aerial battle Thursday in which Israel and Egypt each reported shooting down an enemy plane. It was the first dogfight since the cease-fire.

Ontario woman arrested in shooting of her husband

ONTARIO — A 23-year-old Ontario woman was booked in the West End Sheriff's Jail today on suspicion of attempted murder after her husband was shot in the neck following an argument at 552 W. Vesta St., Apartment 7.

Paul Ham, 25, the husband was listed in satisfactory condition at the Doctor's Hospital in Montclair. Doctors said Ham will have to undergo surgery to remove the bullet which lodged in his chest.

Mrs. Phyllis Rae Ham, 23, was arrested by police a few minutes after the 4:25 a.m. shooting.

Police officer Robert Britt said he responded to the Vesta Street area after a man called to report a shooting in the apartments.

Britt said he entered the bedroom of the apartment and found Mrs. Ham standing over her husband with a bathroom towel in her hand trying to stop his bleeding.

A family friend told officers that Ham and his wife had been separated for some time, but met each other at the apartment this morning. Britt was directed to a trash can where the woman had reportedly thrown a .25-caliber automatic pistol. Officers said it appeared one round had been fired from the pistol and another round was jammed in the chamber. It failed to fire.

The shooting is still under investigation, Britt said.

Two Chicago papers urge impeachment

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Sun-Times and the Chicago Daily News, two newspapers published by Marshall Field, today called for Congress to impeach President Nixon.

The Sun-Times, in an editorial in its morning edition, said that with the swearing in of Gerald Ford as vice president, the "continuity of the Presidency has been assured ... there is no longer any reason for Congress to delay the vigorous pursuit of impeachment proceedings against President Nixon."

"The President's culpability seems to us to be beyond question," the newspaper said. "But it is only through the impeachment procedure that his guilt or innocence can be established."

150-pound youth lifts burning auto to rescue trapped driver

SAN MATEO (UPI) — A heroic young chimney sweep lifted up the burning end of a Ford sedan on the busy Bayshore Freeway so that a man trapped underneath could be pulled free.

The action by James Brooks, 17, San Jose, "without a doubt" saved the life of Roger Anderson, 43, according to California Highway Patrol officer Ernest Warren.

Anderson had pulled off the highway Thursday when he noticed his left rear brake drum was on fire. He got a can of water from the trunk of his car with which to douse the flames. To do so, he climbed under the car.

Once he was under the car, the tire blew up from the heat and the car fell on Anderson's head, trapping him and nearly severing an ear.

He yelled for help as the flames crept closer to his face —and the gas tank.

A pickup truck stopped and Brooks, 17, who weighs 150 pounds lifted up the back of the Ford Galaxie, held it in place with his knees and then he and a companion, Ervin (Rocky) Lane, 39, also of San Jose, freed Anderson.

Doctors at a local hospital sowed Anderson's ear back in place, treated him for minor facial burns and released him.

The fire was extinguished and Patrolman Warren promised to recommend the two San Jose men for heroism awards.

First day on the job as vice president

Ford issues plea for bi-partisan cooperation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On his first full day as vice president, Gerald R. Ford took care of his only constitutional duty —presiding over the Senate —in a matter of 12 minutes today.

But he will still be devoting a large part of his time on Capitol Hill, where he served in Congress for 25 years, in fencemending efforts on behalf of President Nixon.

Ford, who took office Thursday as the nation's 40th vice president, called the Senate to order at 10 a. m. and after recognizing three members for brief statements, turned the gavel over to freshman Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa. The practice is traditionally followed by vice presidents.

One of the prime roles of the former House Republican leader now is expected to be to try to repair President Nixon's heavily damaged relationship with both Republicans and Democrats in Congress.

In a brief speech after his swearing in at a joint session Thursday evening, Ford dedicated himself to "the rule of law and justice for all Americans.'

With Nixon sitting silently nearby, the new vice president sounded a plea for bipartisan cooperation with the Democratic controlled Congress.

As today's Senate session opened, Ford recognized Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to clear a number of routine nominations by unanimous consent.

He then recognized Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott for brief remarks on the expected return of major league baseball to Washington and also recognized Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S. D., for a few words on a bill he was introducing.

Ford then gave way to Clark as presiding officer.

While this was going on, House Republicans met and unanimously elected Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona as new minority leader to succeed Ford.

Rhodes said a major goal of his leadership would be to try to exercise more Congressional influence on White House policy-making, indicating he would be talking about this soon with Ford.

The 60-year-old congressman under six administrations became the first vice president to be confirmed by Congress under the 25th amendment. He was sworn in by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, his hand on a Bible belonging to his seminary student son Michael and held by his wife Betty.

Michael and his brothers Jack and Steven sat in the VIP gallery with their sister Susan, who brushed away tears of emotion.

The new vice president made no mention of the dramatic events leading up to his elevation to the nation's second highest office—the resignation in disgrace eight weeks ago of Spiro T. Agnew after pleading no contest to a charge of tax evasion.

"I am a Ford not a Lincoln," he said. "My addresses will never be as eloquent as Lincoln's. But I will do my best to equal his brevity and plain speaking."

Ford pledged "my support and loyalty" to the President in his "crushing and lonely burdens." To the assembled Supreme Court and others he pledged "my dedication to the rule of law and equal justice for all Americans."

His voice cracked with emotion referring to his children and wife —"standing by my side as she always has, there are no words to tell you ... how much their being here means to me."

The eyes of Mrs. Ford, who was striking in a brilliant orange two piece dress, never left her husband's face as he spoke.

Ford's voice cracked and stumbled during the oath of office but his performance was otherwise flawless.

Not so the unprecedented occasion which saw some disorganized moments in the seating of diplomats and Supreme Court justices.

Nixon said nothing during the ceremony.

The ceremony, televised live on all three major networks, came barely an hour after the House Republican leader won overwhelming confirmation from his colleagues by a vote of 387 to 35.

Opposition came entirely from Democrats. Of 16 blacks in the House, only Rep. Andrew Young, D-Ga., voted for Ford.

Ford earlier had won Senate approval 92 to 3, with opposition coming only from Democrats — Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri and William D. Hathaway of Maine.

Biggest unemployment increase in 21 months

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unemployment rose in November to 4.7 per cent from 4.5 per cent, biggest increase in 21 months, and is expected to go even higher this winter as the fuel shortage causes more layoffs, the government said today.

Officials said they did not believe last month's employment statistics, gathered during the week of Nov. 11-17, had yet reflected much joblessness resulting from oil shortages caused by the Arab oil boycott.

Spokesmen for the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said layoffs caused by the fuel shortage should start showing up to some degree in the December employment report, which will be released in January, and to a larger degree in the January report.

The number of workers holding jobs showed little actual change in November. The total fell by 7,000 to 85.7 million.

However, the number of unemployed increased by 195,000 because about that many additional workers joined the labor force.

The jobs report followed by a day other gloomy economic news in the form of a report showing an increase last month in wholesale prices of almost 2 per cent, caused by zooming fuel costs running close to four times the biggest previous one-month rises.

The wholesale fuel price increases —ranging from close to 7 per cent for coal, nearly 35 per cent for gasoline and 45 per cent for diesel fuel —more than offset a decline in wholesale food prices.

Herbert L. Stein, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers said today he felt food prices would continue to register favorable trends, and possibly might even decline by the end of 1974. But he foresaw further fuel increases.

Stein maintained that favorable food price trends would far exceed the negative effect on the average worker's paycheck of increases in fuel prices. Gasoline, he said, accounts for only about 3 per cent of the worker's budget compared to up to 25 per cent by food.

The BLS said the increased unemployment was almost entirely among adult women and among men between ages 16 and 24.

The unemployment increase from 4.5 in October to 4.7 per cent was the largest for one month since March, 1972, when the rate also increased 0.2 per cent — from 5.7 up to 5.9. There had not been a larger increase since December, 1970.

BLS officials said today they now believe a 0.3 per cent dip in October from the 4.8 per cent unemployment level in September may have been what some statisticians call an aberration.

Except for October, the jobless rate since June had been at either 4.8 or 4.7 per cent.

But BLS officials agreed with predictions with private economists as well as President Nixon's economic experts that unemployment would be increasing in coming months, because an expected general slowdown in the economy, aggravated by the Arab oil boycott.

Stein has predicted joblessness may increase to as much as 6 per cent next year if the Arab boycott continues through 1974. Some private economists have predicted an 8 per cent unemployment rate.

The BLS said joblessness among white wokers edged up in November to 4.2 per cent from 4.1 per cent while the rate for black workers increased substantially more —from 8.3 up to 9.1 per cent.

Rocky to quit soon

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Times quoted aides of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today as saying he plans to resign before the end of the year to devote all his time in a bid for the 1976 GOP presidential nomination.

House approves bill easing way to name Saxbe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House gave final Congressional approval today to a bill designed to eliminate a constitutional obstacle to the nomination of Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio to be attorney general.

President Nixon has been holding up actually nominating Saxbe to replace Elliot Richardson until Congress passed a law lowering the attorney general's salary from $60,000 a year to $35,000.

Final approval was voted without objection after the Senate removed a nonrelated section attached by the House earlier this week to reform the congressional franking privilege.

The measure provides for a quick court test of the constitutionality of the legislative action. Opponents of the measure claim that the Constitution bars Saxbe from taking office and nothing short of a constitutional amendment can change that.

At issue is a clause in the Constitution which prohibits a member of Congress from serving in any federal office while the salary for the post was increased during his elected term.

Chapin pleads innocent to 4-count indictment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former presidential appointments secretary Dwight L. Chapin pleaded innocent today to a four-count indictment that he lied to a federal Watergate grand jury about Republican-sponsored 1972 campaign "dirty tricks."

"I plead not guity," Chapin said as he was arraigned before District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell.

Gesell released Chapin on personal recognizance and in a routine order, ordered Chapin to surrender his passport and not leave the United States.

Chapin, wearing a gray pinstriped suit, white shirt, and wine figured tie, sat in the courtroom quietly for several minutes before Gesell began the proceedings.

"I have no sense of regret," Chapin told reporters outside the court house after the hearing. "I only have a deep desire on behalf of my family, parents and friends to see that the trial is brought foreward quickly and my innocence is proved. The important thing is I am innocent and other facts will be brought out in the trial."

Gesell set a trial date of Feb. 19 and said he would hear pretrial motions Jan. 31.

Gesell granted Chapin's lawyer, Jacob Stein, permission to argue for dismissal of the indictment on grounds of prejudicial pretrial publicity, for a change of venue and to challenge the legality of the grand jury that returned the indictment.

He further ordered that Chapin be provided a copy of the secret grand jury minutes pertaining to his case unless prosecutors can show a good reason why they should be kept confidential.

He was indicted Nov. 29 on four counts charging he made false declarations last April 11 when he testified about the activities of Donald H. Segretti.

Each count carries a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Segretti, a former Treasury Department lawyer and college friend of Chapin, is serving a six-month sentence after pleading guilty to distributing illegal campaign literature in the 1972 Florida primary.

Close Ohio Turnpike in truck protest

By United Press International

The Ohio Highway Patrol today closed a 32-mile section of the Ohio Turnpike between Toledo and Fremont to the east for six hours because of slow moving traffic as truck drivers continued their protest against the rising cost of diesel fuel and low speed limits.

The turnpike section was reopened about 10:30 a.m. although the Toledo exit remained closed because of a large number of tractor-trailer rigs in the area.

Turnpike Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy said it was expected the highway patrol would be able to disperse the 400 trucks concentrated at the Toledo exit by "the end of the day."

The Patrol closed the Toledo-Fremont section when trucks moved along it at a slow rate of speed, slowing other traffic.

"Traffic was moving so slow so we just shut it down," said Lt. W.A. Stern of the Ohio Highway Patrol headquarters in Columbus.

Angry truckers in Arkansas and South Dakota warned of nationwide action next week.

The independent truckers, complaining of higher fuel costs and lower speed limits, have parked on major expressways and closed them to traffic for hours at a time in several states from Arkansas to Connecticut for the past four days.

In Ohio, where truckers blocked two major thoroughfares all night long, Gov. John J. Gilligan sent riot equipped state patrolmen to clear the roads. Officers smashed windows and used tear gas to clear the Ohio Turnpike, and 27 drivers were arrested. Police said 1,700 trucks were in blockades on Ohio highways at the peak of Thursday's demonstration.

By nightfall, truckers were gathering alongside some Ohio highways, but authorities reported traffic flowing smoothly. Other states where truckers deliberately snarled expressway traffic periodically during the week were Virginia, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Deleware, Michigan, New York and New Jersey.

In South Dakota, irate truckers blocked half of the eastbound lane of interstate 90 for three hours Thursday. State police did not try to make the truck drivers move, but instead routed traffic around them.

Murder suspects face another trial

SAN FRANCISCO — Betty Jean Hobson and Robert Seabock, both of Palo Alto, on trial for the alleged murder of a Chino prison guard and freeing of a prisoner, face yet another trial in U.S. District Court here on charges of harboring a prisoner.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert F. Peckman said he would wait until their murder trail ends in Los Angeles, probably sometime in January, before he schedules a federal trial in San Francisco.

Mrs. Hobson and Seabock are now on trial in a high-security courtroom in Los Angeles. They are accused of killing California Institution for Men prison guard Jesus Sanchez and freeing CIM prisoner Ronald Wayne Beaty on Oct. 6, 1972.

Mrs. Hobson, Seabock and two other persons, allegedly having ties with a Maoist revolutionary group called Venceremos, were indicted on federal charges of harboring a prisoner about the same time they were arrested in the Chino case.

Mrs. Smith collected 2,921 votes to 2,830 for Block and 2,349 for Mrs. McDonald.

Mrs. McDonald and Block are former planning commissioners while Mrs. Smith served on the parks and recreation commission.

Fleeing police car

Crash bruises cyclist; machine lost to flames

UPLAND — A 23-year-old Upland man escaped injury Thursday night when the motorcycle he was riding while being pursued by Upland police went out of control, crashed and caught fire on Foothill Boulevard near San Bernardino Road.

Robert Doyle Neeper of 835 N. Third Ave. was arrested seconds after the crash, accused of reckless driving. He was booked in the West End Jail and later released on bail.

Policeman Mike McCarthy said he was patrolling Memorial Park about 11 p.m. when he observed two custom "chopped down" motorcycles apparently engaging in a drag race east on Foothill Boulevard. McCarthy said he gave chase, turning on his red light and siren. One motorcycle continued east on Foothill Boulevard while the other turned south on Grove Avenue. McCarthy said he chased the biker on Grove Avenue.

The motorcyclist turned left off of Grove Avenue onto San Bernardino Road eastbound. McCarthy said he saw the cyclist lose control of the cycle at San Bernardino Road and Foothill Boulevard and fall. The cycle skidding down the road in a shower of sparks with its rider getting up off the ground and chasing after it on foot.

A witness, Rudy Vidaurri of San Bernardino, went into a bar and called for an ambulance and then went back outside to observe the motorcyclist attempting to put out the fire which engulfed the motorcycle. McCarthy said that he and Vidaurri had to restrain Neeper, who was screaming "put out the fire, put out the fire."

Neeper suffered only minor scrapes when he fell off his motorcycle. McCarthy said that the motorcycle was completely customized and probably valued at several thousand dollars. It was a total loss.

A motorist passing the accident scene stopped and attempted to put out the fire with several police fire extinguishers. He said none of them worked.

Attempted murder charged

Restaurant shooting suspect is arraigned

POMONA — Daniel David Morgan, 27, was arraigned Thursday in Pomona Municipal Court, charged with attempted murder in the wounding Tuesday night of restaurant manager John W. Clifford, 27.

Morgan was arraigned before Judge James H. Piatt, who scheduled his preliminary hearing Dec. 12. Morgan was ordered held in lieu of $20,000 bail.

The victim was wounded in the back and one ear as he crouched inside his car on the parking lot of Bob's Big Boy, 221 W. Holt Ave., where he is the manager. He was released Thursday from Pomona Valley Community Hospital, where he had been under treatment.

Police said the shooting, in which two shots from a .22-caliber rifle were fired through the car windshield and two others through the door, may have been related to a job application Morgan filed at the restaurant recently.

Beautiful weekend weather is forecast for Pomona Valley with temperatures approaching 80 degrees today and Saturday.

The fair and sunny weather should continue through Sunday. Nighttime lows will be near 40 degrees.

Jim Christopherson, forecaster for the National Weather Service office, said the local weather is possibly the best in the state. Rain is falling today in areas of Northern California and it is cloudy and cool in other parts of Southern California.

Man in cast beats, rapes local woman

POMONA — A young Pomona housewife told police Thursday she was kidnaped, beaten and raped by a man wearing a plaster cast on one arm.

The victim, 20 years old, said the man forced his way into her car after forcing her to the curb near Hansen and Grand avenues Wednesday night. She said he drove to a parking area near General Dynamics Pomona where she managed to slip from the car. But, she said, he caught her and slugged her several times, using the cast as a weapon. Then he forced her back into the car.

The young woman said he drove to San Dimas where the attack took place. Later he was picked up by another man in a car.

The victim was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital where she was treated for injuries to her face.

Man dies in flaming auto crash

The victim was Gerald Robert Bramlett of 7770 Paramount Court.

The single vehicle mishap occurred about 5:30 p.m. on San Bernardino Avenue east of Rochester Avenue where construction on the Devore Freeway is taking place.

According to authorities, Bramlett was eastbound on San Bernardino Avenue when he went into the construction zone, struck some barricades and lost control of his vehicle, which rolled over and caught fire. Bramlett was trapped inside the burning car.

Table tennis, race car tourneys slated

UPLAND — Table tennis and model race car fans will have plenty of action this weekend.

On Saturday, the Upland Recreation Department will hold the annual Pioneer Derby beginning at 10 a.m. at the Town Center kiosk.

Boys and girls 12 and under will be competing for best performance and best designed model race cars in the five-and six-ounce divisions.

First place trophies and second, third and fourth place ribbons will be awarded.

On Sunday, the city's first invitational table tennis tournament will be held beginning at 9 a.m. in the Upland High School gym.

Spaces are still open in most categories and interested persons may enter the tournament at the gym. The fee per event is $1 for juniors 17 and under, and $2 for seniors 18 and over.

Players are asked to bring their own paddles and tennis shoes. All other equipment will be furnished.

Both events are open to the public at no charge.

$1.9 million in tickets

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Fines amounting to $1.9 million were levied in Oregon for hazardous traffic violations on state highways during 1971-72.

Condominium nixed again

CLAREMONT — The Planning Commission has reaffirmed its denial of a request from H.B. W. Enterprises Inc. for a 20-unit condominium project at Seventh Street and Yale Avenue.

The applicant had appealed an earlier denial of the planners, and when representative Howard Weiner presented a plan at the Nov. 27 City Council meeting which eliminates two of the 20 units, the council referred the revised plan back to the commission for comments.

The planners said that if H. B. W. Enterprises, Inc. officials want consideration of the revised plan, they should ask for a public hearing.

The council continued its hearing on the appeal to Jan. 8.

In other actions, the commission voted on the following:

—Approved a tentative tract map for Lewis Homes of California of 52 lots on 19.9 acres south of Bluefield Drive and east of Mills Avenue.

A condition of the map is that the developer dedicate a 10-foot wide easement along the south property line to provide for a bridle trail connecting with a Lewis development to the east.

—Recommended that the city's general plan be amended by designating the northeast corner of Arrow Highway and Claremont Boulevard as industrial to conform to its present zoning.

The 3.34-acre lot had been designated as limited commercial because the city belives a neighborhood shopping center would be needed to serve the single-family residences and the college student population.

The city staff meanwhile stated the site is not particularly desirable or necessary for commercial use, and recommended the change to industrial. The land to the east in Montclair is zoned industrail.

—Recommended that the general plan designation for a triangular-shaped lot bounded by Arrow Highway, Elder Drive and Green Street be changed from residential to limited comercial. The staff said it is "unrealistic to think that the property would be used ultimately for residential purposes."

—Recommended that the council change the general plan designation of property at 601, 633 and 655 E. Foothill Blvd. (the northeast corner of Mills Avenue and Foothill Boulevard) to residential-office-commercial mix. The general plan presently designates the service station at the corner as highway commercial, and an apartment building and an artist studio to the east as residential with 10 to 20 units an acre. The property is zoned highway commercial.

—Recommended that the general plan designation for the former Claremont Lumber Co. property at 103 Berkeley Avenue be changed from residential (6 to 10 units an acre) to industrial. The property is zoned industrial.

Prince Charles in auto crash

LONDON (UPI) — A car driven by Prince Charles Thursday collided with two other autos, a Buckingham Palace spokesman said. No one was hurt.

The accident happened outside the home of Mrs. Leonard Guppy of Preston, who said, "When I arrived home, there were police everywhere."

The palace spokesman said the prince continued his journey in another vehicle. He had been driving from Portland, where he is attending a naval course.

Golden pardon in 1929 fraud

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Harry Golden, the author of "Only in America," Thursday received a presidential pardon on two mail fraud convictions and promptly registered to vote, the first time he has done so in 44 years.

Now 71, Golden was convicted in 1929 on two counts of defrauding clients of his brokerage firm. He was also given a five-year probated sentence in 1946 after pleading guilty to using the mails to defraud a hotel.

Despite the pardon, which was first requested in 1969, Golden had been eligible to vote for years, it turned out. North Carolina authorities said when he came to the state in 1941 the law allowed those convicted elsewhere to vote regardless.

The cigar-chomping writer gained note with his newspaper, "The Carolina Israelite," which he started in 1942, after leaving the staff of the Charlotte Observer, and closed down in 1968.

Injured woman gets Nixon note

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A Presidential get-well note did a little something Thursday to ease the pain of an aging widow who broke her hip changing light bulbs to conserve electricity.

Maude Chamberlain, 82, said President Nixon's recent television appeal to help save power prompted her to switch the 100 watt light bulbs in her home to 60 watts. She toppled from a stepladder, though, and wound up with a fractured hip.

Her get-well note from the President read: "Today I learned of the accident which you suffered as a result of your intentions to help in our nation's energy crisis. I understand that you continue to remain cheerful despite the setback, and Mrs. Nixon and I want to join your many friends in sending you our warm wishes as you work to get well."

Wambaugh has round in court

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Joseph Wambaugh, the novelist-policeman, Thursday won a round in court when a judge denied a bid to stop distribution of "The Onion Field," his latest book.

Gregory Ulas Powell, who is appealing his 1969 conviction for killing a Los Angeles policeman, said in a Superior Court suit that distribution of the book, a nonfiction work dealing with his case, would prejudice prospective jurors if he is tried again.

"There are millions of people in this country who don't read books," said Judge David A. Thomas.

Scali released from hospital

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Two weeks after a vital heart bypass operation, John Scali, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, was released Thursday from the Arizona Heart Institute.

Scali told newsmen he felt fine after the open heart surgery but for the next few weeks he would recuperate at a nearby desert ranch before resuming his U.N. duties "full blast."

Dr. Edward Diethrich, chief of the surgical team, said the ambassador had been on the verge of suffering a heart attack when he arrived 16 days ago.

Teamsters sue actor McMahon

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Teamsters Union has sued Ed McMahon, announcer on the Johnny Carson Show, and several others for $6.8 million for allegedly failing to improve the union's image in a multimedia promotion campaign.

The civil suit accused McMahon, Nick Torzeski and the American on the Move Productions, Inc., with using $1.8 million in Teamster money for their own enterprises.

The union said it wants the promotional money back plus $2.5 million for damage to its reputation and another $2.5 million for punitive damages.

Dissident says change possible

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Four of the Chicago Seven defendants were freed Thursday on contempt charges, but a fifth, Tom Hayden, said he remained skeptical of the American judicial system.

Hayden conceded, though, that he had a new feeling that "things can be changed" in the United States.

"If there had been no popular support—no 500 demonstrations at the end of the (1969) trial— I'm not sure we would have ever gotten bail. I'm confident now that things can be changed...but it is impossible without the ability to carry out a very long struggle."

Campaign fund changes urged

MORRISTOWN, Tenn. (UPI) — Helen Thomas, White House correspondent for United Press International, said Thursday that the best way to avoid future scandals similar to the Watergate affair would be change how campaigns are financed.

"Ways have to be found to make campaigns less expensive and candidates have to live up to their promises," she said. "We need real reform across the board. Any candidate who runs knows he's going to be watched. They're going to be under the gun."

Her comments came in an address to the East Tennessee chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the journalists' society.

Citizen of Year: Mrs. Carson Hawk

SAN DIMAS — "Where ever two or three people meet to improve things in San Dimas, Mrs. Carson Hawk is in their midst," members and friends of the Chamber of Commerce were told Thursday night as Mrs. Hawk was named Citizen of the Year.

MRS. CARSON HAWK

Mrs. Hawk, 210 E. Gladstone St., is the 10th community leader to receive the town's highest civic award and the second woman to be honored.

The presentation was the highlight of a dinner dance attended by 85 people at the Via Verde Country Club.

Jim McLean, last year's winner, explained that Mrs. Hawk is so busy that she almost didn't attend the chamber dinner because of a conflict with another meeting. She agreed to come after Jack Carruthers, chamber manager, appealed to her to take photographs of the event, as she often does for club meetings.

Mrs. Hawk, the mother of three children, has lived in San Dimas for the past 25 years where she has been active in almost every civic organization in a leadership capacity.

She is the former president of the San Dimas Woman's Club and the McKinley Home for Boys Auxiliary. She served on the San Dimas General Plan Update Committee and the San Dimas Civic Center Advisory Committee.

She is the former president of the San Dimas Coordinating Council and is presently vice president. She is a director of the San Dimas Hospital Auxiliary and is in charge of teen volunteers.

She has been involved for many years with Girl Scout activities and in particular, Troop 333. She is active in the Bonita High School Boosters Club and the Order of Merit, to name a few of the organizations she has worked with.

She is a member of the Pilgrim Congregational Church in Pomona where she sings in the choir. She is a contralto soloist and often appears in music productions throughout the Pomona Valley.

Mrs. Hawk was selected as the Progress-Bulletin Woman Achiever in 1972 for her community service and because of the fact that most of her interests are "family oriented."

The chamber also honored Mrs. Don Haefer, who has served as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce for more than 10 years.

Also honored were retiring directors, Roger Williams and Bob Wilson. Williams was ill and unable to attend the meeting and will be presented with his plaque at a later date.

Racial tension cripples Palm Springs school

PALM SPRINGS (UPI) — Simmering racial tensions at Palm Springs High for the past three days prompted 40 per cent of the students to stay home Thursday.

Police here arrested two students in connection with racial strife on campus and seized two clubs commonly used to deal certain karate blows.

School Superintendent Grover Moore wrote parents of the 1,600-member student body, saying they could keep their child home if they felt they might be injured during continuing black-white tensions.

No progress in strike of food stores

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A federal mediator in California's massive supermarket strikelockhout said shoppers statewide would have to suffer more barren market shelves and overcrowding, at least through the weekend.

Nearly half of the major northern California stores have been shut down while the strike has merely slowed down Southern California market operations.

The empty milk, meat and bread shelves in many northern California markets —and the overcrowded aisles —was a condition absent this week in the southern half of the state.

Mediator Richard Hughes said representatives of the striking coalition of unions, and management, have agreed on Monday to resume the face-to-face talks which broke down last weekend.

Yet there is little but their agreement to bargain. Neither side in the extended strike seemed optimistic Thursday that the contract talks would bear early fruit.

The food industry strike entered its fifth day today with word that Los Angeles' supply system for fruits and vegetables was headed for disruption with the addition to the strike of the downtown wholesale produce markets.

Some of Jupiter's secrets unraveled

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — With a steady flow of information about Jupiter from Pioneer 10, the space agency has unraveled secrets about the planet's fantastic energy dynamo, its extraordinary moon Io and its enormous great Red Spot.

The great Red Spot, an oval shape like the planet's baleful eye and large enough to swallow a couple of earths, appears and disappears every 30 years.

Pioneer's infrared measurements showed the spot's temperature to be not much different from the rest of the planet, but the infrared investigator, Guido Munch, concluded that it was "a deep-seated phenomenon."

At NASA Pioneer Mission Control, Munch said Thursday the spot must be a vortex of swirling gases, anchoraged to some kind of hot promentory deep in the planet.

Infrared equipment confirmed that Jupiter, 1,300 times the volume of earth, radiates 2.5 times as much energy as it receives from the sun. The temperatures were the same on Jupiter's dark side as on the sunny side.

Jupiter's energy may come from nuclear decomposition in the planet's interior, or it may be generated by the collapsing of the planet's gaseous structure into the core.

At a depth of 12 miles, Jupiter's temperatures varied irregularly between 215 and 230 degrees Fahrenheit below zero. Warmer areas seem to concide with whitish zones banding the planet.

With Pioneer data, astronomers corrected their estimates of the mass of Jupiter and four closest moons. They said the mass was heavier by an amount equivalent to two earth moons.

The orange Jovian moon Io, thought to be the size of Earth's moon, was found to be 22 per cent heavier. This means Io must contain heavier elements such as rock or metal, unlike Jupiter's other lighter, gaseous moons.

Io was discovered to have an atmosphere 65 miles deep although the atmosphere density was thought 20 million times less than Earth. Existence of an atmosphere may explain regular bursts of energy, equivalent to several hydrogen bombs, in its area. The atmosphere would serve as a conductor for huge electrical discharges.

Another Pioneer discovery was the presence at Jupiter of helium. The ratio of helium to hydrogen is crucial to designers of future space probes which may dive deep into Jupiter's clouds and liquid surface.

Pioneer also determined that Jupiter's dust belt is safe for spacecraft. However, a manmade satellite put into orbit around Jupiter might be endangered by the dust, the space agency said.

As scientists faced months of computer analysis of Pioneer's data, the spacecraft, first to visit Jupiter, voyaged toward the outer planets where its radio signal should continue until fading out near Uranus in 1979. Today it has traveled 2.5 million miles from its closest approach, Monday night, to Jupiter.

Kennedy urges cooperation with allies on oil issues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said that the United States must cooperate with Western Europe and Japan on energy to avoid "cutthroat competition" for scarce oil supplies.

Warning that competition for oil from the Middle East and North Africa will grow, even after the oil embargo ends, Kennedy said in a Senate speech, "It is now imperative for the United States, Western Europe and Japan to begin real cooperation in energy matters.

"We are all in this together, and together we will meet the energy challenge, or watch it drive us apart in a vicious scramble for scarce energy supplies."

Kennedy proposed that arrangements be made to share energy resources in time of scarcity on an equitable basis "to insure that no nation suffers too drastically from the crisis.

"Only in this way can the United States, Europe and Japan avoid the cut-throat competition that will inevitably materialize in the race to obtain scarce fuel supplies."

Kennedy also introduced a resolution urging President Nixon to propose the convening by the United Nations of a world energy conference to include all nations.

"We can no more become a Fortress America on energy than we could do so militarily a generation ago," he said.

Demo provides only surprise of confirmation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The only surprise in the unventful confirmation and swearing-in of Gerald R. Ford as vice president was provided by Rep. Peter W. Rodino, Jr., D-N.J.

He voted "no." So did 34 other members of the House.

What set Rodino apart, however, was that he, as chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, presided over the confirmation hearings and voted to report Ford's nomination.

Not only that, Rodino kept liberal Democrats, unhappy with the selection of Ford, at bay and cleared the way for his swift inauguration.

In an eight-page speech to a badly-attended session of the House, Rodino made it clear Thursday that he was voting, not against Ford, but as a protest against President Nixon's policies.

"I must express in voting the frustration which the great majority of my constituents feel with the course the incumbent President has embarked upon," he said.

"I vote, not against Gerald Ford's worth as a man of great integrity, but in dissent with the present administration's indifference to the plight of many Americans."

Barber shop's topless girl ahead of times

DOVER, Del. (UPI) — This city's only barber shop featuring a topless shampoo girl has found itself too far ahead of its time.

Barber George H. Austin, 44, had to fire his shapely 22-year-old assistant Thursday under orders from his landlord or face eviction. The landlord said there were too many complaints from local citizens groups.

"I thought this area was ready for it," Austin said, "but apparently it wasn't.

"It was either get rid of her or get evicted."

Six customers tried the $5 shampoo with a view on Tuesday.

"The customers who had a chance to try it thought it was lovely," Austin said.

HIS LAST RIDE?—Robert Geist, Minneapolis truck driver, sits in his cab while he waits for money from home to continue his trip to Pennsylvania with a load of beans from South Dakota. Geist, who ran out of money in a south suburban town near Chicago and couldn't buy diesel fuel due to higher prices and limited supplies, says he may have to quit the trucking business.

Wall Street trying to keep its cool

NEW YORK (UPI) — The tune may be a little off key, but Wall Street at least is whistling through this bear market, one of the worst in years.

The Dow Jones industrial average is at its lowest point in more than three years. Above 1,000 less than a year ago, it's now below the 800-level, an area last touched on Nov. 27, 1970. Many stocks are selling at multiples of 4 and 5 times earnings where they were considered attractive a year ago at double these figures.

The economy seems sour...the energy crisis won't go away... settlement of the Middle East trouble seems impossible.. credibility in the national administration probably never was lower.

"But let's not be unduly pessimistic" said Alan Shaw, vice president of Harris Upham and Co. "Of course, there's reason to be gloomy these days. But remember, nearly all bull markets of the past—and it's of this one—were born of undue pessimism. This is a time to think positively."

Shaw said what many fail to realize is that for some time most stocks have been in a downtrend which simply has accelerated recently.

The investor being hurt most these days is the one "who is letting emotional and psychological pressures force him to sell his stock," Robert Waill, vice president of Inverness Counsel Inc. said.

End of a way of life?

Hard times fall on truck drivers caught in squeeze

By DAVID SMOTHERS

SOUTH HOLLAND, Ill. (UPI) — Robert Geist sat in the lounge of the Calumet Union 76 Truckstop, staring morosely at a blonde selling soap on the color television, waiting for money from home so he could get his rig rolling again.

"I guess this is the last load," he said. "I can't do it no more. I've got a load of beans out there from the Dakotas for eastern Pennsylvania and I'm already two days late. I'm out of diesel fuel and out of money.

"This trip used to cost me from $100 to $125 and I started out with $200. But they were charging me 40 cents a gallon in Iowa and giving me only 50 gallons at a time, so I had to keep stopping. Then, at Freeport, a trooper stopped me for having Minnesota plates and not paying the Illinois truckers' tax and he took my last $25. I've been here since last night.

"So I'm waiting for my family to wire me $150 from Minneapolis so we can go on. The trip will cost me $200-$250 before it's through. I can't make it on that. We'll go on relief, I guess, us and our nine kids. I've been a trucker 10, 15 years. I've never been on relief."

Geist, husky, 39, booted and denim-clad, was talking soberly of giving up a way of life.

So were a lot of the other close to 100 truckers from around the country waiting, eating, drinking coffee, or just wasting time Wednesday afternoon in this capacious complex on the Calumet Expressway just south of Chicago designed expressly for the over the road driver.

There were at least 40 rigs standing outside in the swirling snow. Inside, the men congregated in a privileged area labeled "for professional drivers only."

Many of them were, like Geist, independent operators who own their own rigs or pay for all their operating costs. Of four chosen at random, all said they were getting out of trucking or feared they would be forced to soon.

The men talked, approvingly for the most part, of the trucking rigs which were blocking traffic at that moment some 60 miles away on the Indiana Tollway at South Bend.

They talked of the price of diesel fuel, which used to cost them 26 cents a gallon scarcely a year ago and is now, they claimed, going for 87 cents a gallon on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

They bristled at lowered speed limits which, they insisted, cause them to burn up to 25 per cent more of the precious fuel in order to wind up at their destinations so late that their next haul of the week must be canceled and they are $100 to $200 poorer.

They spoke darkly of Watergate ("They think this whole fuel shortage is just a coverup for Watergate," a waitress said). There was talk of fighting back.

"Steel makes a good blockade," a steel hauler said. A companion said cheerfully, "just block the roads for three or four days and wait until people start hollering for food."

They told each other, "us truckers can paralyze this country, you know."

One of those who said it was James Tibbs, 43, of Lawrence, Ind. His face shows the seams of 18 years of truck driving—18 years of which he figures he has spent an elapsed total of five with his wife and six children.

Tibbs said he quit being a trucker Wednesday.

"I sold my old rig back to the company where I got it Friday," he said. "Today, I came down to buy a new '73 tractor job. They asked $476 a month for it. I paid just $176 for the same kind of job I bought five years ago.

"I backed out. I can't see working for nothing. I might as well be home broke with my family than doing that."

Prop. 1 opposition funding disclosed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax ceiling initiative was defeated with the help of a $511,000 campaign financed by state employes, school teachers and a wealthy Los Angeles industrialist.

But the opposition campaign was relative meager compared to the expenditures of the Reagan forces, which totalled nearly $1.5 million even before the election.

The two main groups opposing Prop. 1 said Wednesday they spent $510,900 and collected about $535,400.

Major contributions came from Los Angeles industrialist Max Palevsky, who gave $25,000; the California State Employes Association, $200,000, and the California Teachers Association, $100,000.

Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., has predicted the total cost of the campaign for and against the measure will total about $2.5 million when all spending reports are in by today's deadline.

He said that would make it one of the "most expensive ballot measure campaigns in California history."

Palevsky gave his contribution to California Taxpayers Against Prop. 1, organized by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti of Van Nuys, a Democratic gubernatorial candidate and the most outspoken opponent of the initiative.

Palesvky was a major financial figure in the presidential campaign of Sen. George McGovern, D-South Dakota.

Moretti's group spent about $158,000, and collected about $180,000, a spokesman for the organization said in an interview.

Californians against Prop. 1 reported spending $352,927 and collecting $355,373, according to statements on file with Brown's office.

The group was established by the San Francisco political management firm of Whitaker and Baxter.

The California State Employes Association gave $150,000 to that group and $50,000 to Moretti's organization.

Another $100,000 was contributed by the California Teachers Association to "Californians Against."

Moretti loaned his own group $60,000 of his gubernatorial campaign funds and has been repaid $15,000, according to the spokesman.

Reagan's campaign group had not filed its finance report by late Wednesday.

But its pre-election report showed it spent about $1.5 million and raised $1.3 million.

Grid battle cry

The first football cheer was based on a battle cry. Princetonians roared out a lusty "Siss, boom, ah" at the Rutgers-Princeton game in 1869. The shout derived from the rocket yell of New York's Seventh Regiment.

Frozen ducks tumble down on Stuttgart

STUTTGART, Ark. (UPI) — If the stars can fall on Alabama, if the moon shines over Miami and if the swallows really do come back to Capistrano, then there's no reason why frozen ducks can't tumble down on Stuttgart.

On the day after Thanksgiving hefty, mature mallards came crashing out of the sky. Many of them were frozen stiff.

"They were good," Roberta Essex said Tuesday. Her husband cleaned seven of them and put six up in the freezer for use later.

"We ate one of them and one we had from last year, and they tasted about the same," she said.

The day the ducks came tumbling down was a wild and turbulent one in Arkansas. Several twisters were sighted over the state and several touched down amid violent springlike thunderstorms, wind flurries and hail storms.

Two tornadoes caused minor damage along the southern outskirts of Stuttgart.

"It was about 4 p.m.," said Lloyd McCollum, chairman of the State Game and Fish Commission, who lives here. "Within 10 to 15 minutes all of them had come down, all mature, fairly heavy ducks."

The ducks came down with a lot of hail and several were completely ice-encrusted, according to witnesses. Possibly they may have been pitched up higher than normal and frozen along with the hail.

"They got up there in colder atmosphere and, just like an airplane, got iced over," McCollum said. "They got ice on their wings and couldn't fly. In short, they just froze to death.

"They were very healthy looking ducks and a bunch of people just picked them up and ate them. I'm sure they're just as good as freshly killed and of course they were."

Stuttgart, in Southeast Arkansas, is on the route of ducks heading south for the winter. Some even stay in the hardwood areas of the state although most head further south towards the marshes of Louisiana.

For sure no one had ever heard of such a thing happening in these parts.

"I've lived here all my life, and it's a unique experience," McCollum said.

Rust battle

SYDNEY (UPI) — Australian home owners and industrialists are spending $650 million a year combatting rust, a research report says. The total bill for corroded water heaters in 1972 was $24.8 million and rust-damaged car mufflers are costing motorists $22.6 million a year.

Opening of new Las Vegas hotel looked like Hollywood golden days

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Black limousines lined the entrance bumper to bumper...jewels sparkled as mink-clad first nighters pushed inside. It was the world premier of Metro Goldwyn Mayer's most spectacular undertaking.

The famous MGM lion rested on a pedestal outside the $106 million Grand Hotel watching as the curtain went up on the world's largest gambling resort.

Vintage cars rolled to the entrance. Out stepped such golden age of Hollywood stars such as Jane Pwell, Margaret O'Brien, Jack Haley, Cary Grant, June Haver, Fred McMurray, George Raft and Howard Keel.

They kept coming: Shirley McClaine, Sergio Franchi, Johnny Carson, Dick Martin, June Allyson, Connie Stevens, Barbara Eden.

Owners and developers had blended the worlds of Hollywood and Las Vegas in the MGM Grand Hotel.

The MGM Grand Hotel—Nevada's largest gambling factory—was opening in the middle of the energy crisis when this tourist-fed economy was faced with service station closures on Sunday, gas rationing and reductions in aviation.

But Wednesday night the roar of the MGM lion drowned out the voices of the outside world, the world of fantasy prevailed.

Singer Dean Martin starred in the 1,200 seat Celebrity Theater where invited guests drank, applauded and ate gourmet food.

The 50,000-square foot casino, longer than a football field— accented with Italian marble, ceiling murals and tinling chandliers—filled with gamblers.

The casino is supposed to carry half the financial load of the MGM Grand Hotel which developers said would pay for itself in a decade.

As the resort filled, the voices became loud:

"Nine, the point is nine. Place your bets. Nine! Pay the field. Pay the line. It's the coming out roll. Place your bets.

"Yes, that's right Dean Martin goes on at 8 p.m. in the Celebrity Theater.

"No sir, the jai a lai fronton is not open tonight. It will be open in about two weeks.

"Winner 13, black. Pay 13, pay black, pay odd, place your bets."

Nevada's largest gambling factory employes more than 3,000 persons which exceeds the population of some rural counties in Nevada. It has 2,100 rooms and the casino holds 1,000 slot machines, 10 crap tables, 45 blackjack tables, roulette wheels, a keno lounge for 200, two baccarat games, 16 poker tables, a movie theater, a second showroom which seats 800 persons, a high-roller casino on the 26th floor where the minimum bet is $50, a dinner seating capacity of 11,000 persons including convention rooms and the grand ballroom, a jai a lai fronton, two swimming pools, enough carpet to cover 60 football fields, 350 cooks, and on and on.

MGM Studios, once the superpower of film making, turned away from celluloid expenditures Wednesday night and entered the field of participation entertainment on a giant scale.

But MGM did not forget its past. One corridor in the hotel was perhaps neglected by the excited first nighters Wednesday. It is a wide posh hallway leading away from the casino and is a walk through the pages of an old movie magazine. There are the bigger than life faces of the past which made MGM a roaring lion: Judy Garland, Clark Gable, Joan Crawford, Hedy Lamar, Wallace Berry, Spencer Tracy, Ingrid Bergman, and Vivien Leigh.

Of energy shortage

Love says Nixon, others unaware of seriousness

DENVER (UPI) — Former energy adviser John A. Love said Tuesday that President Nixon and others in Washington don't know how serious the energy shortage is.

Love resigned Monday after a dispute with Treasury Secretary George Shultz, who urged Nixon not to give in to Love's demands for immediate gasoline rationing.

"Most of them didn't realize the depth of this problem," Love said. "Maybe President Nixon is getting there now but because of the situations he has been in, I don't really think he was able to focus on the problem."

Love said it would take at least three and possibly five years to come up with even interim solutions to the energy shortage.

"The situation might be a little bit better if the Arabs reversed their policy and turned on the spigot but there is still going to be a gap between needs and supplies.

"I don't see anything optimistic. It's going to be a new world. The nation is going to realize a real shortage of energy. We're going to have to change our very lifestyles."

Love, arriving home with his wife, Ann, said he wasn't sorry he resigned as governor of Colorado last July to join the Nixon administration.

"It was a job that needed doing but I really didn't foresee that I would not be able to be more effective.

"They say you can come back either in victory or come back on your shield," Love said. "I do not come back either way. I am a bit battered and bruised but my head is unbowed.

"I'm going to put my feet up and do nothing for awhile."

Rattles & straws

Being chicken about the pie

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

I wish the Meat and Poultry Inspection Division of the U.S Department of Agriculture would leave me alone. I'm far enough behind on my outside reading already, without their new regulation about labels on everything we eat.

With a determination that would astonish a bulldog, I long ago set myself to reading Time Magazine regularly each week, from Letter to the Publisher in front to the Dewar's White Label Scotch advertisement at the back. I fell behind in my reading during my summer vacation in 1968 and I have never caught up. I am about eight months behind and losing ground, but I read them in order, and I'll get through that pile some day. Maybe I'll come down with pneumonia and have lots of time to read in my oxygen tent. I wonder if this Watergate story will ever amount to anything. I wonder if the N.Y. Yankees have a chance at the 1973 pennant.

Now comes the MPI division of the USDA ordering meat and poultry processors to slap labels on their packaged goods listing contents, weight, cooking instructions and everything but the ancestry of the encapsulated animal. Reading the label on a can of chicken noodle soup can set me back two whole Times.

The MPI says the label, the container or packaging material, the formula or recipe for the product, a description of the way it is made, and a sample of the product must be submitted to the USDA for approval or it's a no-no to market it. Next thing we'll get is a federal subsidy for label printers.

The label must contain an accurate description of the project, according to the feds. Seems reasonable. If you are canning tomato juice, you shouldn't label it grapefruit juice. You just make a lot of people sore.

The picture on the can, jar or box must be accurate, too. If your ad agency Rembrandt limns a pork and beans label showing lots of juicy chunks of pork awash in a sea of beans, the can better contain lots of juicy chunks of pork awash in a sea of beans or you're in trouble with the Aggies.

If your product is marked "All Beef" or "All Pork" it must be all beef (or pork). If you pad it up with "extenders," you have to publicly confess: "Cereal Added." (Shame!) Similarly if you add horse meat to your ground round, you have to note "Horsemeat added." (Whatever happened to Secretariat?)

Okay, with Time on my hands, I read the label of the tiny little frozen chicken pie my wife sets out for my dinner when she's at the bridge club. The label looked like a chapter from "War and Peace." If I were not careful, warned the legend, I would be putting in my unsuspecting mouth chicken broth, enriched wheat flour, chicken meat, shortening, potatoes, carrots, water, margarine, modified food starch, salt, peas, sugar, nonfat dry milk, chicken fat, vegetable oil, sweet red peppers, celery, monosodium glutamate, dehydrated onions, and flavoring. Gulp. And here I thought it was just a simple chicken pie. I put it back in the freezer and went out for a pizza.

Reading labels is a waste of Time.

Army surpasses goal in recruiting drive

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the first time in 10 months the Army has met and surpassed its monthly recruiting goals, lifting Pentagon hopes that its all-volunteer experiment would work.

Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway said said Army recruiters signed up 102 per cent of the 12,900 November goal.

In every other month since the end of the draft was announced Jan. 27, the Army has failed to reach its enlistment target.

Callaway said, "There are a lot of people who don't think we'll succeed. But we are, and we're going to man the all-volunteer force with fine men and women."

In November, 9 per cent of the Army's new enlistees were women. During the 1950s and 1960s women made up only 1.5 to 2 per cent of the Army.

At the officer level, the influx of women was even more impressive. Twenty per cent of the college freshman volunteering for the Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) this fall were women. It was the first year the Army program has gone coed nationwide.

Had the Army been as successful as in November during the past nine months, Calloway said, there would not have been any shortfalls to begin with.

William K. Brehm, assistant defense secretary for manpower, recently predicted that by next summer the Army would be about 2 per cent short of its planned strength of 792,000.

"A 15,000 to 20,000 shortfall is not ideal," he said, "but also is not serious enough to cause us to ask Congress to reinstate the draft."

Jobless man offers eye for $35,000

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — A 40-year-old unemployed man has offered to sell an eye for $35,000.

The newspaper La Prensa said it received a letter recently from the man, who called himself "an adult, Catholic, of good character."

He said he wanted to buy a small house for his family, give a good education to his eight-year-old daughter and start a small business.

The man gave an address in the port city of Valparaiso.

Signal change in Claremont to be studied

CLAREMONT — The city Traffic Safety Committee has recommended a study be conducted of the Arrow Highway section before any decision is made to remove the left turn signals.

Public Works Director Paul E. Cook explained the county's Uniform Traffic Control Report on Arrow Highway has recommended removal of the left turn arrows.

Cook said he disagreed with the recommendation, but felt delay at the intersection could be improved by modernizing the vehicle detectors which control left turn signals.

Cook said updating the signals might be included in the 1974-75 budget.

The committee recommended to the City Council that signs and markings are needed for eastbound traffic on First Street at College Avenue where that street changes from a divided road to a two-way street. Cook recommended arrows on the pavement and a curve sign below the stop sign.

Dial a Smile gag now a real business

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — John Rosenthal's Dial a Smile "business" is doing great. Rosenthal is the 21-year-old Pontiac resident who dreamed up the idea of a recorded joke service on April Fool's Day, 1972.

Since then, dual a smile has logged 1,933,309 calls, an average of 15 a minute. The overload sometimes jams phone lines to Pontiac and Michigan Bell has had to assign three consulstants to the $250 monthly phone account of Rosenthal and his father, Thomas.

"Everybody likes a good clean laugh," the younger Rosenthal said, "unless you're a super Scrooge."

The format begins with a recording of hysterical laughter, Rosenthal's deep voice, "Hellooo there, welcome to dial a smile," and then the joke.

Rosenthal said he first got his short question-and-answer jokes (sample-q: what does a buck tooth cow say? a: mooof.) from children's joke books at the library. Now, however, he picks them from between 10 and 50 letters he gets daily from callers.

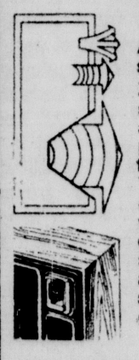
THE REASON ALLEGRO SOUND COMES CLOSE TO DUPLICATING A "LIVE" PERFORMANCE IN YOUR HOME

The whole idea of a stereo system is that the sound that goes in should come out again — as faithfully reproduced as possible. But with a lot of systems, including many with sealed speakers, that just doesn't happen. Some of the deep bass gets trapped inside the speaker cabinets. So you never hear it. With Zenith's new line of Allegro stereo systems, you can hear those deep, rich sounds. They're channeled out of the speaker through a unique opening in front called a "tuned port." Added to the specially designed woofer and horn-type tweeter, this innovative design makes for remarkable efficiency. A 60-watt Allegro system equals the sound performance of a 120-watt system with comparable size air-suspension speakers. By the same standard in terms of size and efficiency, the Allegro system has the deepest, richest sounding speakers on the market today. The best part about Allegro is how it sounds. Once you hear it you'll know what we're talking about. Come in for a demonstration today.

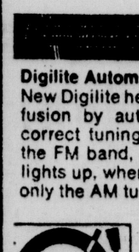
ZENITH Allegro YOU'LL HEAR THE DIFFERENCE

THIS MODEL FEATURES



Allegro 3000 speaker system
Zenith's new speaker system has a 10" woofer and a 3½" horn tweeter plus an opening on the front, called a tuned port. The tuned port works in conjunction with the woofer to reinforce and extend low, bass response. The result is amazing. A rich, resonant sounding bass that you've got to hear!

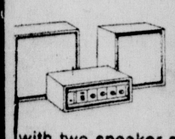
FM/AM/Stereo FM tuner with Target Tuning
Target Tuning visually indicates when you've tuned in on a station frequency. It consists of three lights located on the dial pointer. When the center green light is lit, you are receiving the best signal possible from your tuner.



Digilite Automatic Scale Selector
New Digilite helps eliminate tuning confusion by automatically selecting the correct tuning scale. When you select the FM band, only the FM tuning scale lights up, when you select the AM band, only the AM tuning scale lights up.

Stereo Precision III record changer and Micro-Touch® 2G Tone Arm.
This fully automatic changer plays 33⅓, 45 or 78 rpm records. Features cue control automatic shut-off, and 45 rpm adapter. Exerts a mere 2 grams of pressure. Won't damage your fine records if you accidentally drop or slide it.

Two Plus Two Matrix
Simply add two more optional Allegro speakers and you can enjoy 4-dimensional sound from your regular stereo records and added realism from the new 4-channel matrix records.



These Models Can Be Converted To 4-Channel

Santa Claus looking for young mayor

SANTA CLAUS, Ind. (UPI) — The town of Santa Claus has launched its annual campaign to find an honorary mayor, but qualifications are tough.

If not between the ages of 7 and 12 with a birthday either Dec. 24 or 25, don't bother applying. The applicant also must live within 250 miles of this southwestern Indiana community.

Three finalists will be invited to a Dec. 22 dinner staged by the Santa Claus Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the contest.

One will be selected mayor, another honorary police chief and the third, honorary fire chief. The winners will tour a nearby park and receive gifts.

Winner last year was 11-year-old Falicia Faye Martin, Loogootee, Ind.

Applications, addressed to Santa, must list name, address, phone number, age and birth date and must include a recent photograph. They must reach Santa Claus —zip code 47579 — by Dec. 14.

Nader: common sense, thrift can nip crisis

HOUSTON, Tex. UPI) — Ralph Nader says he thinks Americans can survive the energy crisis through thrift and common sense.

"We can almost literally walk our way out of the energy crisis," Nader said this week. "By increasing our thrift and care, we could save 40 per cent of our energy. The big problem is to reduce the waste and allocate the energy where it is needed."

Nader said the conservation proposals put forth by President Nixon benefited big business at the expense of the taxpayer.

"It is repeatedly ignored that industry and commerce use 70 per cent of the energy," Nader told reporters before speaking to the University of Houston student body. "And the biggest users receive the lowest rates."

Nader said if the reverse rating system were not changed, the average American family would bear the brunt of energy cutbacks and higher fuel costs. He said major corporations had the potential to lead the way in energy conservation.

"If they are not willing to do that voluntarily, then there needs to be a legal means for doing it," Nader said. "That's the Achilles' heel of President Nixon's energy message."

The President and tax deduction law analyzed

Editor's Note: Recently President Nixon conceded that while he earned more than $200,000 a year in 1970 and 1971, he paid only "nominal" taxes (about $800) in each of those two years. The reason he paid such low taxes was that he claimed a deduction of $570,000 for vice-presidential papers which he donated to the National Archives.

Supporters of the President, including editorial writers for the Wall Street Journal, claim that those who find fault with the deduction are seizing on technicalities.

Gerard M. Brannon, a member of Tax Analysts and Advocates, a Washington-based public interest tax law firm, believes the illegality of the deduction may be more than technical.

By GERARD M. BRANNON
Tax Analysts and Advocates

A basic characteristic of United States tax law is that the rules are developed with great specificity. It is a result of our preference for rules of law rather than of men that the law must mean what it says. what some dismiss as a technicality is the law.

More specifically, in 1969 Congress decided to close a "loophole" in the law that permitted public officials to take a deduction for the value of their papers contributed to a public organization.

There were good reasons for this repeal. Assume that I work for one year for the government at a salary of $50,000. Assume also that my "papers" covering this year are really worth $50,000. The first question is why I should be able to cash in on the papers that I was paid to write.

But let us assume that I am allowed to donate the papers to the National Archives for $50,000. Had I sold the papers for $50,000 and donated the money to the Archives, my contribution would be deducted from a real income of $100,000.

What was wrong with the old loophole is that I would be able to deduct $50,000 which was never reflected in my income and that the deduction would, therefore, offset my salary.

Let's agree that Congress made a good decision to get rid of this loophole. When loopholes are closed, there must be an effective date. The date fixed by Congress was gifts made on or before July 25, 1969.

Now the President did not relinquish ownership of his papers to the Archives before that date. Moreover, the required "deed of gift" was not signed by an appropriate government agent by that date. Finally, the deed was not delivered to the Archives or the General Services Administration by the required date.

Thus President Nixon did not get under the wire before the old loophole was closed on July 25, 1969.

The basic point is that the public is entitled to some assurance that a President's tax return is examined with due diligence by the Internal Revenue Service. It seems very strange that he was allowed a deduction which, on the basis of published evidence, he was not entitled to take.

Tax Analysts and Adovcates believe that if the same facts regarding the President's transfer of papers were known in connection with an ordinary citizen, an audit would almost certainly have been undertaken by the IRS.

For that reason, we believe a special independent auditor should be appointed to investigate what seems a very questionable tax claim.

A New Sansui Receiver Plus an $81 Saving

The SANSUI 661 is one of that company's newest stereo receivers, and it offers a high level of performance for a moderate investment. There's 54 watts (RMS) of power inside, and a generous array of controls organized logically and stylishly on the new front panel. The 661 has provisions for TWO tape decks, and its regular price of $289.95 includes a handsome walnut case.

A low-friction tonearm, steady-speed synchronous motor, and an adjustable anti-skate control are some of the features that make the BSR 510A record player an excellent value for only $69.45. For that price we include a base and a Shure M75ECS elliptical cartridge.

QUADRAFLEX MODEL 44's are two-way systems with big ten-inch bass speakers that can reproduce the bass man's low E and up. At their regular price of $159.90 a pair, they sound mighty impressive. "The Place to Buy a Music System"

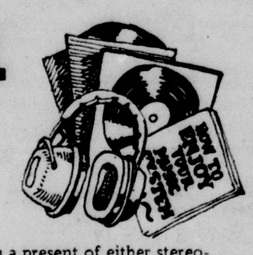
A Few Good Reasons to Visit Pacific Stereo Before Christmas



Free Headphones or Records

If you choose a system before Christmas, we'll make you a present of either stereophones which normally sell for $15, or 3 stereo albums selected from current titles.

Extended Warranties and Exchange Privileges

We won't start counting the elapsed time on our warranties until Jan. 1 so you get coverage for the full period plus however much time there is between your purchase and the 1st of the year. Our FIVE-YEAR SYSTEM WARRANTY covers free parts for five years and free labor for three years on absolutely everything but the needle on the record player. SIXTY-DAY EXCHANGE PRIVILEGES allow you to exchange anything you aren't happy about within 60 days (counted from Jan. 1), and the ONE-YEAR SPEAKER TRIAL lets you receive your full purchase price on any speakers costing up to $200 in trade toward more expensive speakers any time during 1974.

Free Connecting Wire and Installation Manual

Along with your new system we'll give you everything you need to start enjoying it right away with no hassles. We've found that many owner's manuals aren't as easy to read as they could be, so we've prepared our own complete guide to setting up a component system.

Layaways 'Til Christmas

If you want to be sure of getting what you want at the advertised special price, but aren't quite ready to buy, just put a $10 deposit on the system. It's refundable and you're under no obligation.

Mobile Music with a $32 Saving

The PIONEER TP-222 eight-track player is compact enough to fit unobtrusively in any car, but there's nothing small about the sound it produces, especially when it's combined with Jensen 5" speakers. Normally $59.95, the TP-222 has all the features you need: automatic and manual track change; volume, tone and balance controls, plus program indicator lights. The Jensen speakers usually sell for $39.95 a pair, so you can save a full $32 and enjoy stereo on the road.

$67.90

A Special Price on Quadraflex Speakers

QUADRAFLEX 33's are two-way, eight-inch speaker systems with good, deep bass response; they normally sell for $54.95 each. We have a limited supply with slight cabinet flaws that you can buy now for just $43 per system. You can save $23.90 on a pair, add stereo to a second room in your home, or use them as the main speakers in a modestly priced component system. But remember there are only a few in each store, so hurry in.

A Semi-Professional Turntable with a $50 Cartridge FREE

The SANSUI 1050 is a two-speed manual turntable with a damped cueing control that doubles as the power switch. A synchronous motor maintains constant speed despite fluctuations in AC current, and the carefully balanced tonearm accepts just about any fine cartridge.

We think the ADC 10E Mark IV is a perfect complement to the high performance standards the 1050; it's an elliptical diamond cartridge that's nationally advertised for $50. If you buy the Sansui 1050 this week at its regular price of $139.95 (including a base and hinged dust cover), we'll include the ADC 10E Mark IV FREE.

Safety first always pays

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Some safety plays are really farfetched. Others should be almost automatic for a careful player.

South's three notrump contract looks like a cinch. He wins the heart lead and if he is at all careless he counts to 10 quick, easy tricks. Two spades, one heart, five diamonds and two clubs.

	NORTH ♠ A K 6 3 2 ♥ 2 ♦ 10 7 5 2 ♣ K 8 5	7
WEST ♠ Q 8 ♥ A J 10 6 5 4 3 ♦ — ♣ J 9 7 2		EAST ♠ J 10 9 5 ♥ 8 7 ♦ J 9 8 4 ♣ Q 10 3
	SOUTH (D) ♠ 7 4 ♥ K Q 9 ♦ A K Q 6 3 ♣ A 6 4

Both vulnerable

West	North	East	South
			1♦
2♥	2♠	Pass	3N.T.
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead—J♥

Then if he is careful he reviews the bidding in accordance with the R of the code word ARCH and remembers that West made a vulnerable two heart bid without much of a hand. Obviously he held a lot of hearts for that bid. Could he be void of diamonds?

South thinks a little more and sees that he can be sure of his contract with just four diamond tricks and he can play the diamond suit in such a manner as to keep East from getting the lead if he holds all four diamonds.

South goes to dummy with a high spade and leads the 10 of diamond. If East ducks, South lets it ride. If East covers, South wins the trick; goes back to dummy with the second high spade and leads another diamond. Then back to dummy with the king of clubs to pick up the rest of the suit and wind up with five diamond tricks in spite of East's four-card holding.

Old enough for excursion

MOM SAYS NO: (Q.) Richard is a very sweet guy and I have dated him before, but only in our town, which is very small. When he asked me to go with him to a bigger town, which is 14 miles away, to a rock concert, my mom said no.

An avenue to federal aid

Valley agency seen as a way to cut vacant homes

By GEORGE MacLAREN
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — Member cities of the Pomona Valley Action Committee on Abandoned Housing could form a housing authority with joint powers to get federal money to help alleviate the problem, representatives of the committee decided Thursday afternoon at a meeting at Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan.

Charles W. Bader, Pomona City Councilman and chairman of PVACAH, during the 1½ hour meeting summarized the individual city preliminary reports on individual city problems, with recommendations and alternatives.

The committee was informed that the latest count of abandoned homes in eight Pomona Valley cities has reached 991, with the following breakdown: Pomona, 823, Claremont 30, Chino 5, Ontario 50, San Dimas 28, Montclair 35, Walnut 7, and Upland 3.

C. R. LeGros, La Verne planning director, in a letter noted that the problem of abandoned housing does not exist in La Verne, but that city officials will remain interested in the subject.

Joe F. Korpsak, Pomona assistant city administrator, recommended to the committee that Pomona Valley cities join together to form a confederation to secure a federal grant which would provide necessary staff and funds to prevent and eradicate abandonment-like housing conditions.

The committee took no formal action on the recommendation.

Bader noted that the committee has taken a "very political approach" in working with the Department of Housing and Urban Development in dealing with the problem. "We are taking a congressman with us to meetings with HUD," he said.

Richard Kumer, City of San Dimas superintendent of building and safety, said he feels the problem is financing and the conditions the cities have now. "We've just had a clean-up program, and we've got tons and tons," he said.

Kumer commented that HUD is "being stifled somewhere between here and Washington and Baltimore. How do we break this?"

Jim Coulter, planning and zoning director for Ontario, stressed the problem of no equity financing which leaves the buyer unable to sell property and that he must pay marketing costs for too many years.

He hit at HUD delays in decision-making and keeping property from returning to the market for up to two years.

Coulter said that he did not see urban homesteading as an answer because it is too costly. He stressed the need for an early notice system, and the committee felt that if a broker should go to HUD with an offer that HUD should be able to respond in seven days, not two years.

Planning Director Sharon Hightower reported that Claremont has filed liens on abandoned property after the city has cleaned up those lots.

She suggested that HUD should be encouraged in bulk sales of abandoned houses but only after HUD has cleared the proposal with the city involved, and that the city involved has reviewed prospective bidders' proposals, and concurred in the disposition of the homes.

She also suggested that there be adequate assurances of redevelopment with necessary security bonds posted with local governments, and that there be prescribed time periods for redevelopment.

Chino City Councilman Angel Martinez commented that "the quicker the federal government gives us money and lets us handle our own problems the quicker we will solve them. As a group we have power."

Board of Realtors report

Local housing said stable

POMONA — The housing situation in Pomona is as stable now as any time during the past several years, reports the Pomona Valley Board of Realtors.

About 94 per cent of the homes are occupied either by homeowners or renters. This condition has been stable, except for the war years, back to 1940 when a 5.6 per cent vacancy factor was recorded.

The Southern California Edison Co. reports that less than 1,700 of the 27,513 meters on residential property on Pomona are on a "nonconnect" basis.

During October, 100 homes in Pomona were sold through the board's multiple listing service. For the first 10 months, the home sales total is 932. This compares favorably with the same period last year.

In recent action, the realty board reaffirmed its cooperation in working with city officials regarding "for sale" signs in residential areas.

While agreeing some areas may appear to have an overabundance of signs, this is not true throughout the city, said E. L. (Jim) Riley, a board member.

To eliminate the real estate signs by ordinance would be an unfair use of governmental power and would not protect the area from "by owner" signs that would appear as a natural consequence, he added.

"The board feels strongly it is able and willing to regulate the members as to how many and where signs will be placed on a voluntary basis and has assured the city it will cooperate to this extent."

Board representatives have also assured city officials they will work with city, Federal Housing Authority (FHA) and Veterans Administration (VA) in finding a solution to the city's 6 per cent vacancy factor, he added.

Meetings between Realtors and officials of the city planning department are expected in the near future, said Riley.

The city planning staff had previously proposed that realty firms be prohibited from placing their "for sale" signs in front of homes because of an appearance of instability created.

Officials estimated there are 700 vacant homes in the city.

WALKING THE PICKET LINE

Holt will close for Christmas parade Saturday

POMONA — Pomona police officers, working under the supervision of Sgt. LeRoy B. Dixon who is in charge of traffic services, will close off Holt Avenue from Hamilton Boulevard to Towne Avenue Saturday at 5 p.m. for the Christmas parade.

The parade will start at 6 p.m.

All cross streets in that section also will be closed off at 5 p.m. with the exception of White and Garey avenues which will be kept open to north-south traffic until approximately 5:45 p.m.

These streets will be kept closed until approximately 7:30 p.m., Dixon said.

Traffic southbound on North Garey Avenue will be stopped at Alvarado Street and routed east to Towne Avenue.

Traffic on Holt Avenue will be diverted at Hamilton Boulevard on the west and Towne Avenue on the east and detoured south to Mission Boulevard.

Traffic northbound on South Garey Avenue will be detoured east and west at Monterey Avenue, which is a through street.

Anniversary of Pearl Harbor observed here

POMONA — The 32nd anniversary Thursday of the Pearl Harbor attack was observed locally with the signing by executives of firms of a Statement of Support for the Guard and Reserve.

Among major companies reaffirming support for a strong military serve force were the General Dynamics plant in Pomona, Southern California Edison Co. and the Progress-Bulletin.

The City Council issued a proclamation designating this week as a period of public support for the National Guard and Reserve.

Because for the first time since 1947 the nation is filling its military personnel requirements without the aid of the draft, this increases the importance of the Guard and reserve forces, said Rear Adm. (ret.) Charles F. Horne.

Radio specialty trend noted by broadcast chief

POMONA — In the past 18 years many radio stations have turned from "being all things to all people" and instead have become specialized to attract various groups of listeners.

So stated Bob Light, president of Southern California Broadcasters Association, in a talk on radio before the Rotary Club on Tuesday in the Elks Lodge.

"We now have stations devoted to rock, country, and classical music, talk shows, and all news," Light said. "The object of specialization," he added," is to zero in on kinds of people who have things in common."

Radio set sales are continuing to boom, with 63 million sets sold last year, according to Light. He said that that there are now one-third of a billion working radios in the nation.

Light said a survey shows that people listen to radio almost as many hours as they watch television. Listening to the radio, he said, is one leisure-time activity that does not interfere with a person's normal daily routine. "We get up with radio, eat breakfast with radio, do our work with radio and go to sleep with radio," he said.

Most valley gas stations to close on Sunday; allotments cut back

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

Pomona Valley motorists who plan to use their cars Sunday had better fill up their tanks by Saturday night. Gas will be mighty hard to come by Sunday.

A check of gas stations and distributors indicated today that unlike last Sunday, virtually everybody will be closed from Saturday night to Monday morning.

What time Saturday the stations will close will depend on how long their gas supply will hold out. Some stations closed up last week by late Saturday afternoon. Those who run out of gas may close up even sooner this week.

According to the spot check, virtually all gas stations will follow President Nixon's request to stay closed from 9 p.m. Saturday to 6 a.m. Monday.

What prompts the closings is not so much the President's request as concern that unless they do so, their gas allotments may not last through the month.

December gas allotments have been cut back by from 10 per cent to as much as 35 per cent in some cases from the amounts delivered to the stations in December, 1972.

Diesel fuel has been cut back as much as 50 per cent in many cases, causing additional problems for trucks which customarily transport their loads across the nation over the weekend.

"Not much has been said about the plight of the poor truck driver," said Chuck Finn, local manager of Phillips Petroleum. "But they're hurting much more than the average motorist."

The distributors agreed that the gasoline picture is likely to get much bleaker before there are any improvements.

"We can't even depend on the allotments the companies announce for the month," a Mobil gas station operator said. "They may announce a 10 per cent cut today, but by tomorrow the cut may be 15 or even 20 per cent."

Since the allotment is generally figured at the beginning of the month, gas stations can usually get delivery any time during the month. However, if they use up their allotments before the end of the month, they can't get any more gas.

Therefore most gas stations are learning to "pace" their supplies

All of the distributors and operators contacted in the spot check had the same message for the Sunday driver: Stay home.

Police again on push for holiday safety

POMONA — The Pomona Police Department will join 77 others in Los Angeles County in a concerted traffic safety effort to reduce accidents during the holiday period beginning Dec. 21.

Following a similar safety program last year, traffic fatalities for the year-end holidays were cut to 17 from a high of 41 the previous year, Police Chief F. P. Wallick said.

Also involved in the program are the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, the California Highway Patrol, Superior and Municipal courts and the Greater Los Angeles Chapter of the National Safety Council.

The coordinated safety effort was initiated by the Los Angeles County Peace Officers' Association.

Before the holidays, police agencies plan to conduct an educational program through newspapers, radio, television and churches, urging motorists and pedestrians not to drive or walk in traffic unless they are sober.

Strict enforcement will be applied to violators who are found driving or walking in traffic while intoxicated, Wallick said. "Although officers will concentrate on drunken drivers and pedestrians," Wallick said, "they also will be alert for all traffic violations."

Increase in assessment isn't for just one year

Our tax bill shows that the assessed valuation of our home has been raised by 40 per cent.

According to the Los Angeles County assessor, the market value of our house has gone up from $6,400 last year to $9,200 this year.

We can't understand how this is possible. We have done nothing in the past year to improve our property. In fact, our roof blew down and our fence has fallen down.

Can you get someone from the county assessor's office to make a more realistic appraisal.—Mr. and Mrs. T. M., Pomona.

Although the market value of your house has increased from $6,400 in 1972 to $9,200 in 1973, this does not represent a jump of $2,800 in one year, we are told by Steve Stewart, the assessor's press deputy.

Instead, it represents the accumulation of increased value on the property since the house was last appraised in 1964.

The assessor has instituted an appraisal program under which, on a priority basis, the county reappraises areas where assessments are found to be the furthest from current market value.

Properties in your area which are similar to yours have sold for amounts well above the $6,400 figure placed on your property in 1964, according to Stewart.

We can understand your concern when many other people are getting tax reductions this year but the value placed on your property appears to be valid.

I ordered a TV set from Shell Oil Co. about three months ago.

In the next monthly statement, the company charged me $215.50 for the set, although I hadn't received it. I wrote and asked to have the order canceled, saying that if I should receive the set, I would return it. I did receive the set and I did return it.

The next statement still showed the charge plus interest. I wrote to the company's offices in Los Angeles and North Brooke, Ill.

Now I have received another statement with the same charge plus interest again. I am absolutely perplexed. — J.K., La Verne.

For some reason or other, the TV set you returned didn't get back to North Brooke until the day after you wrote to us, according to Martin Berman of the Shell Order Station, Travellers Premium Co., Inc.

Berman received a report 10 days later that the set had been returned. Three days after that, Shell Oil Co. was advised to show credit for the set on your account.

Regret for your inconvenience was expressed in a letter to you and Action Line.

FOLLOW-UP:

Even though we wrote that we weren't in the cat recovery business, the letter from J. R. of Pomona expressing sorrow over the apparent theft of her gray kitten produced several phone calls.

Three people thought they might have found the flea-collared, spayed, beloved cat which disappeared early in November. Others just wanted to give the family another kitten.

J.R .and her family gratefully accepted one of the kittens, a gift from Madeline Hill of San Dimas.

Two months ago Mrs. Hill rescued a very small kitten which had been cornered by a dog under a pile of lumber. The kitten had a broken hind leg.

Mrs. Hill fed it with an eyedropper and took it to a veterinarian's office, where she invested $50 for shots and a splint. The leg healed.

Then she discovered that her own dog wouldn't tolerate the cat.

She and her family called the cat Orphan Andy. In its new home, it has a new name, Snoopy.

Making martyr out of Shockley

Physicist William B. Shockley, co-winner of a Nobel Prize for his role in developing the transistor, has a theory about race. He believes that on the evidence of I.Q. tests and other data, members of the so-called white race, in general and on the average, possess by inheritance a greater intellectual capacity than members of the so-called black race.

To call the theory controversial is putting it mildly. But Shockley obviously thinks it is important and that people ought to know about it.

In this land supposedly dedicated to free speech, however, Shockley has not only time after time been denied the right to speak; potential audiences have been denied the right to hear him by those to whom his ideas are anathema.

The latest episode took place at New York's Staten Island Community College, where continuous applause from demonstrators prevented Shockley from addressing a public forum. Shortly before that, black students at Harvard forced the cancellation of a debate between Shockley and black nationalist Roy Innis, and New York University refused to let Shockley take part in an academic forum.

Those who oppose Shockley do so, of course, from the highest motives. They fear, rightly or wrongly, pernicious social consequences should his ideas, which are shared by only a few other scholars, gain public currency and academic respectability.

But by depriving Shockley of his constitutional rights, by refusing him publication in scientific journals, by being afraid even to let others rebut him on the platform, self-styled "radicals" not only betray their own ideals but give Shockley's arguments about intelligence and race an importance and appeal they would not gain on their own merits. They are saying that his facts are stronger than theirs and that "truth" cannot compete with "untruth."

Just what application Shockley thinks his findings should have in American society is not clear. As long as one black anywhere is as "smart" as one white somewhere, theories about race in general have little practical value.

The evil of segregation was that it treated all people on the basis of one characteristic alone, their color. If there were a scientific basis for racism, there would never have been a need for laws or customs preventing a person of the wrong color from attempting to achieve beyond his capabilities. No society, for example, ever needed a law forbidding morons to study for Ph.Ds.

That a black leader like Innis was, and still is, prepared to meet Shockley in public debate is itself the best rebuttal to anything Shockley could say.

Those who hound and silence Shockley are only making a martyr out of him, and martyrdom has been known to unleash forces more powerful than reason.

Cool yule saves fuel

The energy crisis needn't mean a blackout of the Christmas spirit this year. Americans can conserve energy and still have a bright holiday season, says the Christmas Decorations Assn., which offers a number of tips on how to do it.

For instance, restrict the hours that you light up your Christmas tree to when you are at home only.

Use miniature lights to save electricity. A normal string of 35 miniature lights consumes only 4.6 watts. A normal string of 15 larger bulbs burns 90 watts, and the large bulbs commonly used outdoors burn over 135 watts.

When trimming your tree, place shiny or reflective ornaments near the lights for a more illuminated look and use tinsel and icicles for added glitter.

Make the tree lighting ceremony something special this year by waiting until Christmas Eve to make it a "happening."

And when you light up your Christmas tree, lower the other lights in the room. It will look prettier and conserve a great deal of energy.

Bye, bye, Baja?

There's a new artery of macadam snaking its way south from California's lower border for 1,068 miles, a monument to progress no doubt but one which will bring sadness to many Norteamericanos.

It is the new Transpeninsular Highway built by the Mexican government from Tijuana down through Baja California to fabled Cabo San Lucas where the Pacific Ocean meets the Sea of Cortez.

Portions of the road have been open for some years but most of the tough but beauteous terrain has been effectively barred to all but the most rugged of motor vehicles. This has meant to avail one's self of the region's incredible outdoor opportunities—some of the world's best angling, hunting, camping and miles of sparkling beach and azure waters — the airplane was almost an essential.

With the road will come new hotels, inns, trailer parks and even more airfields and when they are permitted to drive again will come Californians by the hundreds of thousands. The $107 million road and the new tourist economy will do much to stimulate the Baja economy and encourage colonization where previously only isolation existed.

Getting rid of Mrs. O'Neal

WASHINGTON — The government persuaded one of President Nixon's Florida neighbors to give up her home, according to a classified account, because she had been "spreading wild tales of what was going on in the presidential compound."

The President's two favorite millionaires, Bebe Rebozo and Robert Abplanalp, joined in the effort to remove the alleged gossip from the fashionable Key Biscayne neighborhood. She is Mrs. Perry O'Neal, a sweet, 70-year-old widow, who assured us she "loved the Nixons" and brought them roses.

She agreed to vacate her home to make room for the President's communications staff, but she didn't want to lease it to the government. Abplanalp quickly coughed up $150,000 to buy the house from her and then he leased it to the government for $18,000 a year.

The Public Buildings Service sent Theodore Sachs from its Atalanta regional office to Key Biscayne to negotiate the deal. He met with Rebozo on February 6, 1969, and afterward submitted this confidential report of their conversation.

'Mr. Rebozo stated that this would not be the ordinary type of negotiation," recounted Sachs. "Mr. Rebozo stated that Mrs. O'Neal, who lived at 478 Bay Lane, was creating a problem for the President and for the Administration by going around the island and spreading wild tales of what was going on in the presidential compound in Key Biscayne.

"Further, since the White House Communications Agency needed space in the compound for the communication operation, it was determined that the leasing of the house at 478 Bay Lane would provide the space required by the agency and would also solve the problem created by Mrs. O'Neal by removing her from the scene."

The widow was distressed over this account of her alleged tattling. "I never did any such thing," she huffed. "That's the worst thing I ever heard . . . I was a good neighbor and I carried roses over to her (Mrs. Nixon) personally."

Sachs continued his story: "Mr. Rebozo further went on to state that since Mrs. O'Neal was not interested in leasing the house, he had contacted a friend of his, Mr. Robert H. Abplanalp of Bronxville, New York, and Mr. Abplanalp had agreed to purchase the O'Neal home as a favor to the President and Mr. Rebozo.

'Merely as a favor'

"Negotiations between Mr. Abplanalp, Mr. Rebozo and the O'Neals resulted in a sale of the home at 478 Bay Lane to Mr. Robert Abplanalp and his wife for $150,000. . . .

"Mr. Rebozo stressed the fact that Mr. Abplanalp had purchased the home merely as a favor and did not want to make a profit on it; but since Mr. Abplanalp had taken the money out of a company fund, he wanted a fair net return on his money and a price of $18,000 as an annual rental had been agreed upon."

Abplanalp also objected to signing an agreement that would permit the government to use the house for any purpose it wished. Possibly for this reason, the Secret Service and the White House Communications Agency traded houses. Thus the President's bodyguard wound up replacing the talkative Mrs. O'Neal and they have a reputation as the most tight-lipped men in government.

REID'S ANNOUNCEMENT: New York's blueblood Rep. Ogden Reid, who turned his back on 115 years of family Republicanism to become a Democrat in 1972, this week will announce his candidacy for governor of the Empire State.

The congressman, grandson of Whitelaw Reid who ran unsuccessfully as GOP vice presidential candidate in 1892, expects to announce first in Buffalo, then on the State House steps in Albany and finally, late the same day, in New York City. He faces a primary contest before the elections in November 1974.

The national significance of the six-term congressman's race is that the presidential hopes of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller may hang on the outcome, whether he runs against Reid or not. Rockefeller hotly opposes him and a Reid victory would show Rockefeller weakness at the polls.

Rockefeller tried to beat Reid in 1972 by helping to finance the congressman's GOP opponent and by lending him three top aides. President Nixon also sought to punish Reid's defection with an unprecedented 11-stop campaign in the district. Reid triumphed, thus further embittering both Nixon and Rockefeller.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Self-talk a mutter of fact

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the least understood and appreciated social activities is talking to yourself.

As an article in the magazine Psychology Today points out, there is an "extreme imbalance in the supply and demand for conversation."

The problem is that too many people need to talk and not enough want to listen.

Therefore, a certain therapeutic value is derived from talking to yourself. Self-talk "helps reduce emotional tensions by providing an outlet for hostility," the article says.

Unfortunately, however, self-talk is associated in the public mind with what the article tactfully describes as "odd behavior." This tends to discourage people from bending their own ears.

"Although we believe talking along is practiced sporadically by almost everybody in our culture, it is practiced systematically by almost no one," the article says.

True enough, but I believe self-talk is inhibited by more than the strange looks you get from persons who chance to overhear your soliliquy.

The harsh fact is that in a big majority of instances what we have to say to ourselves is pretty boring.

Oh, I suppose there are a few ego-eloquent types who can regale themselves for hours on end by articulating their thoughts and feelings for their own gratification.

But most of us simply aren't much interested in what we have to tell ourselves and can't hold our own attention for more than a minute or two. No Hamlets, we.

Instead of a "to be or not to be" type of rumination, your musings are more likely to take the form of telling yourself about your operation.

It doesn't take much of that for you to drive yourself up the wall.

Another deterrent to self-talk is the annoying habit many of us have of muttering to ourselves. We may have clarion enunciation in colloquy with others, but when we address ourselves we tend to speak under our breath.

I am a particularly bad offender on that score. Half the time I mumble so indistinctly I can't understand what I am trying to tell myself.

This happens most frequently at concerts or movies. I sit there muttering to myself about the quality of the performance but I catch so little of what I am saying I don't know whether I liked it or not.

I also mutter a lot when I am reading, which is distracting and causes me to lose my place.

That sort of thing really gets under one's skin and is the reason why most of us turn to someone else for conversation.

At times I become so irritated with myself I won't speak to myself for a week.

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . letters

Beneficial relationship

On September 22 and November 20, 1973, two separate articles appeared in the Progress-Bulletin erroneously reporting that United Air Lines had applied for a government trademark registered in its own name for Mt. San Antonio College's renouned "Classroom in the Sky." Both articles further described a somewhat contentious relationship between MSAC and United. This is gross misrepresentation of fact.

Since before the "Classroom's" inception in 1965, the relationship between Mt. San Antonio College and United Air Lines has been excellent, culminating in this year's Around the World flight which can only be described as the epitome of college, community, and industry cooperation. For the last twelve years MSAC has worked closely with United's personnel, Flight Operations, and Sales Division as they have cordially hosted over one thousand MSAC students on dozens of field trips to the facilities at Ontario and Los Angeles International Airports. They have hired over 275 MSAC graduates in various job categories.

Since the first "Classroom in the Sky" flight, there have been many initiators. It became obvious to both the college and United that the trademark should be registered to protect the identity and quality. Thus, MSAC and United representatives have met on several occasions (have conducted friendly negotiations) to determine how the interests of both parties might best be served in this registration.

This mutually beneficial relationship continues to be amicable as the college's Department of Aeronautics and Transportation and United are even now cooperating on next year's unique educational flying "Classroom." —Stewart M. Angle, chairman, Aeronautics and Transportation Department.

Gossip for today

Any number of new and unusual ways for committing political suicide have been demonstrated during the past year. However, despite the many definitely inspired innovations we have been witnessing in the fine art of political harakiri, one tried and true old fashioned method continues to remain the most popular. The majority of politicians still insist on committing political suicide by simply shooting off their mouths.

INSIDE REPORT

Rocky wooing party regulars

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

NEW YORK — The strategy envisioned by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller on the eve of his fourth, last and longest campaign for the Republican presidential nomination was clarified in a recent conversation with a long-time supporter who has extensive political credentials.

The Rockefeller backer, a liberal Republican, criticized the Governor for his bland statements about Watergate and urged him to call for the moral regeneration of the Republican party. Rockefeller shrugged in his characteristic way, then replied in words to this effect: No, I ran against the Republican delegates in 1968 and I'm not going to do it this time.

To some old friends, this reflects the overlay of cynicism Rockefeller had developed during 15 years of electoral politics. But it also represents his firm conviction that he will have no chance whatever for the nomination if he again is the hairshirt of the Republican party, as he was in his disastrous three previous attempts.

Thus, Nelson Rockefeller's course leading into 1976 seems predictable. His closest associates are all but certain he will soon announce that he will not seek a fifth term as governor in 1974. Chances are even that he will resign as governor next month to improve Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson's chances for election, a course urged by key Rockefeller insiders.

Traveling banquet circuit

Freed of duties in Albany, Rockefeller will generate national publicity as chairman of his new, bipartisan commission on critical choices for America. At the same time, he will be traveling the Republican banquet circuit to woo the conservative, small-town Republican regulars who have so long frustrated his desires for ultimate power.

There is no false optimism in Rockefeller's inner circle. Gov. Ronald Reagan of California is recognized as the clear early frontrunner. The handicap of Rockefeller's age (he will be 68 in 1976) is appreciated. Most important, it is understood that many heartland Republican regulars have never forgiven Rockefeller for his past role as censor of the party—attacking President Eisenhower's policies in 1960, accusing Barry Goldwater of extremism in 1964, claiming that Richard M. Nixon was a loser in 1968.

Accordingly, Rockefeller's political advisers urge an ingratiating attitude toward the regulars. Richard Rosenbaum, New York's first-year Republican state chairman, stresses to Rockefeller this rule: a candidate must be nominated before he can be elected.

Rockefeller is heeding the advice. In recent political appearnaces in Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, Arizona and New Jersey, he consistently won applause by declaring: "The Watergate tragedy is a tragedy of individuals, not the Republican party."

Doesn't knock Nixon

Accepting his adviser' view that Mr. Nixon's support among the party workers remains substantial, Rockefeller treads carefully in talking about the President. He has been getting applause by declaring that the nation owes Mr. Nixon "a great debt of gratitude" for his handling of the Mideast crisis. His reaction at a press conference in Minot, N.D., last week to the shocking news of the erased White House tape recording was noncommittal: "Some things are a little hard yet to understand, but certainly he's on the right course (in trying to restore presidential credibility)."

Moreover, Rockefeller's move to the right during four terms in Albany makes communion with heartland Republicans easier. His hard line against welfare cheaters and drug pushers fills much of his partisan speeches around the country.

While telling the Republicans what they want to hear, Rockefeller is raising funds for hard-pressed local party organizations (for example, in Minot last week) and picking up important political IOUs.

This process of catering to the regulars would be greatly enhanced if some nationally known non-New York Republicans were added to a Rockefeller political high command which has grown old with the Governor. Some Rockefeller insiders talk of Melvin R. Laird, nearing resignation as Mr. Nixon's domestic counsellor, joining the Rockefeller campaign in a year or so—perhaps as campaign manager.

Rockefeller's current tactics have outraged the New York liberal establishment (bringing down jeremiads on him from columnist James Wechsler of the New York Post and the New York Times editorial board). But never has Rockefeller cared less about what New York liberals think of him. It may be too late, but after 15 years, he finally is trying to come to terms with the people who go to Republican conventions to pick the presidential nominee.

Big demand for horseshoers

Frontier skill is alive and kicking

By PHYLLIS CANNON
P-B Staff Writer

INDUSTRY — Will the energy crisis bring back the horse?

Perhaps.

But in the opinion of administrators at Valley Vocational Center, where 40 men and women are enrolled in a horseshoeing class, the animal never left the scene.

"We have the only public, adult horseshoeing school in the country," said Ben Murphy, vocational supervisor at the center. "People in this trade are in demand. There are more horses in California than there are in Texas.

"It isn't so much that they are used for work or for transportation, horses are a super-booming recreational activity."

The 12-month class, taught at center facilities at 15359 E. Proctor Ave. and at the Ellsworth Ranch in Chino, was started 2½ years ago by public demand.

"There is a need for people with these skills" said Charlie Halleran, 53, Ontario, the instructor. "Everyone who owns a horse wants to make sure he gets a good job for his animal. A lot of people who own horses want to take care of them themselves.

"This is a wide-open field for someone wanting to learn a trade. A good horseshoer can make a good living. If a man will give me a year of his life, I'll give him a trade which will support him the rest of his life."

Many of those who enroll in Halleran's class start picking up work in their new trade after six months training, "depending on how many hours they want to work and how much effort they want to expend," he explained.

One of his students is Brian Kerry of Pomona. "I'm good for the duration of the 12 months," said Kerry, a dispatcher for a Santa Fe Springs trucking firm. "I want to learn the trade and get away from the hustle." Kerry enrolled 2½ months ago.

"It's really an old trade," said Murphy, "but it has a new and bright future. The number of people keeping horses is increasing. A horse's hooves must be groomed each six to 10 weeks.

"There really are not enough farriers to go around. Many persons wanting to have their horses shod have to wait several weeks. Demand is good throughout the country."

The trade requires that a person know how to handle horses and work well with people, according to Halleran. "And it's physically quite demanding," he said.

Halleran teaches anatomy of the horse with emphasis on feet and legs because, as he explains, "without good legs and feet you haven't got a horse."

Two other facets of the trade he covers are psychology of horses and customer relations.

The class operates on an open enrollment basis. Anyone 18 or older may enroll at any time. The cost is $29 a semester.

FIRST YOU CLEAN HOOF BOTTOM

Jenny Pass of Long Beach, a horse owner interested in learning proper care for her own animals, listens as instructor Charlie Halleran explains procedure. Tools of the trade, a rasp and hoof pick, knife, clippers and pinchers, lay at Halleran's feet. This instruction is given at a Chino ranch.

LEARNING THE TRADE

Brian Kerry of Pomona, a dispatcher for a trucking firm in Santa Fe Springs, enrolled in Valley Vocational Center's 12-month horseshoeing class to learn the trade.

Park group solves fuss over project

WALNUT — Construction of two concession-restroom facilities in Suzanne Park is expected to begin within two weeks following a recent decision by the city Parks and Recreation Commission on the location of the buildings.

The sites of the facilities had created a controversy between a girls' softball group, the Walnut Valley Riders and the commission. One of the "snack shacks" was originally slated to be placed between two softball diamonds under construction at the park's north end, and the other near the park's Little League diamonds.

The facility between the softball fields was protested by the girls' group because it would interfere with play on the field, and was protested by the riding group, which felt it should be located nearer the park's horse rings.

A compromise temporary facility, proposed by the commission, was vetoed by the City Council and the matter was referred back to the commission for its consideration Wednesday night.

Terry James, assistant city manager, said the commission decided to retain the original sites, except that the facility between the softball diamonds would be moved four and one half feet south so that it would encroach less into the play area.

The two facilities will cost the city about $25,000 and be built, primarily, with the volunteer labor of the baseball groups. Completion is expected before the start of the next baseball season.

County awards contract

Fullerton Rd. work due

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — The Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors has awarded a $199,152 contract to F. W. Richter of Sierrra Madre to improve Fullerton Road between Aguiro Street and Pathfinder Road in Rowland Heights.

Six bids were received on the project, ranging from a high of $297,454. Richter's was the low bid.

The work will consist of constructing pavement and drainage facilities to provide a two-lane interim paved roadway on a new alignment.

In addition, a concrete culvert will be built at Fullerton Channel to replace the existing pipe, and a concrete retaining wall will be built to protect the existing water tank reservoirs at the westerly side of the roadway.

Peter Schabarum, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, said this work is a phase of an overall project planned by the road department along a 1.6-mile section of Fullerton Road from Colima Road to Pathfinder Road to provide a multilane curbed highway with a daily traffic capacity for 26,000 vehicles.

This portion of Fullerton Road was improved in 1970 and improvements at Skyline Drive were completed this year.

During the progress of this work, which is slated for completion in April of 1974, access will be provided by the contractor who will place all necessary signs and barricades.

One lane for traffic in each direction will be maintained on Fullerton Road, except during placement of the drainage facilities and the construction of a detour.

At that time traffic may have to be reduced to one traffic lane between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. controlled by a flagman.

Hearing set on Diamond Bar underground utility district

LOS ANGELES — A public hearing will be held Dec. 20 on the proposed formation of the Golden Springs Drive-Grand Avenue Underground Utility District in the Diamond Bar area.

Peter Schabarum, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, said the hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m. in Room 381 of the Hall of Administration at 500 W. Temple St.

Schabarum said the county road department has proposed the removal of existing overhead electric poles and wires along Golden Springs Drive from Grand Avenue to Torito Lane, and on Grand Avenue from the Pomona-Orange freeways to Golden Springs Drive. The lines would be placed underground.

Schabarum said undergrounding of the utilities will eliminate the existing "unsightly poles and wires" and "enhance the appearnce of the neighborhood."

The instruction is part of a study in modern science and may be extended to the junior high school level in he future.

Teachers volunteering to instruct the computer science courses will attend in-service training sessions at the college center.

Walnut receives trash proposals

WALNUT — The City Council met in a study session this week at Walnut High School to consider proposals by three trash disposal companies seeking an exclusive pact with the city. No action was taken.

City Manager Andy Lazzaretto said the council looked over the proposals of Consolidated Disposal Service of Santa Fe Springs, the C-V Disposal Service also of Santa Fe Springs, and the Griffith Disposal Co. of La Puente.

Fees for pickups at individual residences in the city range from a low of $2.10 to a high of $2.50 per month, under the proposals.

Following examination of the proposals, said Lazzaretto, the council requested the firms provide additional information on services and costs.

The council did not set a date for further consideration of the matter.

Czech astronomer

Comet discoverer regrets ballyhoo

BONN (UPI) — The young Czech astronomer who discovered Kohoutek's Comet regrets all the ballyhoo, but still thinks his find will rival Halley's when it blazes through the skies next month.

"I'm really sorry people over-estimated this thing," Lubos Kohoutek said Wednesday in a telephone interview from his Hamburg Observatory workshop. "I hope it will not be a big disappointment and I hope people will understand that it's difficult to make exact forecasts of such things."

Kohoutek, 38, a recent emigre from Czechoslovakia, discovered Comet 1937F—Kohoutek's Comet—by accident last March while scanning the heavens for other things.

"It is always very difficult to say exactly what magnitude a comet will reach," he said "But I expect this one will achieve the same or greater brightness than Halley's Comet—but not 50 times as bright as Halley's as some scientists and journalists were predicting."

Soon after Kohoutek's discovery, other astronomers tracked it and predicted the world could expect another Halley's Comet or better by Christmas. That generated an avalanche of newspaper headlines about "The Christmas Comet" and "The Comet of the Century."

Halley's Comet was so bright it scared the wits out of the ancients and was held responsible for the Black Plague and other dreadful events. It was last seen in 1910.

It was supposed to streak into naked-eye view sometime in November, but so far even scientists with telescopes have had trouble finding it and the headlines have shifted to such as, "Where on Earth is the Comet Kohoutek?"

Kohoutek began star-gazing through a homemade telescope made of old spectacle lenses as a boy of 14 in Zabreh, Czechoslovakia. He has discovered three comets and 50 asteroids.

He predicted his comet would "achieve its maximum observable brightness between Jan. 2 or 3 and Jan. 15, with perhaps a brilliance comparable to the star Vega or the planet Jupiter."

Geographic centers

A point near Lebanon, Kan., is the geographic center of the 48 states, but a point near Castle Rock, S.D., is the center counting Alaska and Hawaii.

Californians warned against lure of Alaska jobs

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Californians thinking of heading north to work on the Alaskan pipeline were warned today they could be taken by unscrupulous employment firms and find themselves stranded in the nation's largest state.

Richard Dewalt, chief of the California Bureau of Employment Agencies, said "despite congressional approval, work has not started on the pipeline.

"There are no jobs available now and it is unlikely there will be a need for others to join those already in Alaska when construction commences," he added.

DeWalt warned applicants responding to employment promises of Alaska jobs "to make every effort to determine the legitimacy of the firm and report any suspicious operations to the bureau.

The weight, used the same way, also helps perfect the hang of draperies. The product is dry-cleanable and rust-resistant.

Pine cones used in decorating

Line a cookie sheet with aluminum foil and spread the cones on this. Put them in a warm oven (not more than 200 degrees F.) for an hour. The pitch will melt onto the foil. Old cones saved from year to year don't need this treatment. They are dried out.

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you plan to use fresh pine cones in holiday decorations, dry them out first or you may find that their sticky juice will ruin table linens or furniture. The juice is called pitch.

Flournoy reconsiders sale of 'royalty' oil

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Controller Houston Flournoy, chairman of the state Lands Commission, today agreed to reconsider sale of state-owned "royalty" oil to independent oil companies.

Flournoy, a Republican gubernatorial candidate, had been urged by legislators to allocate the oil instead to state and local government agencies who are experiencing difficulty in obtaining fuel supplies.

He ordered an "immediate review" of the legal and economic aspects of pulling back proposed contracts worth $9 million to the state and allocating the oil to government use.

Involved is the proposed sale over the next three years of about 7,000 barrels a day "royalty" oil from state-owned tidelands to small, independent oil companies. The high bids approved Nov. 29 by the commission averaged $1.11 a barrel over the posted price of about $3.25 for the "royalty" oil.

Flournoy said the proposed contracts with the independents represented an "excellent" price to the state but that the federal government is also "very much involved" in the issue.

The review, he said, will consider "the desirability of an action that puts the state in a preferred position for fuel supplies as compared to the general public."

He said there is an extra 3,000 barrels of royalty oil a day that was not bid upon which could "potentially be reserved for emergency utilization by the state."

But he said he didn't want to see "routine operations" of state government "placed on a higher priority than the needs of the general public."

One legislator, Assemblyman Ken Meade, D-Oakland, urged Flournoy not to put the contracts into effect.

"The question now is whether the state should sell its crude oil royalty at any price," Meade said. "Cities, counties, public transit systems, public utilities and even the state itself are unable to find adequate supplies of fuel in the traditional marketplace."

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Let your heart rule your head today where your generosity is involved. Be kind rather than too logical in helping one who needs you now.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Through your ideas and another's represent divergent points of view, yield. Make concessions now so your relationship will remain stable.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone will ask you to do them a favor today. At first you may refuse. Upon second thought the nicer you will come through.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you will inadvertently say something that will upset a pal. Be sure to apologize promptly so hard feelings won't ensue.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You have two close companions: one talks a lot, performs little; the other always comes through. Give your support to the doer at this time.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You will need some mental diversion today. Get your mind off everything. Devote some time to a hobby or creative pursuit.

You will become involved in some new creative interests this year. They'll afford you much enjoyment. Aside from the pleasureable aspects, they will be profitable as well.

TAKE A GIANT step would appear to be the name of this game. A workman installs baffles of wood inside the cooling tower of a nuclear power station under construction at Port Clinton, Ohio. Cooling water will flow over the baffles to carry off heat created when the plant begins operating in 1975.

Telephone co. installing new fire protection

Fire protection systems, superior to any used in the past, are now being installed in 74 General Telephone office buildings including those in Pomona, Claremont, Chino and Walnut.

Pomona Division manager Bill McNee said that in addition to providing greater safety, the advanced systems enable General Telephone to obtain adequate insurance for its central offices at a reduced rate.

The doctor comments

Numerous medicines are 2-edged swords

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have read several times that aspirin may cause bleeding of the stomach. I would like to know how one would know if this takes place. I take aspirin about three times during a 24-hour period. It is the only way I find relief of aching knees. I get faster relief if I take them between meals, rather than with food. Yet, I'm told this is wrong, that food of some sort should be taken along with the pills. Please advise.

DEAR READER — Yes, aspirin can irritate the lining of the stomach and actually burn a small hole. If the irritation is large enough, it can cause bleeding. Other than the indigestion type symptoms some people have from taking aspirin, you would not notice anything. These symptoms do not mean bleeding either. From the small amount of bleeding that usually occurs you couldn't tell it. Larger amounts might reveal traces of blood on examinations by your doctor. Or, the doctor could see the burned spots by using a special instrument to look inside the stomach. I doubt you are planning on that procedure.

If a large amount of bleeding occurred, then you would have findings of severe internal bleeding, which would include weakness and even shock-like reactions.

The point most people do not recognize about almost all medicines is that they are two-edged swords. They can help, but they can also harm. That is why the amount and taking your medicine exactly as your doctor prescribes it is so important. This isn't limited to medicines. Most of the things we need in life can be harmful in excess amounts. Oxygen is a typical example. Too much oxygen can cause oxygen poisoning and even death.

You should take something just before or with aspirin to help protect that stomach lining. A glass of milk will help, or a bit of cottage cheese. It should be more than a glass of water or ordinary liquids, though, because many liquids go right through the stomach and won't offer much protection for this problem.

Yes, you are probably right that you get faster relief when you take aspirin between meals without food. The aspirin is more likely to be dissolved and emptied immediately into the small intestine in this state. Then, it is rapidly absorbed into the bloodstream. Almost all medicines are most rapidly absorbed on an empty stomach. You will get a longer and more sustained action, though, when it is taken with food, simply because the absorption process is slowed down and leveled out.

I don't think people should become unnecessarily alarmed about the effects of aspirin in causing stomach irritation and bleeding. It is a good medicine and many people really need it for control of pain of arthritis and other conditions. I do not approve of aspirin popping, though, without a good reason. And, no one should be a habitual aspirin taker without their doctor's approval. A persistent problem that justifies regular aspirin also is important enough for the doctor's attention.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on losing weight, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Losing Weight" booklet.

Van Norman found sane in murder of couple

SAN BERNARDINO — Thomas E. Van Norman, 22, Wednesday was found sane by a San Bernardino County Superior Court jury, which earlier found him guilty of first degree murder in the brutal killing of a hitchhiking West End couple in the desert near Victorville.

Judge Richard C. Garner ordered Van Norman to appear for sentencing Dec. 21. He denied motions for a new trial for a reduction of the degree of murder, and immediate sentencing.

Van Norman, a George Air Force Base sergeant was charged with murdering John W. Bell, 18, of Ontario and Kathleen Marie Heron, 17, of Cucamonga following a week-long jury trial.

The same Superior Court Jury that found Van Norman guilty of murder Tuesday went on to hear testimony in the sanity phase of Van Norman's trial Wednesday. Van Norman had pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity to the killings.

In presenting the sanity phase portion of the case, Deputy Dist. Atty. Louis Glazier and Van Norman's defense attorney, Jack Luoma, stipulated that five different psychiatrists who examined the defendant if called to testify, would find Van Norman was sane at the time of the murders and that there was an element of malice in the crime.

Luoma stated during the trial that his client could remember most of the events surrounding the deaths of the couple, but not of the actual shooting and stabbing of the victims.

The prosecution alleged that Van Norman picked up the West End couple while they were hitchhiking to Las Vegas to get married. Van Norman stopped the car and pulled off the highway onto the desert.

The prosecution believes that Van Norman then beat Bell over the head with a shovel and raped Miss Herron. Van Norman then shot and stabbed Bell to death after he recovered consciousness.

The prosecution presented a county pathologists testimony that showed Miss Herron was shot and stabbed and then buried, still alive, in a shallow grave. Miss Herron died of suffocation.

The defense claimed that Bell had pulled a knife on Van Norman, and that Van Norman beat Bell with a shovel in self-defense.

LOCAL-NATIONAL
Sports

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

MONTCLAIR — As expected, Ganesha High will battle for the championship of the Upland-Montclair Tournament tonight at Upland High.

But the road to the final showdown wasn't easy.

The Giants, who were the favorites at Montclair this week, came out on top for the second year in a row Thursday night.

Now they need just one more victory against Azusa at 8:30 p.m. tonight at Upland to claim their first ever U-M Tourney championship.

Coach Gary Fulkerson's quintet almost didn't make it to the championship game, though.

The Giants had to struggle through a tough defensive game Thursday night against Northview before finally coming away with a 69-57 victory over the Vikings.

"They (Northview) made us play their kind of game," stated Fulkerson after the victory. "He (Northview coach Ron Rice) dictated the game. I don't know how he did it though. We weren't able to move the ball at all. We played a good defensive game and a pretty good offensive game, but we couldn't run. They were able to slow the game down even when WE had the ball."

Ganesha's offensive woes continued through the third quarter, where the Giants shot only 36 per cent from the floor and collected only 11 points to Northview's 13. But then Hunter went wild and scored 11 of his 23 points in the fourth quarter.

Northview had cut the Ganesha lead to five, 57-52 with only 3:15 remaining in the game, and the Vikings weren't about to let go. It was Hunter's heroics to put Ganesha out ahead to far enough to win.

The 6-4, 185 all-tournament candidate, who has now scored 64 points in the three tournament games, also pulled down 16 rebounds for Ganesha.

Giant center Cleve Porter was the second-leading scorer in the game with 22 points, while also grabbing 15 rebounds.

Guard Earl Wilson was the only other Giant in double figures with 14 points. In fact, only the five starters for Ganehsa got into the scoring column.

Northview's leading scorers were guard Bob Bishop with 14 points and guard Greg Smoyer with 18.

Claremont hit its first four field goals of the game against Montclair, but the Cavaliers were almost able to match it. Montclair pumped in its first three shots of the contest to make the game look like an eventual high-scoring battle.

But Montclair's only lead came early when the Cavs led the Wolfpack by a 6-4 margin. One more field goal by Claremont and a three-point play by Wolfpack guard Todd Ervin put Claremont ahead to stay.

After Claremont took its 9-6 lead in the first period, Montclair couldn't get any closer than one point—that coming at the end of the quarter when Montclair guard Tony Esquibel bucketed a field goal just before the buzzer. Claremont led by a 15-14 margin at that point. But then two Montclair turnovers gave Claremont the opportunity to pull away, and the "Pack did just that.

Claremont held a 12-point lead midway through the second period, only to see Montclair come charging back to trim the lead to only four with 1:30 left in the half.

Claremont then scored the next six points to lead at halftime, 40-30.

This is the second consecutive year Ganesha has reached the finals. Last year the Giants met eventual tournament champion Garey and could only claim the runnerup trophy, 82-63.

There are four other valley teams competing today in the final round. Claremont clipped Montclair, 72-59, to reach the finals for fifth place against Garey at 3:15 p.m. today at Upland.

At 4:45 p.m. today, Upland battles Northview for the third place championship.

Tonight at 7 p.m., Pomona will face Alta Loma, a slim 65-63 winner over Eisenhower Thursday.

All the games today are at Upland.

Ganesha looked like it was going to go on one its scoring rampages again when the Giants reeled off an 18-4 lead just before the end of the first quarter.

The 18-point effort was a little short of what the Giants usually totaled by the end of the first eight minutes, but the six points they allowed was far less than what they usually gave up.

Ganesha played a spirited defensive game for the whole 32 minutes, but the offense just couldn't explode after the first few minutes.

Only 30 seconds into the second quarter, Ganesha had built up a 15-point lead over the Vikings, 21-6, but then Northview found the range.

After hitting only 42 per cent from the floor in the first quarter, the Vikings blistered the nets in the second quarter—finishing the eight-minute period with a shooting percentage of 57 per cent.

Ganesha was outscored in the second quarter by a 22-19 margin and held 37-28 cushion at halftime.

But before the half had ended, Giant forward Broderick Hunter, who finished the night as the game's highest scorer with 23 points, picked up his third foul.

With only two minutes and 15 seconds remaining in the half, Northview had Ganesha's lead cut to seven points, 27-20. Then the Giant offense was able to run for a short time and opened up the spread to 13 points with 1:10 showing on the clock. A pair of free throws and a field goal put Northview back in striking distance again before the buzzer sounded.

Azusa stops Upland rally in semifinals

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

UPLAND — Azusa High will meet Ganesha for the championship of the 14th Annual Upland-Montclair Basketball Tournament tonight at 8:30 p.m. at Upland High.

Pomona will tangle with Alta Loma for the consolation title at 7 p.m. Upland and Northview will vie for third place at 4:45 p.m. with the battle for fifth place between Garey and Claremont having been played at 3:15 p.m.

Azusa earned the right to meet Ganesha for the title by virtue of staving off a late Upland rally. Azusa was held to just 21 points in the second half by an aggressive Upland defense but held on to nip the Scots, 63-60, Thursday night.

Pomona moved into the consolation title picture by posting an easy 81-65 win over Gladstone, while Garey routed Corona 79-60 to advance to tonight's game.

In the most exciting game of the evening, Upland fought back from a 42-24 halftime deficit to put the scare into the Aztecs from Azusa.

Entering the final quarter and still trailing 52-42, Curt Oldenkamp got the Scots rolling with a driving layup. However, he was charged with an offensive foul after the shot, his fifth, to force him to depart from the game with 13 points.

Upland followed that effort with six more points before Larry White sank a pair of free throws to break Azusa's fourth period scoreless draught with 5:35 to play.

Trailing by six, 60-56, Mike Matusewicz drove in for a layup and moments later added a pair of free throws to cut the deficit to 60-48, when he was fouled by Sukie Melgoza (his fifth of the game).

White's two free throws with 1:31 to play gave the Aztecs a four-point lead. Upland countered on Bryan Hutton's half court pass to Stu DuVall, under the basket, made it 62-60 with 16 seconds left.

The Scots got the ball back, out of bounds at midcourt, with 12 seconds left. Matusewicz drove under the hoop on the right side, leaped up and with anguish on his face, watched the ball bound off the rim to the left. Azusa's Fred Davis grabbed the loose ball and was fouled with three seconds left. Davis made one to give Azusa its 63-60 win.

Azusa utilized its height advantage, the starting quintet averaged 6-feet-3½, and displayed an outstanding team game in jumping to a 14-4 first quarter lead.

Center Mike Ayers (6-8) scored six points in the period to get the Aztecs rolling. The Scots, playing individual basketball (for most of the game), hit on just two field goals as they were unable to penetrate the Aztec defense.

Azusa outscored the Highlanders 8-2 in the early minutes of the second quarter but the Scots went on a spree, outscoring the Aztecs 10-4 to trail 26-14 with 3:46 left in the half.

Forward Mike Jantz led all scorers in the first half with 14 points while Melgoza added 10. He had scored 12 when he fouled out in the final stanza. The Aztecs shot a torrid 60 per cent in the first two stanzas, connecting on 18 of 30 shots.

Upland's defense dominated the second half action as DuVall held Jantz to just four points, Ogg checked Davis on five points and Oldenkamp limited Melgoza to just two points.

The Scots outscored Azusa 36-21, in the final half.

Ogg finished with 11 points, DuVall added 15 while Matusewicz scored 13 of his 15 in the second half.

Diamond Bar Don's fund raising caper

Never trust a track coach. Especially if its Don Ruh at Mt. San Antonio College.

In hot pursuit of funds for an all-weather track, Ruh and a number of his colleagues cooked up a scheme which on the surface appeared harmless and inexpensive to an innocent sports writer.

Ruh was going to run for the money—literally—in the Western Hemisphere Marathon, a Sunday jog from Culver City to El Segundo and back—26 miles in all.

"I hope I can make 10," was the hustler's poly Diamond Bar Don used as he went about collecting pledges of a quarter or more for each mile he would run.

Ruh had almost an entire track team assembled to make the run, with each participant gathering pledges which totaled nearly 400 before the big race.

When the results were in it amounted to more than $1,000 towards an all-weather track.

Ruh had to be proud of himself and his stalwarts. Minimum distance run: 10 miles, Ernie Gregoire, administrator and part time assistant track coach. Maximum distance run: all 26 miles, Le Stahl, member of the Mt. San Antonio Relays Committee, and seven members of the MSAC cross country team.

Sixteen miles

And Ruh? Well, Diamond Bar Don didn't make 10 miles. He ran 16. So did John Norton, his assistant; Earl Conn, a Relays Committee vice president; and Walnut City Manager Andy Lazzaretto. Relays committee vice presidents Larry McMillan and Don Tweedy each ran 15 miles.

Ruh even enlisted the support of the ladies.

Phyllis Leslie and Terry McCray, two shapely physical fitness instructors at MSAC, ran 14 miles—each. One of Phyllis' pledges got soaked for $14.

It just goes to show what a little organization and a lot of hustle can do.

Even a sports writer, who had to pop for a modest $4, can appreciate that.

Speaking of hustling

Four-year college recruiters are courting a number of MSAC football players, and especially quarterback Steve Myer, who has San Diego State, Florida State, Idaho State and Utah State interested in his services.

San Diego has plucked other Mounties from the valley in recent years, including Garland Chandler, Herbie Dobbins, Mike Lambert and Claudie Minor, all of whom completed their eligibility there this season.

Minor, a 6-foot-4, 285-pound offensive tackle, prepped at Garey High where he played only infrequently.

"It just goes to show that young athletes ought to keep trying," said a San Diego scout who expects Minor will be a high draft choice when NFL teams make their picks next month.

In two seasons at MSAC, Myer threw passes for 3,643 yards and 29 touchdowns, eclipsing Dennis Shaw, who was a Mountie quarterback in 1967 before moving to San Diego where he achieved national prominance.

Among the recruiters at MSAC this week was Bill Douglass, former head football coach at Garey High who is now an assistant coach at Cal State Long Beach.

Baseball returns to Washington

Padre sale going to court?

HOUSTON (UPI) — Baseball left Washington two years ago with a cloud over its head and when it returns to the nation's capital next April the cloud will still be there.

The National League voted unanimously Thursday to allow grocery store chain owner Joseph Danzansky to move the San Diego Padres cross country to Robert F. Kennedy Stadium in Washington, D.C. Danzansky had bought the Padres from C. Arnholt Smith for $12 million.

It will be the first time in history Washington has had a club in the National League.

After approving the sale and move, the league owners— already the defendants in a $12 million breach of contract suit filed by the city of San Diego— were threatened with an antitrust suit as well.

"I was shocked when I heard of the league's action," said San Diego city attorney John Witt. "I'm confident as I can be in an anti-trust suit we will file against the National League."

Witt was almost as incensed with the idea that a congressional committee would suggest using taxpayers' money to repay the city of San Diego for the financial loss the city suffers when the baseball team moves.

Just as much acrimony arose two years ago when Bob Short uprooted the Washington Senators and moved them to Texas, leaving the city without major league baseball for the first time since 1901.

"I'm very happy for the fans of Washington," Short said Thursday.

The league owners felt they had no choice but to move the team after Smith's attorney, John Holt, surprised them by stating Smith could no longer keep the team.

Despite Smith's allegedly crumbling financial empire, it had been expected he would attempt to keep ownership of the club and that if he did want to keep the club it had been thought the owners would allow him to just keep it in San Diego.

"We are surrounded in a legal thicket, burdened endlessly with suits, and it would not be fair to the sport, the players or baseball if Mr. Smith. continued operating the team," said Holt.

That was that, since the only other alternative the owners had to was to opt in favor of a group headed by racetrack owner Marge Everett which had promised to keep the club where it was.

But Mrs. Evertt was involved in the briberty scandal surrounding former Illinois governor Otto Kerner and apparently never received serious consideration from the owners.

While the Padres were being moved from San Diego, the Los Angeles Dodgers were doing some moving of their own — shipping left pitcher Claude Osteen to Houston in exchange for the Astros' slugging centerfielder Jim Wynn.

The Osteen-for-Wynn trade (Houston also received minor league pitcher David Culpepper) was the biggest swap on the next to last day of baseball's winter meetings. It was the busiest treading day of the session.

Osteen, 34, compiled a 16-11 record last year, while Wynn, 31, had a disappointing season in the leadoff position, batting .220.

In other deals Thursday:

—California traded veteran catcher Jeff Torborg to St. Louis for 24-year old lefthanded pitcher John Andrews.

—The Angels also sent right handed reliever Aurelio Monteagudo and Minor league outfielder Chris Coletta to the Phillies for second baseman Denny Doyle in the completion of a deal which had sent Billy Grabarkowitz from California to Philadelphia last August.

—Detroit dealt righthanded pitcher Mike Strahler to Milwaukee for lefthanded Ray Newman.

—The Chicago Cubs sent catcher Randy Hundley to Minnesota for catcher George Mitterwald.

—And Texas sold shortstop Jim Mason to the NewYork Yankees while purchasing Baltimore Oriole first baseman-outfielder Terry Crowley.

Wynn gives L.A. power

HOUSTON (UPI) — Walt Alston knows sentiment has its place. But it cannot stand in the way when it comes to doing what you think is best for your ball club.

So Claude Osteen, the left hander who has toiled in the major leagues for 16 years and in Los Angeles for the last nine, was traded Thursday to Houston in exchange for Jim Wynn, the Astros 5-9 power hitting outfielder.

"When a player has been such a fine pitcher for us as long as Claude has," said Alston, the Dodgers manager since 1954, "There has to be some sentimentality involved."

"I can't foresee how much this trade will help us. But obviously we would not have made the deal if we didn't think it would do us some good.

"We came into these meetings knowing that we were willing to give him up and we stuck to it."

Wynn has been a major disappointment to Houston for two of the past three seasons, hitting .220 last season with 20 home runs and 55 RBI's. But Alston said the batting averages did not tell Wynn's whole story.

"When you look at his run production and the times he reaches base I would say he has had disappointing years."

The Astros were delighted to have Osteen, who has been a problem for them.

"With our ball park and our defensive infield behind him Claude should win 15 games a year in a breeze and the rest will be gravy," said Astro Vice president Grady Hatton.

"Some people may think I'm through," Osteen said, "but I'm not one of them."

Although he was 16-11 last season, he lost his last five decisions as the Cincinnati Reds caught the Dodgers in the final month to win the National League West.

"I deserved to lose a couple of those games," said Osteen, "but I didn't pitch that badly in the others. People talk about how we blew the lead but Cincinnati's tremendous pace is seldom mentioned. I simply think it was a case of the Reds catching us. After all, we won 95 games."

Osteen, who earned $100,000 last season in his ninth year as a Dodger, has a 133-115 career record and has won 20 games twice.

"I'm very excited about it (the trade)," he continued. "The Astros have solid hitting, an outstanding defense and a manager (Preston Gomez) I respect. It's all up to me. It's a real challenge.

"I hate leaving. I can't say enough good things about the organization. I had the thrill of pitching on a world champion and two pennant winners. I had the opportunity of pitching in the same rotation with Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and Johnny Podres. My pride in being a Dodger will never rub off."

A low ball finesse pitcher, Osteen was asked about playing in the Astrodome at Houston.

"Initially," said the Brea, Calif., resident, "I felt Astroturf would work against me since I like to keep the ball on the ground and Astroturf is such a fast surface.

"But the more I saw of it the more I was inclined to feel otherwise. With my control and that great Houston infield, there shouldn't be any problem pitching on it regularly."

NEW UNIFORM FOR GREG — Greg Ballard, the Pomona Valley Player of the Year last season at Garey High, enjoys his new uniform at the University of Oregon. The 6-7 freshman will be playing tonight when the Ducks host Sacramento State. In his first game at Oregon, Ballard grabbed 15 rebounds and scored 11 points. He is one of five outstanding freshmen at Oregon.

Poly seeks first victory

BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

POMONA — Cal Poly's basketball team needs a victory this week-end.

Coach Don Hogan knows it better get the win tonight since there's not much chance Saturday.

The Broncos, 0-2 after dropping both games last weekend in the Pomona Host Lions Club Bronco Classic, are hosting Stanislaus State at Kellogg Gym tonight then head for Tucson, Ariz. Saturday to play the University of Arizona.

Obviously, Poly has a much better chance to win tonight. The tipoff tonight is 8 p.m. There will be no preliminary game.

Like Poly, Stanislaus State is winless this season with an 0-3 record after Thursday night's 92-84 loss at Cal State Northridge on the first stop of this weekend tour.

Arizona is a different story. Under coach Fred Snowden, the Wildcats are 2-1 for the season in trying to maintain their high pre-season rankings.

After last weekend's disappointing start, Hogan is hoping to celebrate his first victory as a head coach tonight. But his team still has many problems to overcome.

Final quarter exams have occupied the players' attention this week with little time to concentrate on basketball.

"I hope they're ready to play," Hogan said, "but it's hard to tell with everything else going on."

Hogan isn't certain who will be in tonight's starting lineup.

"I'm going to be shaking things up," he said. "We got to juggle things until we get the right combination."

Guard Alphonso Adair, who lies to be known as "the Wizard", will defnitely be starting as Hogan was pleased with his play last weekend.

The 5-8 magician from Maryland by way of Trinidad (Colo.) is finally getting a full opportunity to display his talents after riding the bench most of last season under coach Dan Ayala.

Adair is a natural attention getter with his size and quickness as the fans easily respond to him but both Ayala and Hogan have felt he needed more consistency.

"Wizard's play last week was one of our highlights," Hogan said. "According to our statistics, he had seven steals. He just played super."

Center Lee Roy Williams, a 6-foot-9 senior, leads Poly in scoring and rebounding with respective averages of 16.5 and 11.

Stanislaus State, a NAIA District Three member located in Turlock, also has a new coach in Dr. Armin Pipho. He has the task of taking over a club with a 2-24 record last year.

The Warriors opened the season by losing, 79-72, in overtime to Fresno Pacific. Cal State Bakersfield then took an 86-56 win over Stanislaus.

Guard Steve Harris (6-2), a transfer from Nevada Reno, is the Warriors' top scorer with a 21.0 average followed by forward Arthur Shanks (6-5), a former Los Angeles City College star. Stanislaus has some size in 6-9 center Bob Berning.

Hogan knows his team has a much beter chance of entering the victory circle tonight then Saturday. He would like to go to Tucson with one win under his belt.

Arizona may be playing without one of its stars. Guard Eric Money suffered a sprained ankle in Wednesday's non-counting 86-77 win over Athletes in Action. Reserve center Jerome Gladney also suffered a broken nose in the game.

Azusa star takes lead in scoring

Not surprisingly, sensational Azusa Pacific newcomer Rick Reed is the leader in the Progress-Bulletin's first report in the annual scoring derby for four-year colleges.

Reed, a 6-2 forward from San Diego City College by way of Cal Poly SLO, averaged 27.3 points per game while leading the Cougars to a successful defense of their Redlands tournament crown. Reed tied the tournament scoring record with 82 points and was named the Outstanding Player.

Reed is starting off with a big lead over his competitors for the scoring trophy which the P-B awards to the four-year college player in the valley who averages the most points per game over a full season.

Last year's winner, APC's Dennis Vanzant, is not yet back to top form or condition. The 6-9 Vanzant is recovering from a motorcycle accident and is averaging between 10 and 20 minutes playing time per game.

Vanzant averaged 20.5 points per game in winning the title as a junior. He finished third with a 16.5 points per game average two years ago as a sophomore. To date his average is 14.3 good enough for sixth place.

Pomona-Pitzer senior Norm Carter is second. Teammate Brandon Boyd, a freshman, and Cal Poly's Lee Roy Williams are tied for third.

Cal Poly and Claremont-Mudd have the most players, three. The other schools have two each.

La Verne's fine football player, Joe Edmonds is making an auspicious start in basketball and ranks 10th.

CLAREMONT — Claremont High's soccer team will return to action in the semifinals of the Baldwin Park Tournament this evening by playing Keppel at 5 p.m. at Baldwin Park High.

Claremont defeated Chaffey, 5-0, in Wednesday's first round while Keppel beat Azusa, 2-0.

Success story

MSAC's Nash develops

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

Gary Nash, Mt. San Antonio's 6-foot-10 center, never played high school basketball.

Head coach Gene Victor discovered the gangly youngster one day two years ago, and it was the start of a success story which is in its final chapter at MSAC this season.

Nash is currently leading the Mounties in scoring and rebounding, averaging 23.9 points and 15 rebounds per game.

In his first season of varsity basketball last year, he averaged about eight points and nine rebounds as a full time starter.

"He's performing very well for us," says assistant coach Ralph Osterkamp. "He still has room for improvement and we look for more. I know that's hard to say after he scores 28 points and gets 18 rebounds."

Those were Nash's totals in Tuesday's game against San Beranrdino.

"You have to say he's certainly performing well," Osterkamp continued. "But the jury is still out on how good he can be and at what level of competition he can play at in the future."

Nash will get his stiffest challenge of the young season tonight when the Mounties host Rio Hondo in a 7:30 p.m. game.

Nash will have to contend with Rio Hondo's 6-foot-8 center Fred Haberecht, who was selected most valuable player at last weekend's Moorpark Invitational Tournament. Haberecht averaged 34.1 points and 17 rebounds in three games to win the honor.

The Roadrunners are 3-1 overall for the season, while the Mounties are struggling with a 2-5 record following Tuesday's 69-63 loss to San Bernardino in overtime.

"That loss set us back a little," said Osterkamp. "But we're making progress. We think it will probably take about two weeks to get untracked."

The Mounties complete the week by visiting Chaffey Saturday night. They open play in the Chaffey Invitational Wednesday against L.A. Harbor.

In one other community college game tonight, Citrus (2-3) hosts the Cal State Fullerton junior varisty.

Cal Baptist's foul shooting proves too much for Stags

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — The Stags of Claremont-Mudd had a foul time of it Thursday night.

It wasn't that they committed that many. It was just that visiting Cal Baptist simply didn't miss at the free throw line.

The Lancers sank 30 of 33 free throws enroute to a 76-68 victory. What was worse was that they made good on 24 of 26 in the second half.

Still, the free throws were not solely responsible for the C-M loss. With the game tied 10-10 five minutes into the first half, the Stags suddenly turned ice cold.

They managed only one bucket by Kevin McCarthy in five minutes. Thereafter they averaged one about every three minutes until the final four minutes of the period.

Down 40-30 at the half, they battled back and finally took a 56-55 lead on Dave Willhite's basket with 7:52 remaining in the game.

The two teams then traded baskets and the lead with C-M going in front 58-57, 60-57, 62-61, 64-63. The score was knotted at 66-66 and 68-68 before the Lancers went out in front to stay, 70-68 on Steve Johnson's two free throws with 1:29 left.

Johnson sank two more with :52 left when Norm Richards fouled out. In fact, 13 of the last 15 Cal Baptist points came on free throws.

Meanwhile, the Stags were either missing shots or missing the first free throw in a one and one situation. The fouls were just about even, 25 for the visitors to 24 for C-M.

So, too, were the turnovers, 13 for Cal Baptist, 12 for the Stags.

C-M hit on 26 of 67 field goal attempts (38.8 per cent) while Cal Baptist connected on 23 of 58 (39.6 per cent).

The loss negated a great effort by Ray Rotolo. The 6-4 junior came off the bench to score 18 points, 12 in the second half to lead the Stags.

Center Steve Deering, who fouled out with 4:11 left in the game, led all scorers with 19 points.

"We didn't play as well tonight as we did at Redlands," Coach Ted Ducey observed, "especially in the first half. I was pleased the way we came back in the second half, but the breaks just didn't go our way in the last two minutes."

Ducey singled out Rotolo and Willhite for their good work. "Rotolo did a fine job coming off the bench," he said, "and Willhite (10 points) went in and did the things we wanted him to."

The Stags, now 2-2, travel to Pt. Loma in San Diego Saturday night. Cal Baptist now is 4-2 for the season. Center Kevin Finnerty of Chino was slated for examination by Dr. Robert Kurland today and Lancer coach Floyd Evans hopes to have him back next week.

Tonight, Azusa Pacific opens play against the host team in the Cal Poly SLO tourney at San Luis Obispo. Saturday night, Pomona-Pitzer is at Cal Lutheran.

Barajas gets KO over Billy Backus

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mexico's hard-punching Zovek Barajas stopped former welterweight champ Billy Backus of Canastota, N.Y., with a severely cut right eye in the third round of a scheduled 10-round fight at the Olympic Auditorium Thursday night.

Barajas, who upset Armando Muniz on a 10-round decision here Oct. 11, started closing Backus' right eye in the first round and opened a cut in the second.

Three inches taller at 5-foot-10 and with a big reach advantage, the 22-year-old welterweight from Sinoloa, Mexico, took a big step toward a title fight.

Suffering his third defeat in four fights this year, the 30year-old Backus all but dropped out of contention for the crown now held by Jose Napoles of Mexico, a title he lifted from Napoles in 1970 for six months.

Barajas weighed 147 and Backus 149 ½.

A 6-5 favorite, the young Mexican fighter improved his record to 28-2 with his 25th knockout. Backus now is 35-14-4.

In a preliminary bout, Venezuelan heavyweight Jose Luis Garcia, making a comeback after suffering three knockouts in the last 13 months, stopped veteran Charley Polite of Holyoke, Mass., in the sixth round.

Referee George Latka halted the scheduled 10-round bout at 2:08 of the sixth with the 25-year-old Garcia, 210, pounding Polite, 225, mercilessly with lefts and rights.

Rough day for Valley prep teams

Local teams saw rough sledding in high school basketball action, as Damien, Webb, and Chaffey all suffered tourney losses.

Damien dropped a 66-62 squeaker to St. Francis in the Bishop Amat Tourney, Flintridge downed Webb 47-32 in the Pasadena Poly Tournament, and Chaffey fell victim to San Gabriel 70-59 in Arroyo Tourney action.

Damien got a sensational 36-point effort from 5'5" guard Bill Karr, but crucial turnovers in the final quarter wrecked the Spartans. St. Francis was led by center Tom Zetlmaier who potted 17 points.

Karr hit on 17 of 24 shots from the floor, most of them from long-range. Fellow guard John Pignotti added 10 points for the Spartans but beyond that there was not much scoring help for Damien.

Damien, who suffered a 63-40 loss to Bishop Amat in the opener of the tourney, is now eliminated from further tournament action.

Not much of anything went right for Webb in their Pasadena Poly opening game. In a low-scoring contest, the Gauls held a 16-13 lead at the half but fell apart in the second stanza and bowed to Flintridge 47-32.

The Gauls committed twice as many fouls as Flintridge, 20 to 10, and never did solve the Highlanders zone defense. John Baer wound up as top Gaul scorer, although he had only eight points and was four-of-20 from the field.

Webb will now meet Rim of the World in a consolation game to start at 3:00 p.m. this afternoon. The game will be played at Pasadena Poly High.

Chaffey suffered a similar fate in the Arroyo Tourney against San Gabriel, as the Tigers were dumped by a 70-59 count.

Sophomore guard Mark McQuaid led all scorers with 19 points, but he fouled out midway through the third period to severely hurt Chaffey's chances of victory.

Chaffey will now meet Alhambra, a narrow 51-50 loser to Edgewood, for third place in the Arroyo Tourney. Tip-off is slated for 6:30 p.m. tonight at Arroyo High.

Devils, Vikings win

Pomona played a team game, except for a few minutes early in the second half, and had little trouble in downing Gladstone.

The Devils played good man-to-man defense and controlled the boards as they moved to a 20-14 first quarter lead. Forward Mike Yarborough grabbed six rebounds and scored 10 points to start coach Ed Taylor's team on the right track toward their second win in four outings.

Claremont center Bruce Abraham finished the day with 17 points and only five rebounds, while his teammate Ervin capped his day with 10 points.

Montclair center Mark Gosswiller was the game's high scorer with 21 points and nine rebounds.

Pomona scored seven straight points at the outset of the second period to get momentum. The Gladiators had a spree of six points midway through the quarter but the Devils closed the half with six straight to lead 42-27.

Guard Derrick Thomas had four steals and four points in the quarter to spark Pomona. Gladstone's Dave Fritz tossed in seven points.

The teams played fast and loose in the second half with Pomona running well and controlling the boards. Taylor emptied his bench as 10 Devils made the scoring column. Rueban Huntsman, who scored the game winning basket in the 65-63 win over Charter Oak Wednesday, scored 12 in a reserve role. Thomas finished with 12 while Yarborough led the team with 26 points and 15 rebounds.

Fritz took game scoring honors with 29, including nine of 12 from the foul line.

Pomona shot 49.9 per cent on the game (37 of 75) while Gladstone shot a poor 32.9 per cent.

Garey High outscored its much smaller opponents, 40-25, in the second half to notch its semifinal win over Corona.

The Vikings broke a 35-35 deadlock at intermission with a 21-point third quarter. Garey Carpenter and Delbert McDonald scored 10 each as Garey entered the final stanza leading 56-45.

Both temas started sluggish. Corona was unable to penetrate Garey's zone defense. The Vikings ran well but committed eight turnovers in the first quarter.

The Vikings started fast in the second period, outscoring the Panthers 12-2 over a four minute span. Corona retaliated with a 10-2 outburst in the next two minutes.

The lead changed hands four times in the final two minutes with McDonald's layup with six seconds left sending the game into the locker room at the half tied at 35-all.

McDonald, Carpenter and Leverich all tied for game scoring honors with 22 points. Garey's Ashley (Poncho) Thomas tossed in 11.

Garey finished with a 50 per cent effort, connecting on 17 of 34 attempts while the Panthers made just 24 of 74 (32.4 per cent).

Sharks' little man outshines big man

By United Press International

The little man stole the big man's thunder Thursday night.

The Los Angeles Sharks entertained all-time hockey great Gordie Howe and the Houston Aeros at Long Beach, Calif., and while Howe was expected to star, it was little Gary Veneruzzo, a 5-foot-8, 165-pounder, who was the night's key figure.

Veneruzzo scored two goals and assisted on two others as the Sharks beat the Aeros 4-3.

The Sharks, who had not beaten Houston in three previous games this season, took a 41 lead at 7:29 of the third period as Veneruzzo popped in a rebound of a Marc Tardif shot on a power play. The Aeros came back to close the final score to one goal on scores by Mark Howe, Gordie's 18-year-old son, and Larry Lund.

Veneruzzo, who led the Sharks in goals scored last season with 45, got his 11th and 12th goals and his 20th, 21st, 22nd and 23rd points. After Mark Howe put Houston in front 1-0 in the second period, the Sharks exploded for goals by Brian McDonald, J.P. LeBlanc and Veneruzzo.

In the only other World Hockey Association action, the Jersey Knights edged the Cleveland Crusaders 3-2 and the Edmonton Oilers nipped the Toronto Toros 4-3.

Norm Ferguson's power play goal midway through the third period rallied the Knights over Cleveland. The Crusaders took a 2-0 lead early in the first period on goals by Jim Wiste and Norm Cournoyer. Late in the first period, Bobby Sheehan scored on a breakaway to keep the Knights close.

Mike Laughton got Jersey's second goal in the second period to tie the game and Ferguson then scored on a power play with Cleveland's Paul Shmyr serving a two-minute penalty.

Jim Harrison scored two goals in the third period, one short-handed and the other with less than two minutes remaining, to give Edmonton the victory over Toronto.

Harrison, the WHA's leading scorer with 38 points, beat Toronto goalie Gilles Gratton with a 15-foot shot at 18:07 of the final period to climax an Edmonton rally. He scored the short-handed goal at 6:07 of the stanza.

Len Lunde and Ross Perkins scored earlier for the Oilers as they won their 12th game in 14 home contests. Wayne Carlton, Guy Trottier and Pat Hicke scored for Toronto.

SMU tries Walton

By United Press International

It's Ira Terrell's turn tomorrow night.

The 6-foot-8 sophomore has the unenviable task of handling Bill Walton, UCLA's two-time All America center, when Southern Methodist takes on the top-ranked Bruins in Los Angeles Saturday night.

Walton is the key man for UCLA as it seeks its 78th consecutive victory after a scare last weekend against Maryland. The Bruins held off a late rally to win 65-64.

Walton has scored 41 points and has taken down 44 rebounds in UCLA's two victories this season but he tired against Maryland last week and the Terps' Len Elmore began to work successfully in the late stages.

SMU is 2-1 and sends out a big front line to challenge the Bruins. Joining Terrell are 6-7 Sammy Hervey and 6-9 Jeff Cummings.

"I don't know anything about Southern Methodist," said UCLA Coach John Wooden, "except that they're favored to win their conference."

In Thursday night action, five ranked teams were in action and all won. Notre Dame (No. 8) ripped Northwestern 98-74, Houston (13) blasted Wabash 119-71, Kansas State (14) downed Texas 71-63, Alabama (17) rolled over Oklahoma State 96-74 and Nevada-Las Vegas beat Stetson 66-50.

John Shumate, Gary Brokaw and Adrian Dantley combined for 72 points as Notre Dame took a lead late in the first half and then rolled over Northwestern. Shumate, who had 30 points, broke a 35-35 tie late in the first half. Brokaw had 22 points and Dantley, a freshman, hit 20 as the Fighting Irish lifted their record to 3-0.

Louis Dunbar's 30 points lifted Houston over Wabash, the Cogars' first victory after two losses. Houston toyed with the smaller Wabash club, hitting 65 per cent of its shots and outrebounding Wabash 59-28.

Lon Kruger had 16 points and Gene McVey 14 before leaving with an ankle injury as Kansas State beat Texas and Alabama, with 6-10 sophomore Leon Douglas hitting all his 22 points in the first half, had little trouble with Oklahoma State. Bobby Florence scored 16 points to give new basketball coach Jerry Tarkanian his first victory of the season as Nevada-Las Vegas beat Stetson.

Elsewhere, Utah, with Tickey Burden and Ty Medley teamming for 45 points, upset Southern California 90-66 and sophomore Phil Sellers' 22 points carried Rutgers to an 8453 rout of Scranton. Greg Boyd, a 5-9 guard, scored 21 points to help DePaul beat Washington State 67-45.

Bulls keep domination over 76ers

By United Press International

At this stage, it's 10 to 1 the Chicago Bulls won't lose a game to the Philadelphia 76ers this season.

Those aren't odds. The figure represents Chicago's won-lost record with the lowly 76ers over the last three seasons.

The Bulls continued their domination over Philadelphia with a 103-98 victory Thursday night, making it two in a row against the 76ers. Chicago won all four of their meetings in 1972-73 and was 4-1 the previous season.

Chet Walker, who is averaging five points above his career 17.1 point mark, scored 27 points and Bob Love added 24 as the Bulls cut Milwaukee's lead to 2½ games in the midwest division of the National Basketball Association.

Chicago, ranked 11th in NBA offense and third in defense, trailed in the first two minutes of the game and allowed Philadelphia a tie later in the contest, but the 76ers couldn't overcome the potent Bulls shooting as Jerry Sloan added 21 points for the winners.

Fred Carter scored a game-high 30 points for Philadelphia as the 76ers lost their 17th game in 26 outings this season.

The Detroit Pistons rallied to edge the Seattle Supersonics, 110-108, in the only other NBA action.

The Pistons, who have now won four in a row, trailed 106-101 with 2:53 remaining but put together two foul shots by Don Adams, five points from Dave Bing and a field goal by Bob Lanier, while Holding the Sonics to two points in the final 3½ minutes.

Bing led the winners and took game honors with 33 points. Spencer Haywood was high for Seattle with 29.

Cal State is now 2-2. Pepperdine is winless in two outings.

Trojans hope to regroup after ambush

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A 24-point loss to Utah's Utes hasn't changed Southern California Coach Bob Boyd's mind.

"I'm still very positive about our team," Boyd said Thursday night after his Trojans were walloped 90-66 here. "We're going to win our share of games."

USC acted like it still had its mind on its 100-76 opening season victory over Western Athletic Conference favorite Arizona at Los Angeles last weekend. The Trojans trailed 45-30 at halftime and didn't look like they belonged on the same floor with Utah.

"They beat us in every department," admitted Boyd. "We fumbled the ball all night, we didn't shoot at all and they had seven or eight unmolested layups."

The reason for the Trojans' poor play?

"We were sluggish and maybe it was the altitude," said their coach. "I'm sure, too, we came into the game thinking Utah wasn't as good a team as Arizona."

The Trojans take their 1-1 record to Illinois for a Saturday night game. They're back home the following weekend to play Santa Clara and Arizona State at the Sports Arena.

"We'll have to regroup now," said Boyd, "But I think we can do it. We have a couple of days before our next game and we can use them."

In the Utah game, the winners were led by guards Tickey Burden and Ty Medley, who scored 24 and 21 points, respectively, while Gus Williams paced the Trojans with 15. Reserve Bruce Clark added 10 and Dan Anderson hit nine for USC.

Morgan not talking about UCLA opening

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Athletic Director J. D. Morgan may already know the name of UCLA's next football coach but he's not talking for publication at the moment.

The surprise announcement of the departure of headman Pepper Rodgers to take over at his alma mater Georgia Tech caught Bruin fans by surprise Wednesday but Morgan had an inkling a week ago. It was then that Georgia Tech Athletic Director Bobby Dodd told Morgan he wanted to talk to Rodgers, his old quarterback, about the head coaching job.

Morgan, currently at the Pacific 8 conference meeting in San Francisco, declined comment on a successor to Rodgers who had two good years out of three. He was 2-7-1 his first season, then 8-3 and 9-2 but never could beat the USC Trojans. He got a 7-7 tie in 1971.

Morgan would not have to look far for a man with head coaching experience.

Rodgers' no. 1 assistant and the offensive co-ordinator who installed the Wishbone for the Bruins, was Homer Smith. Smith, 42, a 1954 Princeton graduate, was boss at Davidson College in North Carolina 1965-69 and at the University of Pacific, 1970-71.

Another prospect close at hand is Dick Vermeil, 37, offensive backfield and special teams coach for the Los Angeles Rams. Vermeil served under coach Tommy Prothro at UCLA in 1970.

Prothro, who quit the Bruins and coached the Rams for two seasons before he was fired, says he's not interested in returning to UCLA.

Names thrown by sports writers into the hopper for the UCLA job include Barry Switzer of Oklahoma, Lou Holtz of North Carolina State and Doug Dickey of Florida.

Buffalo Sabre rookie Likes playing rangers

United Press International

Other players might fear playing against the powerful New York Rangers but rookie Rick Dudley of Buffalo seems to savor it.

The young right-winger, who scored his first National Hockey League goal against the Rangers two weeks ago, picked up his first NHL hat trick against them Thursday night as the Sabres whipped New York 8-4. The loss snapped a 10-game New York unbeaten streak.

"That's my lucky team, I guess," Dudley said with a wide grin. "I felt after the first period we were going to beat them. We had a lot more legs than them and when you're skating, you're hard to beat."

In the other two games, Montreal beat the New York Islanders 4-2 and Toronto topped Minnesota 4-1.

Buffalo was down 3-2 after the first period, but Jim Lorentz scored two goals, his ninth and 10th of the season, during a five-goal second period onslaught by Buffalo that gave them a 7-4 lead.

Lorentz also assisted on four of Buffalo's goals to tie Sabres team records for most assists and most points scored in a game.

"We started to play better in the last three or four games," he said. 'I was working hard but nothing was happening. Then things finally started clicking and all kinds of things happened."

Seven of Buffalo's eight goals came off Ed Giacomin, who was replaced by Gilles Villemure in the net after two periods. New York scored three of its four goals against Roger Crozier, who was replaced by Dave Dryden after one period.

Robnett paces Cal Northridge

NORTHRIDGE (UPI) — George Robnett scored 21 points and Reggie Williams added 18 Thursday night to lead Cal State Northridge to a 92-84 win over Stanislaus State.

The win gives Northridge a 21 record. Stanislaus is 0-3.

New Mexico fires Feldman, seeks grid coach

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UPI) — Rudy Feldman was fired Thursday as New Mexico University's football coach.

University President Ferrel Heady said he notified Feldman of his dismissal, effective Jan. 31.

No successor has been chosen and some contractual matters remain to be ironed out between the university and Feldman, who still has three years to go on a five-year contract. Feldman's salary is $25,000 annually.

Feldman said contractual matters were under discussion with school officials. The coach said he has no plans at the present time and declined comment about whether he would be willing to take another job at the school for the remainder of his contract.

In the dismissal letter to Feldman, Heady said, "I regret that we have not been able thus far to reach a mutually satisfactory agreement" on the contract. The university president said he was "requesting the university's legal counsel to continue discussions with you and your counsel on these matters."

Feldman was an assistant coach at Colorado before coming to New Mexico six years ago. His teams have compiled a 24-37-2 record, including a 4-7 mark this season.

Washington State Coach Jim Sweeney was in Albuquerque this week for interviews with university officials about his possible candidacy for the Lobo coaching job. Feldman's chief assistant, Bill Mondt, is also scheduled to be interviewed for the post.

FDA requests consumer aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) asked consumers recently whether they wanted the labels on canned food and vegetables to show what the contents weigh when the liquid is drained off.

The FDA said its own information was too skimpy to make a decision on a Consumers Union petition for the FDA to require such "drained weight" labeling on processed fruits and vegetables.

A spokesman for Consumers Union said he wished the agency had acted sooner on the request but, "We welcome it and we hope consumers will shower the FDA with comments and express their desire for this type of reform."

Gardener's Checklist

1. Start thinking about a gift for your gardening friend. Plants in bloom, an indoor foliage plant, a book on gardening, or a special gadget are good choices.

2. Geraniums will bloom this winter if you bring them indoors by a sunny window and keep them watered.

3. Select a living Christmas tree this week, while supply is still good. Nurserymen have several varieties to offer.

4. Prepare planting beds for new roses. The 1974 varieties will be in nurseries soon.

5. Special crabgrass controls should be applied this month. Your nurseryman will recommend one.

Cyclamen can color dull winter yard

When looking for something extraordinary for the winter garden, don't overlook cyclamen. These cool season charmers will flower from now into spring. They provide a succession of noticeable color.

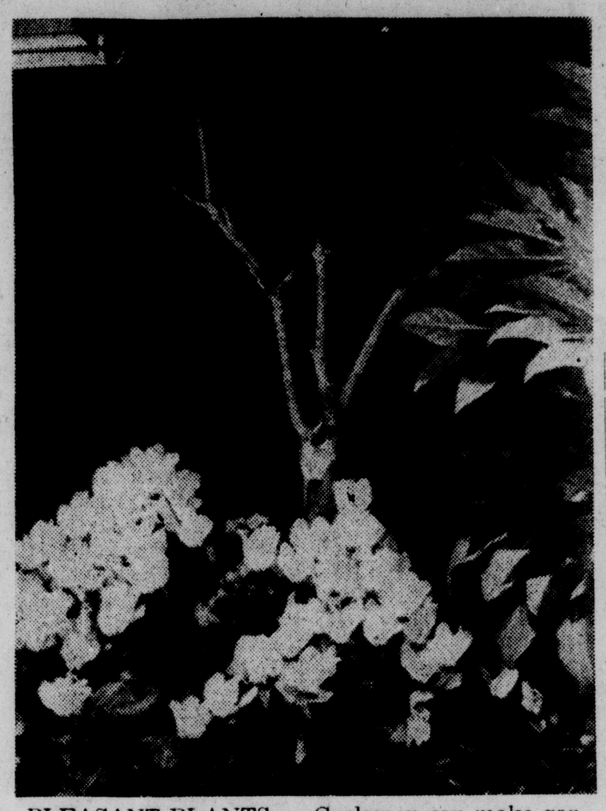
Many Californians have suddenly discovered these time-honored plants which once had the reputation for being an indoor delight, or a tender specimen to grow in a lanai or protected patio.

Cyclamen is hardier than many give it credit for being, according to the California Association of Nurserymen. On a frosty morning, for instance, the flowers may hang their heads, but by afternoon they will perk-up and be exquisite as ever.

Nurseries have cyclamen in several different sizes of containers. Pots of the free-flowering plants are charming decorations for indoor rooms. In the garden, cyclamen shines in a variety of situations: several plants massed for effect create a beautiful border. Tuck in a few plants in front of foundation shrubs, or spot several at random throughout the garden, for colorful accents.

The colors available are sure-to-please. The range goes from glistening white to the deepest violet. There are luscious shades of pink, red and lavender, too.

In coastal gardens, cyclamen will take more sun than in the hot inland valleys, where partial shade is recommended. Planting under an overhead eave or tree affords the needed relief from the sun.



PLEASANT PLANTS — Cyclamen can make gardening a fun, and color-filled, winter experience.

Deciduous trees often overlooked

People who overlook deciduous trees and shrubs for highlighting the landscape are missing the boat. Many Californians shun deciduous plants because they do shed their leaves in winter.

However, the bare framework of the tree or shrub often offers focal interest to the garden; the bareness serves as a reminder of seasonal changes in a land of mild climate — where seasons change so little. Also, a deciduous plant's leafing out after a winter's sleep can be a delightful highlight of spring.

There are several flowering deciduous shrubs generally available to Californians, and worthy of consideration. Some do better than others in a given area; your nurseryman can offer recommendations for local conditions.

SMU tries Walton

By United Press International

It's Ira Terrell's turn tomorrow night.

The 6-foot-8 sophomore has the unenviable task of handling Bill Walton, UCLA's two-time All America center, when Southern Methodist takes on the top-ranked Bruins in Los Angeles Saturday night.

Walton is the key man for UCLA as it seeks its 78th consecutive victory after a scare last weekend against Maryland. The Bruins held off a late rally to win 65-64.

Walton has scored 41 points and has taken down 44 rebounds in UCLA's two victories this season but he tired against Maryland last week and the Terps' Len Elmore began to work successfully in the late stages.

SMU is 2-1 and sends out a big front line to challenge the Bruins. Joining Terrell are 6-7 Sammy Hervey and 6-9 Jeff Cummings.

"I don't know anything about Southern Methodist," said UCLA Coach John Wooden, "except that they're favored to win their conference."

In Thursday night action, five ranked teams were in action and all won. Notre Dame (No. 8) ripped Northwestern 98-74, Houston (13) blasted Wabash 119-71, Kansas State (14) downed Texas 71-63, Alabama (17) rolled over Oklahoma State 96-74 and Nevada-Las Vegas beat Stetson 66-50.

John Shumate, Gary Brokaw and Adrian Dantley combined for 72 points as Notre Dame took a lead late in the first half and then rolled over Northwestern. Shumate, who had 30 points, broke a 35-35 tie late in the first half. Brokaw had 22 points and Dantley, a freshman, hit 20 as the Fighting Irish lifted their record to 3-0.

Louis Dunbar's 30 points lifted Houston over Wabash, the Cogars' first victory after two losses. Houston toyed with the smaller Wabash club, hitting 65 per cent of its shots and outrebounding Wabash 59-28.

Lon Kruger had 16 points and Gene McVey 14 before leaving with an ankle injury as Kansas State beat Texas and Alabama, with 6-10 sophomore Leon Douglas hitting all his 22 points in the first half, had little trouble with Oklahoma State. Bobby Florence scored 16 points to give new basketball coach Jerry Tarkanian his first victory of the season as Nevada-Las Vegas beat Stetson.

Elsewhere, Utah, with Tickey Burden and Ty Medley teamming for 45 points, upset Southern California 90-66 and sophomore Phil Sellers' 22 points carried Rutgers to an 8453 rout of Scranton. Greg Boyd, a 5-9 guard, scored 21 points to help DePaul beat Washington State 67-45.

Bulls keep domination over 76ers

By United Press International

At this stage, it's 10 to 1 the Chicago Bulls won't lose a game to the Philadelphia 76ers this season.

Those aren't odds. The figure represents Chicago's won-lost record with the lowly 76ers over the last three seasons.

The Bulls continued their domination over Philadelphia with a 103-98 victory Thursday night, making it two in a row against the 76ers. Chicago won all four of their meetings in 1972-73 and was 4-1 the previous season.

Chet Walker, who is averaging five points above his career 17.1 point mark, scored 27 points and Bob Love added 24 as the Bulls cut Milwaukee's lead to 2½ games in the midwest division of the National Basketball Association.

Chicago, ranked 11th in NBA offense and third in defense, trailed in the first two minutes of the game and allowed Philadelphia a tie later in the contest, but the 76ers couldn't overcome the potent Bulls shooting as Jerry Sloan added 21 points for the winners.

Fred Carter scored a game-high 30 points for Philadelphia as the 76ers lost their 17th game in 26 outings this season.

The Detroit Pistons rallied to edge the Seattle Supersonics, 110-108, in the only other NBA action.

The Pistons, who have now won four in a row, trailed 106-101 with 2:53 remaining but put together two foul shots by Don Adams, five points from Dave Bing and a field goal by Bob Lanier, while Holding the Sonics to two points in the final 3½ minutes.

Bing led the winners and took game honors with 33 points. Spencer Haywood was high for Seattle with 29.

CSLA edges Pepperdine

MALIBU (UPI) — Six-foot-five forward Billy Mallory scored 21 points and grabbed 10 rebounds Thursday night as Cal State Los Angeles edged Pepperdine 63-61.

Billy Williams had 18 points for the Waves, and Chris Thompson scored 16.

Cal State is now 2-2. Pepperdine is winless in two outings.

Trojans hope to regroup after ambush

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A 24-point loss to Utah's Utes hasn't changed Southern California Coach Bob Boyd's mind.

"I'm still very positive about our team," Boyd said Thursday night after his Trojans were walloped 90-66 here. "We're going to win our share of games."

USC acted like it still had its mind on its 100-76 opening season victory over Western Athletic Conference favorite Arizona at Los Angeles last weekend. The Trojans trailed 45-30 at halftime and didn't look like they belonged on the same floor with Utah.

"They beat us in every department," admitted Boyd. "We fumbled the ball all night, we didn't shoot at all and they had seven or eight unmolested layups."

The reason for the Trojans' poor play?

"We were sluggish and maybe it was the altitude," said their coach. "I'm sure, too, we came into the game thinking Utah wasn't as good a team as Arizona."

The Trojans take their 1-1 record to Illinois for a Saturday night game. They're back home the following weekend to play Santa Clara and Arizona State at the Sports Arena.

"We'll have to regroup now," said Boyd, "But I think we can do it. We have a couple of days before our next game and we can use them."

In the Utah game, the winners were led by guards Tickey Burden and Ty Medley, who scored 24 and 21 points, respectively, while Gus Williams paced the Trojans with 15. Reserve Bruce Clark added 10 and Dan Anderson hit nine for USC.

Morgan not talking about UCLA opening

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Athletic Director J. D. Morgan may already know the name of UCLA's next football coach but he's not talking for publication at the moment.

The surprise announcement of the departure of headman Pepper Rodgers to take over at his alma mater Georgia Tech caught Bruin fans by surprise Wednesday but Morgan had an inkling a week ago. It was then that Georgia Tech Athletic Director Bobby Dodd told Morgan he wanted to talk to Rodgers, his old quarterback, about the head coaching job.

Morgan, currently at the Pacific 8 conference meeting in San Francisco, declined comment on a successor to Rodgers who had two good years out of three. He was 2-7-1 his first season, then 8-3 and 9-2 but never could beat the USC Trojans. He got a 7-7 tie in 1971.

Morgan would not have to look far for a man with head coaching experience.

Rodgers' no. 1 assistant and the offensive co-ordinator who installed the Wishbone for the Bruins, was Homer Smith. Smith, 42, a 1954 Princeton graduate, was boss at Davidson College in North Carolina 1965-69 and at the University of Pacific, 1970-71.

Another prospect close at hand is Dick Vermeil, 37, offensive backfield and special teams coach for the Los Angeles Rams. Vermeil served under coach Tommy Prothro at UCLA in 1970.

Prothro, who quit the Bruins and coached the Rams for two seasons before he was fired, says he's not interested in returning to UCLA.

Names thrown by sports writers into the hopper for the UCLA job include Barry Switzer of Oklahoma, Lou Holtz of North Carolina State and Doug Dickey of Florida.

Buffalo Sabre rookie Likes playing rangers

United Press International

Other players might fear playing against the powerful New York Rangers but rookie Rick Dudley of Buffalo seems to savor it.

The young right-winger, who scored his first National Hockey League goal against the Rangers two weeks ago, picked up his first NHL hat trick against them Thursday night as the Sabres whipped New York 8-4. The loss snapped a 10-game New York unbeaten streak.

"That's my lucky team, I guess," Dudley said with a wide grin. "I felt after the first period we were going to beat them. We had a lot more legs than them and when you're skating, you're hard to beat."

In the other two games, Montreal beat the New York Islanders 4-2 and Toronto topped Minnesota 4-1.

Buffalo was down 3-2 after the first period, but Jim Lorentz scored two goals, his ninth and 10th of the season, during a five-goal second period onslaught by Buffalo that gave them a 7-4 lead.

Lorentz also assisted on four of Buffalo's goals to tie Sabres team records for most assists and most points scored in a game.

"We started to play better in the last three or four games," he said. 'I was working hard but nothing was happening. Then things finally started clicking and all kinds of things happened."

Seven of Buffalo's eight goals came off Ed Giacomin, who was replaced by Gilles Villemure in the net after two periods. New York scored three of its four goals against Roger Crozier, who was replaced by Dave Dryden after one period.

Robnett paces Cal Northridge

NORTHRIDGE (UPI) — George Robnett scored 21 points and Reggie Williams added 18 Thursday night to lead Cal State Northridge to a 92-84 win over Stanislaus State.

The win gives Northridge a 21 record. Stanislaus is 0-3.

New Mexico fires Feldman, seeks grid coach

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UPI) — Rudy Feldman was fired Thursday as New Mexico University's football coach.

University President Ferrel Heady said he notified Feldman of his dismissal, effective Jan. 31.

No successor has been chosen and some contractual matters remain to be ironed out between the university and Feldman, who still has three years to go on a five-year contract. Feldman's salary is $25,000 annually.

Feldman said contractual matters were under discussion with school officials. The coach said he has no plans at the present time and declined comment about whether he would be willing to take another job at the school for the remainder of his contract.

In the dismissal letter to Feldman, Heady said, "I regret that we have not been able thus far to reach a mutually satisfactory agreement" on the contract. The university president said he was "requesting the university's legal counsel to continue discussions with you and your counsel on these matters."

Feldman was an assistant coach at Colorado before coming to New Mexico six years ago. His teams have compiled a 24-37-2 record, including a 4-7 mark this season.

Washington State Coach Jim Sweeney was in Albuquerque this week for interviews with university officials about his possible candidacy for the Lobo coaching job. Feldman's chief assistant, Bill Mondt, is also scheduled to be interviewed for the post.

FDA requests consumer aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) asked consumers recently whether they wanted the labels on canned food and vegetables to show what the contents weigh when the liquid is drained off.

The FDA said its own information was too skimpy to make a decision on a Consumers Union petition for the FDA to require such "drained weight" labeling on processed fruits and vegetables.

A spokesman for Consumers Union said he wished the agency had acted sooner on the request but, "We welcome it and we hope consumers will shower the FDA with comments and express their desire for this type of reform."

Gardener's Checklist

1. Start thinking about a gift for your gardening friend. Plants in bloom, an indoor foliage plant, a book on gardening, or a special gadget are good choices.

2. Geraniums will bloom this winter if you bring them indoors by a sunny window and keep them watered.

3. Select a living Christmas tree this week, while supply is still good. Nurserymen have several varieties to offer.

4. Prepare planting beds for new roses. The 1974 varieties will be in nurseries soon.

5. Special crabgrass controls should be applied this month. Your nurseryman will recommend one.

Cyclamen can color dull winter yard

When looking for something extraordinary for the winter garden, don't overlook cyclamen. These cool season charmers will flower from now into spring. They provide a succession of noticeable color.

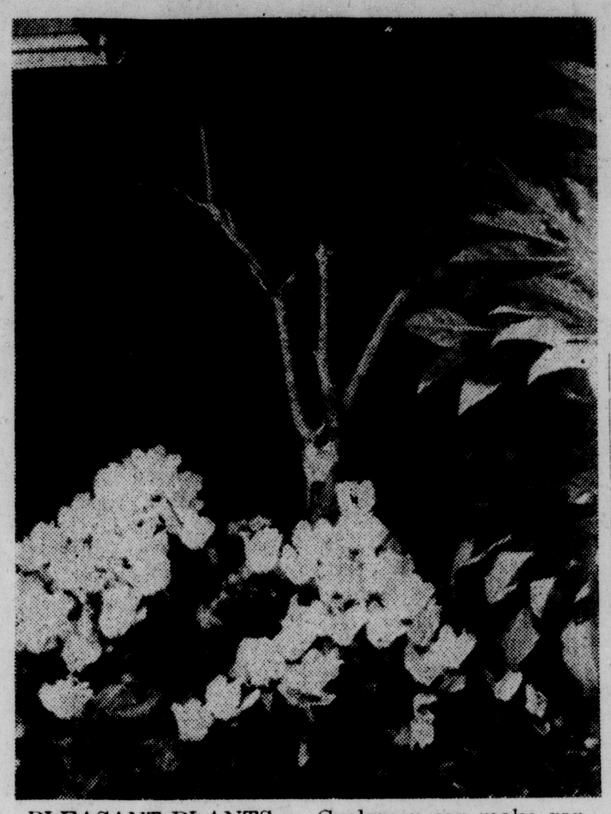
Many Californians have suddenly discovered these time-honored plants which once had the reputation for being an indoor delight, or a tender specimen to grow in a lanai or protected patio.

Cyclamen is hardier than many give it credit for being, according to the California Association of Nurserymen. On a frosty morning, for instance, the flowers may hang their heads, but by afternoon they will perk-up and be exquisite as ever.

Nurseries have cyclamen in several different sizes of containers. Pots of the free-flowering plants are charming decorations for indoor rooms. In the garden, cyclamen shines in a variety of situations: several plants massed for effect create a beautiful border. Tuck in a few plants in front of foundation shrubs, or spot several at random throughout the garden, for colorful accents.

The colors available are sure-to-please. The range goes from glistening white to the deepest violet. There are luscious shades of pink, red and lavender, too.

In coastal gardens, cyclamen will take more sun than in the hot inland valleys, where partial shade is recommended. Planting under an overhead eave or tree affords the needed relief from the sun.



PLEASANT PLANTS — Cyclamen can make gardening a fun, and color-filled, winter experience.

Deciduous trees often overlooked

People who overlook deciduous trees and shrubs for highlighting the landscape are missing the boat. Many Californians shun deciduous plants because they do shed their leaves in winter.

However, the bare framework of the tree or shrub often offers focal interest to the garden; the bareness serves as a reminder of seasonal changes in a land of mild climate — where seasons change so little. Also, a deciduous plant's leafing out after a winter's sleep can be a delightful highlight of spring.

There are several flowering deciduous shrubs generally available to Californians, and worthy of consideration. Some do better than others in a given area; your nurseryman can offer recommendations for local conditions.

Recording stars slated at Swing

SAN BERNARDINO — The fast-rising Loggins and Messina will appear in concert at the Swing Auditorium Dec. 16 at 8 p.m.

Jim Messina first gained attention for his work with the Buffalo Springfield. He went on to play a crucial role in evolving the Poco sound with Richie Furay. After leaving Poco, Messina returned to producing, where he had started before joining Springfield.

Ken Loggins wrote "House at Pooh Corner" for the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band and signed with Columbia as a solo artist. His producer turned out to be Messina, who was so attracted to Loggins' music that he wound up "Sittin' In," the title of their subsequent joint album.

Matthau, Lemmon team up—again

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jack Lemmon and Walter Matthau will co-star for the third time in a remake of "The Front Page," the 1931 Ben Hecht classic which starred Adolph Menjou and Pat O'Brien.

It reflects an obsessive compulsion on Lemmon's part to be overshadowed.

In 1966 Lemmon and Matthau starred in "The Fortune Cookie." Matthau won the critics' praise and an Academy Award.

Two years later they got together in "The Odd Couple." Again Matthau galloped away with the picture. A couple of years ago Lemmon directed Matthau in "Kotch" and Walter was an Oscar prospect once again.

"I get top billing in 'The Front Page' and Walter will steal the picture," Lemmon said happily.

The actors are close friends. They form a mutual admiration society unlike any other in Hollywood. While most male stars fight for billing, close-ups and sometimes even for the leading lady, Matthau and Lemmon could care less.

They will be working for director Billy Wilder who also directed "The Fortune Cookie."

"Walter and I have been looking for another script to do together since 'The Odd Couple,'" Lemmon said. "But it isn't easy to find two good parts that would enable us to use our personal relationship.

"Our affinity for one another evidently shows through on the screen. If two performers have love and respect for each other it is felt by the audience.

"It's difficult to develop the kind of relationship Walter and I have on the screen when I'm working with a total stranger. But we see one another all the time. It makes every scene easier for us to play."

Lemmon, currently starring with Anne Bancroft in "The Prisoner of Second Avenue" at Warner Bros., is as rich in his praise of the actress as he is in his admiration for Matthau.

"Walter is the best actor I've ever worked with," he said. "But I don't think his talent has been fully tapped. I've never seen an actor more professional in his conduct or in control of his craft.

"I envy the ease with which he acts. I find the acting process more difficult. He's not depending on sheer technique. He does all kinds of things fully and immediately."

When it came time for contractual agreements on the billing for "The Front Page" Matthau was as fully established a star as Lemmon.

They share the same agent.

'Cutting in' not polite in Europe

NEW YORK (UPI) — The custom of "cutting in" originated in crowded ballrooms and somehow found its way even into polite society. Quite generally accepted in America, it is considered far from polite in Europe.

STC to stage 'Macbeth'

CLAREMONT — The School of Theology at Claremont will present Shakespeare's "Macbeth" in the theater of the communications building at 8:15 p.m. next Thursday through Saturday.

The tragedy will be directed by B..l Beason, an STC student who majored in theater arts at Illinois College.

John Rice will play Macbeth and Ann Knight, Lady Macbeth. Others in the cast are David Graham, Macduff; Jon Goman, King Duncan, and Bill Young, Malcom.

STRIKE UP THE BAND! — Toy Soldiers from the Disney film, "Babes in Toyland," march down Disneyland's Main Street during Christmastime performances of "Fantasy on Parade." The pageant includes the characters from many Disney movies—Dumbo, Winnie the Pooh, Alice in Wonderland and others. "Fantasy on Parade" will premiere at 9 p.m. Dec. 21. Parades will be held at 2 and 9 p.m. daily through Jan. 1 except for Dec. 24, 25 and 31 and Jan. 1 when only the afternoon procession will be seen. Actor Cary Grant will narrate "The First Christmas," backed by a 1,000-voice choir at 6 p.m. Dec. 21 and 22. Jose Feliciano plays at the Tomorrowland Stage Dec. 21 and 23.

Sponsors losing grip on TV broadcasts

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Sponsors are not as personally identified with specific television shows as they used to be, and that's both good and bad.

It's good because backward sponsors no longer have as much power to strangle the creative elements in a program or series. But it's bad because enlightened advertisers who were identified with certain shows generally had more power than nowadays to tell meddling network executives to go fly a kite.

Overall, considering the mentality of most advertisers, it's probably more good than bad that sponsors generally don't control individual broadcasts as much as they did.

Certain sponsors, usually enlightened ones, maintain a close identification with network programs they back entirely on their own. The Hallmark firm, of course, is one. Its periodic series of NBC-TV specials, the "Hallmark Hall of Fame," has distinguished itself for years, and done the firm nothing but good.

Every so often, an advertiser that backs a show fully will also do itself—and the public— some good by taking a particularly enlightened attitude in its style and restraint in the use of commercials.

For example, when ABC-TV's new production of Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" is presented Dec. 16 with Katharine Hepburn, the sponsoring IBM Corp. will, according to the network, interrupt it "only once for commercials."

Says ABC-TV: "IBM has scheduled the commercial 'intermission' at the point which marked the end of the first act, as originally written, in order to preserve the mood and dramatic action as conceived by playwright Williams."

The Xerox Corp. has, of course, long been considered one of video's honored "America" series is an example of its taste and discernment in programming.

And on Jan. 3, Xerox will be the sole sponsor of an hour NBC-TV documentary about the high cost of college education. The title of the broadcast is "The College Money Crunch." Formerly it was called "Colleges and The Middle Class." Edward Neuman is the reporter.

Speaking of money, "Bill Moyer's Journal," a series of video's noncommercial network, has a provocative sounding program Wednesday described in advance publicity as "a report on the role that banking institutions play in the deterioration of inter city communities."

According to the program summary, "Moyers examines two banking policies which, he says, 'contribute wittingly and unwittingly to neighborhood decay" . . . red-lining (denying conventional loans and mortgages to entire geographic areas) and its corollary, disinvestment (the process of taking money out of one community in order to invest it in another.

"Without home improvement loans, conventional mortgages and business loans, a declining neighborhood is easily pushed into its death throes."

In a less significant area of commerce, an expected new NBC-TV series starring Dan Rowan and Dick Martin of "Laugh-In" fame will not be on the network's midseason schedule. The show business trade press reports that negotiations regarding the series were unsuccessful.

Over at ABC-TV, meanwhile, the negotiations that landed noted producer Joseph Papp for at least two dramatic specials should result in some talked about shows for television. A powerful force in the theatre, Papp, in the past year, was represented on CBS-TV by two highly discussed productions, "Much Ado About Nothing" and "Sticks and Bones."

GREEK TRAGEDY — Charlie Dougherty as Jason, confronts Evanne Christian, right, as Medea, while the nurse, Ruth Howe, looks on in a scene from the Four Colleges Players production of Euripides' "Medea." The tragedy will be staged in Balch Hall, Scripps College, at 8 o'clock tonight, Saturday and Sunday. Jesse Swan directs.

The Panama Canal was opened in 1914.

Gas rationing unlikely, says energy chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government appeared determined today to put off gasoline rationing as long as possible — if not forever — with the emphasis on higher prices to discourage consumption.

President Nixon's new energy chief, William E. Simon, said Thursday that if rationing ever is used, it will not be before March 1. Chairman Herbert L. Stein of the President's economic council made clear today a preference for so-called price rationing.

Some major opponents of a direct rationing system have contended that an unwieldy new bureaucracy would have to be constructed to handle it, and also that by allowing prices to go up, the effect would be self-rationing by users unwilling to pay the costs.

Higher prices for diesel fuel already have caused some major disruptions of traffic on key highways by independent truckers conducting protest blockages. Most of these appeared to have ended today, but some truckers began using a new tactic in Ohio —forming parallel, slowmoving caravans of rigs that had much the same effect.

Cable found guilty on pot charge

UPLAND — Roger Cable, 35, an owner of the Cable Airport here, was convicted Thursday in Riverside Superior Court of transporting marijuana in his airplane.

The conviction was the result of a marijuana smuggling arrest May 31 at Banning Airport by Banning police and Riverside County deputy sheriffs.

Convicted with Cable on a separate charge of possessing marijuana was James Thomas Boyle, 23, of Costa Mesa, a passenger in the plane that Cable was reportedly using.

Judge John Neblett ordered both men to appear for probation hearings and sentencing in his courtroom Jan. 11. Both are free on bond.

Officers said at the time of the arrest that they found nearly 800 pounds of marijuana in the hangar which Cable used to store his plane at Banning.

Cable, member of a well-known Southland aviation family, soared into prominence in 1967, when he started Cable Commuter Airlines, a busy feeder service to major airlines, as well as a short flight opeation. The airline was bought by Golden West Airlines in 1969.

At the time of his arrest, Cable gave his occupation as a self-employed salesman. The Cable family has been operating the airport here since 1945.

U.S. remembers Pearl Harbor with prayers

PEARL HARBOR (UPI) — A group of Americans bowed their heads in prayer today over the quiet Pearl Harbor waters at the exact moment of the Japanese attack on a sunny morning 32 years ago.

The United States plunged into World War II 32 years ago today when Japanese planes bombed Pearl Harbor in a sneak attack that took 2,335 American lives and severely crippled the Pacific Fleet.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt called Dec. 7, 1941 "a date which will live in infamy."

The first bombs fell at 7:55 a.m. Hawaii time. The huge harbor became a holocaust with ships blowing to pieces and walls of flame racing across the oily waters.

More than 2,000 of the American dead were Navy men, and more than half of them were aboard the battleship Arizona. Eighteen of 46 U.S. warships were destroyed or badly crippled, and only 38 of 384 American planes got off the ground.

The United States was flung headlong into World War II.

5 men, 3 women caught in rolling stakeout

8 booked in Pomona burglary

By JACK BURSON
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — A rolling stakeout by Los Angeles police, which included use of a helicopter, resulted in the arrest of eight persons caught burglarizing McMahon's Furniture Co. here early today, authorities said.

All the persons arrested, five men and three women, are from Los Angeles and are suspects in burglaries there. They were jailed here after their arrest at 4 a.m. They are:

Robert Sims, 19, a shipping clerk; Robert Robertson, 20, a checker; Samuel Jackson, 24, a landscaper; Leon Glover, 32, a telephone operator; Paulette Geneva Rivera, 21, a waitress; Sandra Jean Sims, 21 a babysitter; Dedra Marshall, 19, an assembler, and a 17-year-old youth.

Authorities gave the following account.

Los Angeles police began surveillance of the suspects several weeks ago. The stakeout teams followed them by car and often by helicopter, hovering 5,000 feet above the vehicles.

Thursday night, LAPD officers followed the suspects from Los Angeles to Pomona. They watched the suspects in several vehicles, including a camper, drive around Pomona and then Claremont and later Ontario.

Eventually they returned to Pomona and parked at the rear of McMahon's at 505 Pomona Mall East. Then the suspects, still being observed by LAPD officers, waited for a train to pass just behind the store and as it did, kicked in the back door.

The men and women immediately raced inside and began removing television sets, stereo equipment and clock-radios. The items taken amounted to about $2,100.

The break-in was accomplished despite a 100-watt light burning over the door and a ringing burglary alarm. The scheme apparently called for quick entrance, flooding the place with persons to carry out items and quick escape. Similar burglaries have been accomplished in less than eight minutes.

The items were quickly loaded into the vehicles and driven away. The suspects were stopped by Los Angeles officers, and Pomona police who had joined them, at Garey Avenue and Philadelphia Street. They surrendered to about 17 officers without incident.

Police said that after the arrests, several shotguns were found in the rear of the camper. They said the guns are believed to have been taken in an earlier burglary in Los Angeles.

Tense Middle East situation

Dayan here for urgent talks with Kissinger

By United Press International

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan flew to Washington today for urgent talks with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. Dayan said there was tension on the battlefronts but that it would not destroy the cease-fire nor prevent the convening of the Geneva peace conference.

Similar assurance that the Geneva conference would begin Dec. 18 as scheduled came from Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi who ended days of uncertainty over the Egyptian position by saying in a Swedish television interview that Egypt would go to Geneva "and hope for speedy and decisive results."

Kissinger told a Washington news conference Thursday it was "extremely probable" the Arab-Israeli peace conference would open and that it most likely would begin with discussion of "problems of a military nature." He said the Russians were cooperating very well in the work of setting up the conference and that if this attitude continues into substantive negotiations it offered real hope that an Arab-Israeli peace could be reached.

The Middle East situation remained so explosive that the Israeli and Egyptian armies were on a war footing along the Suez Canal. There has been a rash of cease-fire violations and an aerial battle Thursday in which Israel and Egypt each reported shooting down an enemy plane. It was the first dogfight since the cease-fire.

Ontario woman arrested in shooting of her husband

ONTARIO — A 23-year-old Ontario woman was booked in the West End Sheriff's Jail today on suspicion of attempted murder after her husband was shot in the neck following an argument at 552 W. Vesta St., Apartment 7.

Paul Ham, 25, the husband was listed in satisfactory condition at the Doctor's Hospital in Montclair. Doctors said Ham will have to undergo surgery to remove the bullet which lodged in his chest.

Mrs. Phyllis Rae Ham, 23, was arrested by police a few minutes after the 4:25 a.m. shooting.

Police officer Robert Britt said he responded to the Vesta Street area after a man called to report a shooting in the apartments.

Britt said he entered the bedroom of the apartment and found Mrs. Ham standing over her husband with a bathroom towel in her hand trying to stop his bleeding.

A family friend told officers that Ham and his wife had been separated for some time, but met each other at the apartment this morning. Britt was directed to a trash can where the woman had reportedly trhown a .25-caliber automatic pistol. Officers said it appeared one round had been fired from the pistol and another round was jammed in the chamber. It failed to fire.

The shooting is still under investigation, Britt said.

State OKs '55' limit for Jan. 1; will study more drastic measures

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California motorists will have to de-accelerate to 55 miles an hour on New Year's Day as a first emergency step toward easing a 30 per cent gasoline shortage.

It will mean added driving times from Los Angeles of 25 minutes to San Diego, 1 hour to Las Vegas and 1½ hours to San Francisco. It will take another hour to travel from Bakersfield to Sacramento. And San Francisco motorists will spend an additional 20 minutes driving to Sacramento and 40 minutes to Lake Tahoe.

The legislature, with varying degrees of seriousness, also is talking about more drastic measures when it reconvenes in January —such as disconnecting automobile air conditioners, requiring car pools, imposing gas rationing, delaying installation of new anti-smog devices and the state taking over ownership of California-produced oil.

Cutting the maximum speed limit from 65 m.p.h. to 55 m.p.h. is expected to reduce total gasoline consumption in this freeway-oriented state by 3 per cent—or 300 million gallons annually.

For individual automobiles used to zipping along at 70 m.p.h. —the pre-December maximum limit on many freeway stretches —the gas savings will be 15 per cent.

Both houses of the legislature, just before recessing a special three-day session until Jan. 7, passed the 55 m.p.h. bill Thursday and sent it to Gov. Ronald Reagan for his routine signature.

Reagan will sign the measure "within the next few days," his office said.

The bill (AB1969) by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, passed the Senate 27-4 with no votes to spare. The Assembly, on a 63-4 vote, then concurred in a Senate amendment putting the bill into effect Jan. 1.

Sponsors originally had hoped to cut speeds this weekend, but decided to wait until Jan. 1 to provide time for buses to change schedules and for workmen to replace 2,500 road signs.

"There's no way we can lose passing this bill," Morretti told his colleagues.

Besides saving gasoline, Moretti said, motorists should be entitled to lower car insurance rates because accident claims will "drop sharply as people drive less and do their driving at lower speeds."

The Reagan administration testified before the Senate Transportation Committee, which Thursday approved the bill 7 to 1, that the highway fatality rate doubles each time speed increases by 10 m.p.h., and that cutting back to 55 m.p.h. may help to relieve congestion by smoothing traffic flow.

Affected by the new speed limit, which could stay on the books until June 30, 1975, will be automobiles, buses, motorcycles and trailerless trucks. There already is a 55 m.p.h. speed limit for trucks and automobiles pulling trailers.

There was no organized opposition to the bill, which was whisked through the legislature in unusual speed.

But a few legislators questioned the "band-aid" approach of merely reducing the speed limit without taking more drastic actions.

Summing up the proponents' argument, Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, said both short and long range solutions were needed.

"Let's grow our own oil and increase our chances for peace (in the Mideast) instead of scrapping around for it in some foreign land," said Petris. "Meanwhile, let's slow down a bit and think."

Two Chicago papers urge impeachment

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Chicago Sun-Times and the Chicago Daily News, two newspapers published by Marshall Field, today called for Congress to impeach President Nixon.

The Sun-Times, in an editorial in its morning edition, said that with the swearing in of Gerald Ford as vice president, the "continuity of the Presidency has been assured ... there is no longer any reason for Congress to delay the vigorous pursuit of impeachment proceedings against President Nixon."

"The President's culpability seems to us to be beyond question," the newspaper said. "But it is only through the impeachment procedure that his guilt or innocence can be established."

Fears of conviction lead man to suicide

SAN BRUNO (UPI) — Krimpin Wright, 18, committed suicide Thursday by wrapping wires around himself and plugging an extension cord into a ceiling light fixture.

150-pound youth lifts burning auto to rescue trapped driver

SAN MATEO (UPI) — A heroic young chimney sweep lifted up the burning end of a Ford sedan on the busy Bayshore Freeway so that a man trapped underneath could be pulled free.

The action by James Brooks, 17, San Jose, "without a doubt" saved the life of Roger Anderson, 43, according to California Highway Patrol officer Ernest Warren.

Anderson had pulled off the highway Thursday when he noticed his left rear brake drum was on fire. He got a can of water from the trunk of his car with which to douse the flames. To do so, he climbed under the car.

Once he was under the car, the tire blew up from the heat and the car fell on Anderson's head, trapping him and nearly severing an ear.

He yelled for help as the flames crept closer to his face —and the gas tank.

A pickup truck stopped and Brooks, 17, who weighs 150 pounds lifted up the back of the Ford Galaxie, held it in place with his knees and then he and a companion, Ervin (Rocky) Lane, 39, also of San Jose, freed Anderson.

Doctors at a local hospital sowed Anderson's ear back in place, treated him for minor facial burns and released him.

The fire was extinguished and Patrolman Warren promised to recommend the two San Jose men for heroism awards.

First day on the job as vice president

Ford issues plea for bi-partisan cooperation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On his first full day as vice president, Gerald R. Ford took care of his only constitutional duty —presiding over the Senate —in a matter of 12 minutes today.

But he will still be devoting a large part of his time on Capitol Hill, where he served in Congress for 25 years, in fencemending efforts on behalf of President Nixon.

Ford, who took office Thursday as the nation's 40th vice president, called the Senate to order at 10 a. m. and after recognizing three members for brief statements, turned the gavel over to freshman Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa. The practice is traditionally followed by vice presidents.

One of the prime roles of the former House Republican leader now is expected to be to try to repair President Nixon's heavily damaged relationship with both Republicans and Democrats in Congress.

In a brief speech after his swearing in at a joint session Thursday evening, Ford dedicated himself to "the rule of law and justice for all Americans.'

With Nixon sitting silently nearby, the new vice president sounded a plea for bipartisan cooperation with the Democratic controlled Congress.

As today's Senate session opened, Ford recognized Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield to clear a number of routine nominations by unanimous consent.

He then recognized Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott for brief remarks on the expected return of major league baseball to Washington and also recognized Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S. D., for a few words on a bill he was introducing.

Ford then gave way to Clark as presiding officer.

While this was going on, House Republicans met and unanimously elected Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona as new minority leader to succeed Ford.

Rhodes said a major goal of his leadership would be to try to exercise more Congressional influence on White House policy-making, indicating he would be talking about this soon with Ford.

The 60-year-old congressman under six administrations became the first vice president to be confirmed by Congress under the 25th amendment. He was sworn in by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, his hand on a Bible belonging to his seminary student son Michael and held by his wife Betty.

Michael and his brothers Jack and Steven sat in the VIP gallery with their sister Susan, who brushed away tears of emotion.

The new vice president made no mention of the dramatic events leading up to his elevation to the nation's second highest office—the resignation in disgrace eight weeks ago of Spiro T. Agnew after pleading no contest to a charge of tax evasion.

"I am a Ford not a Lincoln," he said. "My addresses will never be as eloquent as Lincoln's. But I will do my best to equal his brevity and plain speaking."

Ford pledged "my support and loyalty" to the President in his "crushing and lonely burdens." To the assembled Supreme Court and others he pledged "my dedication to the rule of law and equal justice for all Americans."

His voice cracked with emotion referring to his children and wife —"standing by my side as she always has, there are no words to tell you ... how much their being here means to me."

The eyes of Mrs. Ford, who was striking in a brilliant orange two piece dress, never left her husband's face as he spoke.

Ford's voice cracked and stumbled during the oath of office but his performance was otherwise flawless.

Not so the unprecedented occasion which saw some disorganized moments in the seating of diplomats and Supreme Court justices.

Nixon said nothing during the ceremony.

The ceremony, televised live on all three major networks, came barely an hour after the House Republican leader won overwhelming confirmation from his colleagues by a vote of 387 to 35.

Opposition came entirely from Democrats. Of 16 blacks in the House, only Rep. Andrew Young, D-Ga., voted for Ford.

Ford earlier had won Senate approval 92 to 3, with opposition coming only from Democrats — Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri and William D. Hathaway of Maine.

Biggest unemployment increase in 21 months

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Unemployment rose in November to 4.7 per cent from 4.5 per cent, biggest increase in 21 months, and is expected to go even higher this winter as the fuel shortage causes more layoffs, the government said today.

Officials said they did not believe last month's employment statistics, gathered during the week of Nov. 11-17, had yet reflected much joblessness resulting from oil shortages caused by the Arab oil boycott.

Spokesmen for the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said layoffs caused by the fuel shortage should start showing up to some degree in the December employment report, which will be released in January, and to a larger degree in the January report.

The number of workers holding jobs showed little actual change in November. The total fell by 7,000 to 85.7 million.

However, the number of unemployed increased by 195,000 because about that many additional workers joined the labor force.

The jobs report followed by a day other gloomy economic news in the form of a report showing an increase last month in wholesale prices of almost 2 per cent, caused by zooming fuel costs running close to four times the biggest previous one-month rises.

The wholesale fuel price increases —ranging from close to 7 per cent for coal, nearly 35 per cent for gasoline and 45 per cent for diesel fuel —more than offset a decline in wholesale food prices.

Herbert L. Stein, chairman of President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers said today he felt food prices would continue to register favorable trends, and possibly might even decline by the end of 1974. But he foresaw further fuel increases.

Stein maintained that favorable food price trends would far exceed the negative effect on the average worker's paycheck of increases in fuel prices. Gasoline, he said, accounts for only about 3 per cent of the worker's budget compared to up to 25 per cent by food.

The BLS said the increased unemployment was almost entirely among adult women and among men between ages 16 and 24.

The unemployment increase from 4.5 in October to 4.7 per cent was the largest for one month since March, 1972, when the rate also increased 0.2 per cent — from 5.7 up to 5.9. There had not been a larger increase since December, 1970.

BLS officials said today they now believe a 0.3 per cent dip in October from the 4.8 per cent unemployment level in September may have been what some statisticians call an aberration.

Except for October, the jobless rate since June had been at either 4.8 or 4.7 per cent.

But BLS officials agreed with predictions with private economists as well as President Nixon's economic experts that unemployment would be increasing in coming months, because an expected general slowdown in the economy, aggravated by the Arab oil boycott.

Stein has predicted joblessness may increase to as much as 6 per cent next year if the Arab boycott continues through 1974. Some private economists have predicted an 8 per cent unemployment rate.

The BLS said joblessness among white wokers edged up in November to 4.2 per cent from 4.1 per cent while the rate for black workers increased substantially more —from 8.3 up to 9.1 per cent.

Rocky to quit soon

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Times quoted aides of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today as saying he plans to resign before the end of the year to devote all his time in a bid for the 1976 GOP presidential nomination.

House approves bill easing way to name Saxbe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House gave final Congressional approval today to a bill designed to eliminate a constitutional obstacle to the nomination of Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio to be attorney general.

President Nixon has been holding up actually nominating Saxbe to replace Elliot Richardson until Congress passed a law lowering the attorney general's salary from $60,000 a year to $35,000.

Final approval was voted without objection after the Senate removed a nonrelated section attached by the House earlier this week to reform the congressional franking privilege.

The measure provides for a quick court test of the constitutionality of the legislative action. Opponents of the measure claim that the Constitution bars Saxbe from taking office and nothing short of a constitutional amendment can change that.

At issue is a clause in the Constitution which prohibits a member of Congress from serving in any federal office while the salary for the post was increased during his elected term.

Chapin pleads innocent to 4-count indictment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former presidential appointments secretary Dwight L. Chapin pleaded innocent today to a four-count indictment that he lied to a federal Watergate grand jury about Republican-sponsored 1972 campaign "dirty tricks."

"I plead not guity," Chapin said as he was arraigned before District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell.

Gesell released Chapin on personal recognizance and in a routine order, ordered Chapin to surrender his passport and not leave the United States.

Chapin, wearing a gray pinstriped suit, white shirt, and wine figured tie, sat in the courtroom quietly for several minutes before Gesell began the proceedings.

"I have no sense of regret," Chapin told reporters outside the court house after the hearing. "I only have a deep desire on behalf of my family, parents and friends to see that the trial is brought foreward quickly and my innocence is proved. The important thing is I am innocent and other facts will be brought out in the trial."

Gesell set a trial date of Feb. 19 and said he would hear pretrial motions Jan. 31.

Gesell granted Chapin's lawyer, Jacob Stein, permission to argue for dismissal of the indictment on grounds of prejudicial pretrial publicity, for a change of venue and to challenge the legality of the grand jury that returned the indictment.

He further ordered that Chapin be provided a copy of the secret grand jury minutes pertaining to his case unless prosecutors can show a good reason why they should be kept confidential.

He was indicted Nov. 29 on four counts charging he made false declarations last April 11 when he testified about the activities of Donald H. Segretti.

Each count carries a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Segretti, a former Treasury Department lawyer and college friend of Chapin, is serving a six-month sentence after pleading guilty to distributing illegal campaign literature in the 1972 Florida primary.

Close Ohio Turnpike in truck protest

By United Press International

The Ohio Highway Patrol today closed a 32-mile section of the Ohio Turnpike between Toledo and Fremont to the east for six hours because of slow moving traffic as truck drivers continued their protest against the rising cost of diesel fuel and low speed limits.

The turnpike section was reopened about 10:30 a.m. although the Toledo exit remained closed because of a large number of tractor-trailer rigs in the area.

Turnpike Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy said it was expected the highway patrol would be able to disperse the 400 trucks concentrated at the Toledo exit by "the end of the day."

The Patrol closed the Toledo-Fremont section when trucks moved along it at a slow rate of speed, slowing other traffic.

"Traffic was moving so slow so we just shut it down," said Lt. W.A. Stern of the Ohio Highway Patrol headquarters in Columbus.

Angry truckers in Arkansas and South Dakota warned of nationwide action next week.

The independent truckers, complaining of higher fuel costs and lower speed limits, have parked on major expressways and closed them to traffic for hours at a time in several states from Arkansas to Connecticut for the past four days.

In Ohio, where truckers blocked two major thoroughfares all night long, Gov. John J. Gilligan sent riot equipped state patrolmen to clear the roads. Officers smashed windows and used tear gas to clear the Ohio Turnpike, and 27 drivers were arrested. Police said 1,700 trucks were in blockades on Ohio highways at the peak of Thursday's demonstration.

By nightfall, truckers were gathering alongside some Ohio highways, but authorities reported traffic flowing smoothly. Other states where truckers deliberately snarled expressway traffic periodically during the week were Virginia, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Deleware, Michigan, New York and New Jersey.

In South Dakota, irate truckers blocked half of the eastbound lane of interstate 90 for three hours Thursday. State police did not try to make the truck drivers move, but instead routed traffic around them.

Murder suspects face another trial

SAN FRANCISCO — Betty Jean Hobson and Robert Seabock, both of Palo Alto, on trial for the alleged murder of a Chino prison guard and freeing of a prisoner, face yet another trial in U.S. District Court here on charges of harboring a prisoner.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert F. Peckman said he would wait until their murder trail ends in Los Angeles, probably sometime in January, before he schedules a federal trial in San Francisco.

Mrs. Hobson and Seabock are now on trial in a high-security courtroom in Los Angeles. They are accused of killing California Institution for Men prison guard Jesus Sanchez and freeing CIM prisoner Ronald Wayne Beaty on Oct. 6, 1972.

Mrs. Hobson, Seabock and two other persons, allegedly having ties with a Maoist revolutionary group called Venceremos, were indicted on federal charges of harboring a prisoner about the same time they were arrested in the Chino case.

Mrs. Smith collected 2,921 votes to 2,830 for Block and 2,349 for Mrs. McDonald.

Mrs. McDonald and Block are former planning commissioners while Mrs. Smith served on the parks and recreation commission.

Crash bruises cyclist; machine lost to flames

UPLAND — A 23-year-old Upland man escaped injury Thursday night when the motorcycle he was riding while being pursued by Upland police went out of control, crashed and caught fire on Foothill Boulevard near San Bernardino Road.

Robert Doyle Neeper of 835 N. Third Ave. was arrested seconds after the crash, accused of reckless driving. He was booked in the West End Jail and later released on bail.

Policeman Mike McCarthy said he was patrolling Memorial Park about 11 p.m. when he observed two custom "chopped down" motorcycles apparently engaging in a drag race east on Foothill Boulevard. McCarthy said he gave chase, turning on his red light and siren. One motorcycle continued east on Foothill Boulevard while the other turned south on Grove Avenue. McCarthy said he chased the biker on Grove Avenue.

The motorcyclist turned left off of Grove Avenue onto San Bernardino Road eastbound. McCarthy said he saw the cyclist lose control of the cycle at San Bernardino Road and Foothill Boulevard and fall. The cycle skidding down the road in a shower of sparks with its rider getting up off the ground and chasing after it on foot.

A witness, Rudy Vidaurri of San Bernardino, went into a bar and called for an ambulance and then went back outside to observe the motorcyclist attempting to put out the fire which engulfed the motorcycle. McCarthy said that he and Vidaurri had to restrain Neeper, who was screaming "put out the fire, put out the fire."

Neeper suffered only minor scrapes when he fell off his motorcycle. McCarthy said that the motorcycle was completely customized and probably valued at several thousand dollars. It was a total loss.

A motorist passing the accident scene stopped and attempted to put out the fire with several police fire extinguishers. He said none of them worked.

Attempted murder charged

Restaurant shooting suspect is arraigned

POMONA — Daniel David Morgan, 27, was arraigned Thursday in Pomona Municipal Court, charged with attempted murder in the wounding Tuesday night of restaurant manager John W. Clifford, 27.

Morgan was arraigned before Judge James H. Piatt, who scheduled his preliminary hearing Dec. 12. Morgan was ordered held in lieu of $20,000 bail.

The victim was wounded in the back and one ear as he crouched inside his car on the parking lot of Bob's Big Boy, 221 W. Holt Ave., where he is the manager. He was released Thursday from Pomona Valley Community Hospital, where he had been under treatment.

Police said the shooting, in which two shots from a .22-caliber rifle were fired through the car windshield and two others through the door, may have been related to a job application Morgan filed at the restaurant recently.

House fire damage is $12,000

POMONA — A youngster playing with matches may have caused a fire Thursday morning that did $12,000 damage to the Cleavland Green residence at 303 Decker St.

Severe heat and smoke damage was reported throughout the structure that was valued at $20,000.

The house is owned by Bruce Mulhurn of Bellflower.

Beautiful weekend predicted

Beautiful weekend weather is forecast for Pomona Valley with temperatures approaching 80 degrees today and Saturday.

The fair and sunny weather should continue through Sunday. Nighttime lows will be near 40 degrees.

Jim Christopherson, forecaster for the National Weather Service office, said the local weather is possibly the best in the state. Rain is falling today in areas of Northern California and it is cloudy and cool in other parts of Southern California.

Man in cast beats, rapes local woman

POMONA — A young Pomona housewife told police Thursday she was kidnaped, beaten and raped by a man wearing a plaster cast on one arm.

The victim, 20 years old, said the man forced his way into her car after forcing her to the curb near Hansen and Grand avenues Wednesday night. She said he drove to a parking area near General Dynamics Pomona where she managed to slip from the car. But, she said, he caught her and slugged her several times, using the cast as a weapon. Then he forced her back into the car.

The young woman said he drove to San Dimas where the attack took place. Later he was picked up by another man in a car.

The victim was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital where she was treated for injuries to her face.

Man dies in flaming auto crash

The victim was Gerald Robert Bramlett of 7770 Paramount Court.

The single vehicle mishap occurred about 5:30 p.m. on San Bernardino Avenue east of Rochester Avenue where construction on the Devore Freeway is taking place.

According to authorities, Bramlett was eastbound on San Bernardino Avenue when he went into the construction zone, struck some barricades and lost control of his vehicle, which rolled over and caught fire. Bramlett was trapped inside the burning car.

Table tennis, race car tourneys slated

UPLAND — Table tennis and model race car fans will have plenty of action this weekend.

On Saturday, the Upland Recreation Department will hold the annual Pioneer Derby beginning at 10 a.m. at the Town Center kiosk.

Boys and girls 12 and under will be competing for best performance and best designed model race cars in the five-and six-ounce divisions.

First place trophies and second, third and fourth place ribbons will be awarded.

On Sunday, the city's first invitational table tennis tournament will be held beginning at 9 a.m. in the Upland High School gym.

Spaces are still open in most categories and interested persons may enter the tournament at the gym. The fee per event is $1 for juniors 17 and under, and $2 for seniors 18 and over.

Players are asked to bring their own paddles and tennis shoes. All other equipment will be furnished.

Both events are open to the public at no charge.

$1.9 million in tickets

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Fines amounting to $1.9 million were levied in Oregon for hazardous traffic violations on state highways during 1971-72.

Condominium nixed again

CLAREMONT — The Planning Commission has reaffirmed its denial of a request from H.B. W. Enterprises Inc. for a 20-unit condominium project at Seventh Street and Yale Avenue.

The applicant had appealed an earlier denial of the planners, and when representative Howard Weiner presented a plan at the Nov. 27 City Council meeting which eliminates two of the 20 units, the council referred the revised plan back to the commission for comments.

The planners said that if H. B. W. Enterprises, Inc. officials want consideration of the revised plan, they should ask for a public hearing.

The council continued its hearing on the appeal to Jan. 8.

In other actions, the commission voted on the following:

—Approved a tentative tract map for Lewis Homes of California of 52 lots on 19.9 acres south of Bluefield Drive and east of Mills Avenue.

A condition of the map is that the developer dedicate a 10-foot wide easement along the south property line to provide for a bridle trail connecting with a Lewis development to the east.

—Recommended that the city's general plan be amended by designating the northeast corner of Arrow Highway and Claremont Boulevard as industrial to conform to its present zoning.

The 3.34-acre lot had been designated as limited commercial because the city believes a neighborhood shopping center would be needed to serve the single-family residences and the college student population.

The city staff meanwhile stated the site is not particularly desirable or necessary for commercial use, and recommended the change to industrial. The land to the east in Montclair is zoned industrail.

—Recommended that the general plan designation for a triangular-shaped lot bounded by Arrow Highway, Elder Drive and Green Street be changed from residential to limited comercial. The staff said it is "unrealistic to think that the property would be used ultimately for residential purposes."

—Recommended that the council change the general plan designation of property at 601, 633 and 655 E. Foothill Blvd. (the northeast corner of Mills Avenue and Foothill Boulevard) to residential-office-commercial mix. The general plan presently designates the service station at the corner as highway commercial, and an apartment building and an artist studio to the east as residential with 10 to 20 units an acre. The property is zoned highway commercial.

—Recommended that the general plan designation for the former Claremont Lumber Co. property at 103 Berkeley Avenue be changed from residential (6 to 10 units an acre) to industrial. The property is zoned industrial.

Prince Charles in auto crash

LONDON (UPI) — A car driven by Prince Charles Thursday collided with two other autos, a Buckingham Palace spokesman said. No one was hurt.

The accident happened outside the home of Mrs. Leonard Guppy of Preston, who said, "When I arrived home, there were police everywhere."

The palace spokesman said the prince continued his journey in another vehicle. He had been driving from Portland, where he is attending a naval course.

Golden pardon in 1929 fraud

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Harry Golden, the author of "Only in America," Thursday received a presidential pardon on two mail fraud convictions and promptly registered to vote, the first time he has done so in 44 years.

Now 71, Golden was convicted in 1929 on two counts of defrauding clients of his brokerage firm. He was also given a five-year probated sentence in 1946 after pleading guilty to using the mails to defraud a hotel.

Despite the pardon, which was first requested in 1969, Golden had been eligible to vote for years, it turned out. North Carolina authorities said when he came to the state in 1941 the law allowed those convicted elsewhere to vote regardless.

The cigar-chomping writer gained note with his newspaper, "The Carolina Israelite," which he started in 1942, after leaving the staff of the Charlotte Observer, and closed down in 1968.

Injured woman gets Nixon note

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — A Presidential get-well note did a little something Thursday to ease the pain of an aging widow who broke her hip changing light bulbs to conserve electricity.

Maude Chamberlain, 82, said President Nixon's recent television appeal to help save power prompted her to switch the 100 watt light bulbs in her home to 60 watts. She toppled from a stepladder, though, and wound up with a fractured hip.

Her get-well note from the President read: "Today I learned of the accident which you suffered as a result of your intentions to help in our nation's energy crisis. I understand that you continue to remain cheerful despite the setback, and Mrs. Nixon and I want to join your many friends in sending you our warm wishes as you work to get well."

Wambaugh has round in court

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Joseph Wambaugh, the novelist-policeman, Thursday won a round in court when a judge denied a bid to stop distribution of "The Onion Field," his latest book.

Gregory Ulas Powell, who is appealing his 1969 conviction for killing a Los Angeles policeman, said in a Superior Court suit that distribution of the book, a nonfiction work dealing with his case, would prejudice prospective jurors if he is tried again.

"There are millions of people in this country who don't read books," said Judge David A. Thomas.

Scali released from hospital

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Two weeks after a vital heart bypass operation, John Scali, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, was released Thursday from the Arizona Heart Institute.

Scali told newsmen he felt fine after the open heart surgery but for the next few weeks he would recuperate at a nearby desert ranch before resuming his U.N. duties "full blast."

Dr. Edward Diethrich, chief of the surgical team, said the ambassador had been on the verge of suffering a heart attack when he arrived 16 days ago.

Teamsters sue actor McMahon

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Teamsters Union has sued Ed McMahon, announcer on the Johnny Carson Show, and several others for $6.8 million for allegedly failing to improve the union's image in a multimedia promotion campaign.

The civil suit accused McMahon, Nick Torzeski and the American on the Move Productions, Inc., with using $1.8 million in Teamster money for their own enterprises.

The union said it wants the promotional money back plus $2.5 million for damage to its reputation and another $2.5 million for punitive damages.

Dissident says change possible

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Four of the Chicago Seven defendants were freed Thursday on contempt charges, but a fifth, Tom Hayden, said he remained skeptical of the American judicial system.

Hayden conceded, though, that he had a new feeling that "things can be changed" in the United States.

"If there had been no popular support—no 500 demonstrations at the end of the (1969) trial— I'm not sure we would have ever gotten bail. I'm confident now that things can be changed...but it is impossible without the ability to carry out a very long struggle."

Campaign fund changes urged

MORRISTOWN, Tenn. (UPI) — Helen Thomas, White House correspondent for United Press International, said Thursday that the best way to avoid future scandals similar to the Watergate affair would be change how campaigns are financed.

"Ways have to be found to make campaigns less expensive and candidates have to live up to their promises," she said. "We need real reform across the board. Any candidate who runs knows he's going to be watched. They're going to be under the gun."

Her comments came in an address to the East Tennessee chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the journalists' society.

Citizen of Year: Mrs. Carson Hawk

SAN DIMAS — "Where ever two or three people meet to improve things in San Dimas, Mrs. Carson Hawk is in their midst," members and friends of the Chamber of Commerce were told Thursday night as Mrs. Hawk was named Citizen of the Year.

MRS. CARSON HAWK

Mrs. Hawk, 210 E. Gladstone St., is the 10th community leader to receive the town's highest civic award and the second woman to be honored.

The presentation was the highlight of a dinner dance attended by 85 people at the Via Verde Country Club.

Jim McLean, last year's winner, explained that Mrs. Hawk is so busy that she almost didn't attend the chamber dinner because of a conflict with another meeting. She agreed to come after Jack Carruthers, chamber manager, appealed to her to take photographs of the event, as she often does for club meetings.

Mrs. Hawk, the mother of three children, has lived in San Dimas for the past 25 years where she has been active in almost every civic organization in a leadership capacity.

She is the former president of the San Dimas Woman's Club and the McKinley Home for Boys Auxiliary. She served on the San Dimas General Plan Update Committee and the San Dimas Civic Center Advisory Committee.

She is the former president of the San Dimas Coordinating Council and is presently vice president. She is a director of the San Dimas Hospital Auxiliary and is in charge of teen volunteers.

She has been involved for many years with Girl Scout activities and in particular, Troop 333. She is active in the Bonita High School Boosters Club and the Order of Merit, to name a few of the organizations she has worked with.

She is a member of the Pilgrim Congregational Church in Pomona where she sings in the choir. She is a contralto soloist and often appears in music productions throughout the Pomona Valley.

Mrs. Hawk was selected as the Progress-Bulletin Woman Achiever in 1972 for her community service and because of the fact that most of her interests are "family oriented."

The chamber also honored Mrs. Don Haefer, who has served as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce for more than 10 years.

Also honored were retiring directors, Roger Williams and Bob Wilson. Williams was ill and unable to attend the meeting and will be presented with his plaque at a later date.

Racial tension cripples Palm Springs school

PALM SPRINGS (UPI) — Simmering racial tensions at Palm Springs High for the past three days prompted 40 per cent of the students to stay home Thursday.

Police here arrested two students in connection with racial strife on campus and seized two clubs commonly used to deal certain karate blows.

School Superintendent Grover Moore wrote parents of the 1,600-member student body, saying they could keep their child home if they felt they might be injured during continuing black-white tensions.

No progress in strike of food stores

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A federal mediator in California's massive supermarket strikelockhout said shoppers statewide would have to suffer more barren market shelves and overcrowding, at least through the weekend.

Nearly half of the major northern California stores have been shut down while the strike has merely slowed down Southern California market operations.

The empty milk, meat and bread shelves in many northern California markets —and the overcrowded aisles —was a condition absent this week in the southern half of the state.

Mediator Richard Hughes said representatives of the striking coalition of unions, and management, have agreed on Monday to resume the face-to-face talks which broke down last weekend.

Yet there is little but their agreement to bargain. Neither side in the extended strike seemed optimistic Thursday that the contract talks would bear early fruit.

The food industry strike entered its fifth day today with word that Los Angeles' supply system for fruits and vegetables was headed for disruption with the addition to the strike of the downtown wholesale produce markets.

Some of Jupiter's secrets unraveled

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI) — With a steady flow of information about Jupiter from Pioneer 10, the space agency has unraveled secrets about the planet's fantastic energy dynamo, its extraordinary moon Io and its enormous great Red Spot.

The great Red Spot, an oval shape like the planet's baleful eye and large enough to swallow a couple of earths, appears and disappears every 30 years.

Pioneer's infrared measurements showed the spot's temperature to be not much different from the rest of the planet, but the infrared investigator, Guido Munch, concluded that it was "a deep-seated phenomenon."

At NASA Pioneer Mission Control, Munch said Thursday the spot must be a vortex of swirling gases, anchoraged to some kind of hot promentory deep in the planet.

Infrared equipment confirmed that Jupiter, 1,300 times the volume of earth, radiates 2.5 times as much energy as it receives from the sun. The temperatures were the same on Jupiter's dark side as on the sunny side.

Jupiter's energy may come from nuclear decomposition in the planet's interior, or it may be generated by the collapsing of the planet's gaseous structure into the core.

At a depth of 12 miles, Jupiter's temperatures varied irregularly between 215 and 230 degrees Fahrenheit below zero. Warmer areas seem to concide with whitish zones banding the planet.

With Pioneer data, astronomers corrected their estimates of the mass of Jupiter and four closest moons. They said the mass was heavier by an amount equivalent to two earth moons.

The orange Jovian moon Io, thought to be the size of Earth's moon, was found to be 22 per cent heavier. This means Io must contain heavier elements such as rock or metal, unlike Jupiter's other lighter, gaseous moons.

Io was discovered to have an atmosphere 65 miles deep although the atmosphere density was thought 20 million times less than Earth. Existence of an atmosphere may explain regular bursts of energy, equivalent to several hydrogen bombs, in its area. The atmosphere would serve as a conductor for huge electrical discharges.

Another Pioneer discovery was the presence at Jupiter of helium. The ratio of helium to hydrogen is crucial to designers of future space probes which may dive deep into Jupiter's clouds and liquid surface.

Pioneer also determined that Jupiter's dust belt is safe for spacecraft. However, a manmade satellite put into orbit around Jupiter might be endangered by the dust, the space agency said.

As scientists faced months of computer analysis of Pioneer's data, the spacecraft, first to visit Jupiter, voyaged toward the outer planets where its radio signal should continue until fading out near Uranus in 1979. Today it has traveled 2.5 million miles from its closest approach, Monday night, to Jupiter.

Kennedy urges cooperation with allies on oil issues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said that the United States must cooperate with Western Europe and Japan on energy to avoid "cutthroat competition" for scarce oil supplies.

Warning that competition for oil from the Middle East and North Africa will grow, even after the oil embargo ends, Kennedy said in a Senate speech, "It is now imperative for the United States, Western Europe and Japan to begin real cooperation in energy matters.

"We are all in this together, and together we will meet the energy challenge, or watch it drive us apart in a vicious scramble for scarce energy supplies."

Kennedy proposed that arrangements be made to share energy resources in time of scarcity on an equitable basis "to insure that no nation suffers too drastically from the crisis.

"Only in this way can the United States, Europe and Japan avoid the cut-throat competition that will inevitably materialize in the race to obtain scarce fuel supplies."

Kennedy also introduced a resolution urging President Nixon to propose the convening by the United Nations of a world energy conference to include all nations.

"We can no more become a Fortress America on energy than we could do so militarily a generation ago," he said.

Demo provides only surprise of confirmation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The only surprise in the unventful confirmation and swearing-in of Gerald R. Ford as vice president was provided by Rep. Peter W. Rodino, Jr., D-N.J.

He voted "no." So did 34 other members of the House.

What set Rodino apart, however, was that he, as chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, presided over the confirmation hearings and voted to report Ford's nomination.

Not only that, Rodino kept liberal Democrats, unhappy with the selection of Ford, at bay and cleared the way for his swift inauguration.

In an eight-page speech to a badly-attended session of the House, Rodino made it clear Thursday that he was voting, not against Ford, but as a protest against President Nixon's policies.

"I must express in voting the frustration which the great majority of my constituents feel with the course the incumbent President has embarked upon," he said.

"I vote, not against Gerald Ford's worth as a man of great integrity, but in dissent with the present administration's indifference to the plight of many Americans."

Barber shop's topless girl ahead of times

DOVER, Del. (UPI) — This city's only barber shop featuring a topless shampoo girl has found itself too far ahead of its time.

Barber George H. Austin, 44, had to fire his shapely 22-year-old assistant Thursday under orders from his landlord or face eviction. The landlord said there were too many complaints from local citizens groups.

"I thought this area was ready for it," Austin said, "but apparently it wasn't.

"It was either get rid of her or get evicted."

Six customers tried the $5 shampoo with a view on Tuesday.

"The customers who had a chance to try it thought it was lovely," Austin said.

HIS LAST RIDE?—Robert Geist, Minneapolis truck driver, sits in his cab while he waits for money from home to continue his trip to Pennsylvania with a load of beans from South Dakota. Geist, who ran out of money in a south suburban town near Chicago and couldn't buy diesel fuel due to higher prices and limited supplies, says he may have to quit the trucking business.

Wall Street trying to keep its cool

NEW YORK (UPI) — The tune may be a little off key, but Wall Street at least is whistling through this bear market, one of the worst in years.

The Dow Jones industrial average is at its lowest point in more than three years. Above 1,000 less than a year ago, it's now below the 800-level, an area last touched on Nov. 27, 1970. Many stocks are selling at multiples of 4 and 5 times earnings where they were considered attractive a year ago at double these figures.

The economy seems sour...the energy crisis won't go away... settlement of the Middle East trouble seems impossible.. credibility in the national administration probably never was lower.

"But let's not be unduly pessimistic" said Alan Shaw, vice president of Harris Upham and Co. "Of course, there's reason to be gloomy these days. But remember, nearly all bull markets of the past—and it's of this one—were born of undue pessimism. This is a time to think positively."

Shaw said what many fail to realize is that for some time most stocks have been in a downtrend which simply has accelerated recently.

The investor being hurt most these days is the one "who is letting emotional and psychological pressures force him to sell his stock," Robert Waill, vice president of Inverness Counsel Inc. said.

End of a way of life?

Hard times fall on truck drivers caught in squeeze

By DAVID SMOTHERS

SOUTH HOLLAND, Ill. (UPI) — Robert Geist sat in the lounge of the Calumet Union 76 Truckstop, staring morosely at a blonde selling soap on the color television, waiting for money from home so he could get his rig rolling again.

"I guess this is the last load," he said. "I can't do it no more. I've got a load of beans out there from the Dakotas for eastern Pennsylvania and I'm already two days late. I'm out of diesel fuel and out of money.

"This trip used to cost me from $100 to $125 and I started out with $200. But they were charging me 40 cents a gallon in Iowa and giving me only 50 gallons at a time, so I had to keep stopping. Then, at Freeport, a trooper stopped me for having Minnesota plates and not paying the Illinois truckers' tax and he took my last $25. I've been here since last night.

"So I'm waiting for my family to wire me $150 from Minneapolis so we can go on. The trip will cost me $200-$250 before it's through. I can't make it on that. We'll go on relief, I guess, us and our nine kids. I've been a trucker 10, 15 years. I've never been on relief."

Geist, husky, 39, booted and denim-clad, was talking soberly of giving up a way of life.

So were a lot of the other close to 100 truckers from around the country waiting, eating, drinking coffee, or just wasting time Wednesday afternoon in this capacious complex on the Calumet Expressway just south of Chicago designed expressly for the over the road driver.

There were at least 40 rigs standing outside in the swirling snow. Inside, the men congregated in a privileged area labeled "for professional drivers only."

Many of them were, like Geist, independent operators who own their own rigs or pay for all their operating costs. Of four chosen at random, all said they were getting out of trucking or feared they would be forced to soon.

The men talked, approvingly for the most part, of the trucking rigs which were blocking traffic at that moment some 60 miles away on the Indiana Tollway at South Bend.

They talked of the price of diesel fuel, which used to cost them 26 cents a gallon scarcely a year ago and is now, they claimed, going for 87 cents a gallon on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

They bristled at lowered speed limits which, they insisted, cause them to burn up to 25 per cent more of the precious fuel in order to wind up at their destinations so late that their next haul of the week must be canceled and they are $100 to $200 poorer.

They spoke darkly of Watergate ("They think this whole fuel shortage is just a coverup for Watergate," a waitress said). There was talk of fighting back.

"Steel makes a good blockade," a steel hauler said. A companion said cheerfully, "just block the roads for three or four days and wait until people start hollering for food."

They told each other, "us truckers can paralyze this country, you know."

One of those who said it was James Tibbs, 43, of Lawrence, Ind. His face shows the seams of 18 years of truck driving—18 years of which he figures he has spent an elapsed total of five with his wife and six children.

Tibbs said he quit being a trucker Wednesday.

"I sold my old rig back to the company where I got it Friday," he said. "Today, I came down to buy a new '73 tractor job. They asked $476 a month for it. I paid just $176 for the same kind of job I bought five years ago.

"I backed out. I can't see working for nothing. I might as well be home broke with my family than doing that."

Prop. 1 opposition funding disclosed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax ceiling initiative was defeated with the help of a $511,000 campaign financed by state employes, school teachers and a wealthy Los Angeles industrialist.

But the opposition campaign was relative meager compared to the expenditures of the Reagan forces, which totalled nearly $1.5 million even before the election.

The two main groups opposing Prop. 1 said Wednesday they spent $510,900 and collected about $535,400.

Major contributions came from Los Angeles industrialist Max Palevsky, who gave $25,000; the California State Employes Association, $200,000, and the California Teachers Association, $100,000.

Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr., has predicted the total cost of the campaign for and against the measure will total about $2.5 million when all spending reports are in by today's deadline.

He said that would make it one of the "most expensive ballot measure campaigns in California history."

Palevsky gave his contribution to California Taxpayers Against Prop. 1, organized by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti of Van Nuys, a Democratic gubernatorial candidate and the most outspoken opponent of the initiative.

Palesvky was a major financial figure in the presidential campaign of Sen. George McGovern, D-South Dakota.

Moretti's group spent about $158,000, and collected about $180,000, a spokesman for the organization said in an interview.

Californians against Prop. 1 reported spending $352,927 and collecting $355,373, according to statements on file with Brown's office.

The group was established by the San Francisco political management firm of Whitaker and Baxter.

The California State Employes Association gave $150,000 to that group and $50,000 to Moretti's organization.

Another $100,000 was contributed by the California Teachers Association to "Californians Against."

Moretti loaned his own group $60,000 of his gubernatorial campaign funds and has been repaid $15,000, according to the spokesman.

Reagan's campaign group had not filed its finance report by late Wednesday.

But its pre-election report showed it spent about $1.5 million and raised $1.3 million.

Grid battle cry

The first football cheer was based on a battle cry. Princetonians roared out a lusty "Siss, boom, ah" at the Rutgers-Princeton game in 1869. The shout derived from the rocket yell of New York's Seventh Regiment.

Frozen ducks tumble down on Stuttgart

STUTTGART, Ark. (UPI) — If the stars can fall on Alabama, if the moon shines over Miami and if the swallows really do come back to Capistrano, then there's no reason why frozen ducks can't tumble down on Stuttgart.

On the day after Thanksgiving hefty, mature mallards came crashing out of the sky. Many of them were frozen stiff.

"They were good," Roberta Essex said Tuesday. Her husband cleaned seven of them and put six up in the freezer for use later.

"We ate one of them and one we had from last year, and they tasted about the same," she said.

The day the ducks came tumbling down was a wild and turbulent one in Arkansas. Several twisters were sighted over the state and several touched down amid violent springlike thunderstorms, wind flurries and hail storms.

Two tornadoes caused minor damage along the southern outskirts of Stuttgart.

"It was about 4 p.m.," said Lloyd McCollum, chairman of the State Game and Fish Commission, who lives here. "Within 10 to 15 minutes all of them had come down, all mature, fairly heavy ducks."

The ducks came down with a lot of hail and several were completely ice-encrusted, according to witnesses. Possibly they may have been pitched up higher than normal and frozen along with the hail.

"They got up there in colder atmosphere and, just like an airplane, got iced over," McCollum said. "They got ice on their wings and couldn't fly. In short, they just froze to death.

"They were very healthy looking ducks and a bunch of people just picked them up and ate them. I'm sure they're just as good as freshly killed and of course they were."

Stuttgart, in Southeast Arkansas, is on the route of ducks heading south for the winter. Some even stay in the hardwood areas of the state although most head further south towards the marshes of Louisiana.

For sure no one had ever heard of such a thing happening in these parts.

"I've lived here all my life, and it's a unique experience," McCollum said.

Rust battle

SYDNEY (UPI) — Australian home owners and industrialists are spending $650 million a year combatting rust, a research report says. The total bill for corroded water heaters in 1972 was $24.8 million and rust-damaged car mufflers are costing motorists $22.6 million a year.

Opening of new Las Vegas hotel looked like Hollywood golden days

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Black limousines lined the entrance bumper to bumper...jewels sparkled as mink-clad first nighters pushed inside. It was the world premier of Metro Goldwyn Mayer's most spectacular undertaking.

The famous MGM lion rested on a pedestal outside the $106 million Grand Hotel watching as the curtain went up on the world's largest gambling resort.

Vintage cars rolled to the entrance. Out stepped such golden age of Hollywood stars such as Jane Pwell, Margaret O'Brien, Jack Haley, Cary Grant, June Haver, Fred McMurray, George Raft and Howard Keel.

They kept coming: Shirley McClaine, Sergio Franchi, Johnny Carson, Dick Martin, June Allyson, Connie Stevens, Barbara Eden.

Owners and developers had blended the worlds of Hollywood and Las Vegas in the MGM Grand Hotel.

The MGM Grand Hotel—Nevada's largest gambling factory—was opening in the middle of the energy crisis when this tourist-fed economy was faced with service station closures on Sunday, gas rationing and reductions in aviation.

But Wednesday night the roar of the MGM lion drowned out the voices of the outside world, the world of fantasy prevailed.

Singer Dean Martin starred in the 1,200 seat Celebrity Theater where invited guests drank, applauded and ate gourmet food.

The 50,000-square foot casino, longer than a football field— accented with Italian marble, ceiling murals and tinling chandliers—filled with gamblers.

The casino is supposed to carry half the financial load of the MGM Grand Hotel which developers said would pay for itself in a decade.

As the resort filled, the voices became loud:

"Nine, the point is nine. Place your bets. Nine! Pay the field. Pay the line. It's the coming out roll. Place your bets.

"Yes, that's right Dean Martin goes on at 8 p.m. in the Celebrity Theater.

"No sir, the jai a lai fronton is not open tonight. It will be open in about two weeks.

"Winner 13, black. Pay 13, pay black, pay odd, place your bets."

Nevada's largest gambling factory employes more than 3,000 persons which exceeds the population of some rural counties in Nevada. It has 2,100 rooms and the casino holds 1,000 slot machines, 10 crap tables, 45 blackjack tables, roulette wheels, a keno lounge for 200, two baccarat games, 16 poker tables, a movie theater, a second showroom which seats 800 persons, a high-roller casino on the 26th floor where the minimum bet is $50, a dinner seating capacity of 11,000 persons including convention rooms and the grand ballroom, a jai a lai fronton, two swimming pools, enough carpet to cover 60 football fields, 350 cooks, and on and on.

MGM Studios, once the superpower of film making, turned away from celluloid expenditures Wednesday night and entered the field of participation entertainment on a giant scale.

But MGM did not forget its past. One corridor in the hotel was perhaps neglected by the excited first nighters Wednesday. It is a wide posh hallway leading away from the casino and is a walk through the pages of an old movie magazine. There are the bigger than life faces of the past which made MGM a roaring lion: Judy Garland, Clark Gable, Joan Crawford, Hedy Lamar, Wallace Berry, Spencer Tracy, Ingrid Bergman, and Vivien Leigh.

Of energy shortage

Love says Nixon, others unaware of seriousness

DENVER (UPI) — Former energy adviser John A. Love said Tuesday that President Nixon and others in Washington don't know how serious the energy shortage is.

Love resigned Monday after a dispute with Treasury Secretary George Shultz, who urged Nixon not to give in to Love's demands for immediate gasoline rationing.

"Most of them didn't realize the depth of this problem," Love said. "Maybe President Nixon is getting there now but because of the situations he has been in, I don't really think he was able to focus on the problem."

Love said it would take at least three and possibly five years to come up with even interim solutions to the energy shortage.

"The situation might be a little bit better if the Arabs reversed their policy and turned on the spigot but there is still going to be a gap between needs and supplies.

"I don't see anything optimistic. It's going to be a new world. The nation is going to realize a real shortage of energy. We're going to have to change our very lifestyles."

Love, arriving home with his wife, Ann, said he wasn't sorry he resigned as governor of Colorado last July to join the Nixon administration.

"It was a job that needed doing but I really didn't foresee that I would not be able to be more effective.

"They say you can come back either in victory or come back on your shield," Love said. "I do not come back either way. I am a bit battered and bruised but my head is unbowed.

"I'm going to put my feet up and do nothing for awhile."

Rattles & straws

Being chicken about the pie

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

I wish the Meat and Poultry Inspection Division of the U.S Department of Agriculture would leave me alone. I'm fat enough behind on my outside reading already, without their new regulation about labels on everything we eat.

With a determination that would astonish a bulldog, I long ago set myself to reading Time Magazine regularly each week, from Letter to the Publisher in front to the Dewar's White Label Scotch advertisement at the back. I fell behind in my reading during my summer vacation in 1968 and I have never caught up. I am about eight months behind and losing ground, but I read them in order, and I'll get through that pile some day. Maybe I'll come down with pneumonia and have lots of time to read in my oxygen tent. I wonder if this Watergate story will ever amount to anything. I wonder if the N.Y. Yankees have a chance at the 1973 pennant.

Now comes the MPI division of the USDA ordering meat and poultry processors to slap labels on their packaged goods listing contents, weight, cooking instructions and everything but the ancestry of the encapsulated animal. Reading the label on a can of chicken noodle soup can set me back two whole Times.

The MPI says the label, the container or packaging material, the formula or recipe for the product, a description of the way it is made, and a sample of the product must be submitted to the USDA for approval or it's a no-no to market it. Next thing we'll get is a federal subsidy for label printers.

The label must contain an accurate description of the project, according to the feds. Seems reasonable. If you are canning tomato juice, you shouldn't label it grapefruit juice. You just make a lot of people sore.

The picture on the can, jar or box must be accurate, too. If your ad agency Rembrandt limns a pork and beans label showing lots of juicy chunks of pork awash in a sea of beans, the can better contain lots of juicy chunks of pork awash in a sea of beans or you're in trouble with the Aggies.

If your product is marked "All Beef" or "All Pork" it must be all beef (or pork). If you pad it up with "extenders," you have to publicly confess: "Cereal Added." (Shame!) Similarly if you add horse meat to your ground round, you have to note "Horsemeat added." (Whatever happened to Secretariat?)

Okay, with Time on my hands, I read the label of the tiny little frozen chicken pie my wife sets out for my dinner when she's at the bridge club. The label looked like a chapter from "War and Peace." If I were not careful, warned the legend, I would be putting in my unsuspecting mouth chicken broth, enriched wheat flour, chicken meat, shortening, potatoes, carrots, water, margarine, modified food starch, salt, peas, sugar, nonfat dry milk, chicken fat, vegetable oil, sweet red peppers, celery, monosodium glutamate, dehydrated onions, and flavoring. Gulp. And here I thought it was just a simple chicken pie. I put it back in the freezer and went out for a pizza.

Reading labels is a waste of Time.

Army surpasses goal in recruiting drive

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For the first time in 10 months the Army has met and surpassed its monthly recruiting goals, lifting Pentagon hopes that its all-volunteer experiment would work.

Army Secretary Howard H. Callaway said said Army recruiters signed up 102 per cent of the 12,900 November goal.

In every other month since the end of the draft was announced Jan. 27, the Army has failed to reach its enlistment target.

Callaway said, "There are a lot of people who don't think we'll succeed. But we are, and we're going to man the all-volunteer force with fine men and women."

In November, 9 per cent of the Army's new enlistees were women. During the 1950s and 1960s women made up only 1.5 to 2 per cent of the Army.

At the officer level, the influx of women was even more impressive. Twenty per cent of the college freshman volunteering for the Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) this fall were women. It was the first year the Army program has gone coed nationwide.

Had the Army been as successful as in November during the past nine months, Calloway said, there would not have been any shortfalls to begin with.

William K. Brehm, assistant defense secretary for manpower, recently predicted that by next summer the Army would be about 2 per cent short of its planned strength of 792,000.

"A 15,000 to 20,000 shortfall is not ideal," he said, "but also is not serious enough to cause us to ask Congress to reinstate the draft."

Jobless man offers eye for $35,000

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — A 40-year-old unemployed man has offered to sell an eye for $35,000.

The newspaper La Prensa said it received a letter recently from the man, who called himself "an adult, Catholic, of good character."

He said he wanted to buy a small house for his family, give a good education to his eight-year-old daughter and start a small business.

The man gave an address in the port city of Valparaiso.

Signal change in Claremont to be studied

CLAREMONT — The city Traffic Safety Committee has recommended a study be conducted of the Arrow Highway section before any decision is made to remove the left turn signals.

Public Works Director Paul E. Cook explained the county's Uniform Traffic Control Report on Arrow Highway has recommended removal of the left turn arrows.

Cook said he disagreed with the recommendation, but felt delay at the intersection could be improved by modernizing the vehicle detectors which control left turn signals.

Cook said updating the signals might be included in the 1974-75 budget.

The committee recommended to the City Council that signs and markings are needed for eastbound traffic on First Street at College Avenue where that street changes from a divided road to a two-way street. Cook recommended arrows on the pavement and a curve sign below the stop sign.

Dial a Smile gag now a real business

PONTIAC, Mich. (UPI) — John Rosenthal's Dial a Smile "business" is doing great. Rosenthal is the 21-year-old Pontiac resident who dreamed up the idea of a recorded joke service on April Fool's Day, 1972.

Since then, dual a smile has logged 1,933,309 calls, an average of 15 a minute. The overload sometimes jams phone lines to Pontiac and Michigan Bell has had to assign three consulstants to the $250 monthly phone account of Rosenthal and his father, Thomas.

"Everybody likes a good clean laugh," the younger Rosenthal said, "unless you're a super Scrooge."

The format begins with a recording of hysterical laughter, Rosenthal's deep voice, "Hellooo there, welcome to dial a smile," and then the joke.

Rosenthal said he first got his short question-and-answer jokes (sample-q: what does a buck tooth cow say? a: mooof.) from children's joke books at the library. Now, however, he picks them from between 10 and 50 letters he gets daily from callers.

THE REASON ALLEGRO SOUND COMES CLOSE TO DUPLICATING A "LIVE" PERFORMANCE IN YOUR HOME

The whole idea of a stereo system is that the sound that goes in should come out again — as faithfully reproduced as possible. But with a lot of systems, including many with sealed speakers, that just doesn't happen. Some of the deep bass gets trapped inside the speaker cabinets. So you never hear it. With Zenith's new line of Allegro stereo systems, you can hear those deep, rich sounds. They're channeled out of the speaker through a unique opening in front called a "tuned port." Added to the specially designed woofer and horn-type tweeter, this innovative design makes for remarkable efficiency. A 60-watt Allegro system equals the sound performance of a 120-watt system with comparable size air-suspension speakers. By the same standard in terms of size and efficiency, the Allegro system has the deepest, richest sounding speakers on the market today. The best part about Allegro is how it sounds. Santa Claus looking for young mayor

SANTA CLAUS, Ind. (UPI) — The town of Santa Claus has launched its annual campaign to find an honorary mayor, but qualifications are tough.

If not between the ages of 7 and 12 with a birthday either Dec. 24 or 25, don't bother applying. The applicant also must live within 250 miles of this southwestern Indiana community.

Three finalists will be invited to a Dec. 22 dinner staged by the Santa Claus Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the contest.

One will be selected mayor, another honorary police chief and the third, honorary fire chief. The winners will tour a nearby park and receive gifts.

Winner last year was 11-year-old Falicia Faye Martin, Loogootee, Ind.

Applications, addressed to Santa, must list name, address, phone number, age and birth date and must include a recent photograph. They must reach Santa Claus —zip code 47579 — by Dec. 14.

Nader: common sense, thrift can nip crisis

HOUSTON, Tex. UPI) — Ralph Nader says he thinks Americans can survive the energy crisis through thrift and common sense.

"We can almost literally walk our way out of the energy crisis," Nader said this week. "By increasing our thrift and care, we could save 40 per cent of our energy. The big problem is to reduce the waste and allocate the energy where it is needed."

Nader said the conservation proposals put forth by President Nixon benefited big business at the expense of the taxpayer.

"It is repeatedly ignored that industry and commerce use 70 per cent of the energy," Nader told reporters before speaking to the University of Houston student body. "And the biggest users receive the lowest rates."

Nader said if the reverse rating system were not changed, the average American family would bear the brunt of energy cutbacks and higher fuel costs. He said major corporations had the potential to lead the way in energy conservation.

"If they are not willing to do that voluntarily, then there needs to be a legal means for doing it," Nader said. "That's the Achilles' heel of President Nixon's energy message."

The President and tax deduction law analyzed

Editor's Note: Recently President Nixon conceded that while he earned more than $200,000 a year in 1970 and 1971, he paid only "nominal" taxes (about $800) in each of those two years. The reason he paid such low taxes was that he claimed a deduction of $570,000 for vice-presidential papers which he donated to the National Archives.

Supporters of the President, including editorial writers for the Wall Street Journal, claim that those who find fault with the deduction are seizing on technicalities.

Gerard M. Brannon, a member of Tax Analysts and Advocates, a Washington-based public interest tax law firm, believes the illegality of the deduction may be more than technical.

By GERARD M. BRANNON
Tax Analysts and Advocates

A basic characteristic of United States tax law is that the rules are developed with great specificity. It is a result of our preference for rules of law rather than of men that the law must mean what it says. what some dismiss as a technicality is the law.

More specifically, in 1969 Congress decided to close a "loophole" in the law that permitted public officials to take a deduction for the value of their papers contributed to a public organization.

There were good reasons for this repeal. Assume that I work for one year for the government at a salary of $50,000. Assume also that my "papers" covering this year are really worth $50,000. The first question is why I should be able to cash in on the papers that I was paid to write.

But let us assume that I am allowed to donate the papers to the National Archives for $50,000. Had I sold the papers for $50,000 and donated the money to the Archives, my contribution would be deducted from a real income of $100,000.

What was wrong with the old loophole is that I would be able to deduct $50,000 which was never reflected in my income and that the deduction would, therefore, offset my salary.

Let's agree that Congress made a good decision to get rid of this loophole. When loopholes are closed, there must be an effective date. The date fixed by Congress was gifts made on or before July 25, 1969.

Now the President did not relinquish ownership of his papers to the Archives before that date. Moreover, the required "deed of gift" was not signed by an appropriate government agent by that date. Finally, the deed was not delivered to the Archives or the General Services Administration by the required date.

Thus President Nixon did not get under the wire before the old loophole was closed on July 25, 1969.

The basic point is that the public is entitled to some assurance that a President's tax return is examined with due diligence by the Internal Revenue Service. It seems very strange that he was allowed a deduction which, on the basis of published evidence, he was not entitled to take.

Tax Analysts and Adovcates believe that if the same facts regarding the President's transfer of papers were known in connection with an ordinary citizen, an audit would almost certainly have been undertaken by the IRS.

For that reason, we believe a special independent auditor should be appointed to investigate what seems a very questionable tax claim.

Mobile Music with a $32 Saving

The PIONEER TP-222 eight-track player is compact enough to fit unobtrusively in any car, but there's nothing small about the sound it produces, especially when it's combined with Jensen 5" speakers. Normally $59.95, the TP-222 has all the features you need: automatic and manual track change; volume, tone and balance controls, plus program indicator lights. The Jensen speakers usually sell for $39.95 a pair, so you can save a full $32 and enjoy stereo on the road.

A Lot of Sound in a Little Space

We've come up with a system that makes the most of limited shelf space, and it can fill a bedroom, dormitory, or den with bright-sounding high fidelity music. The TRANSAUDIO 5502 stereo receiver delivers 16 watts (RMS) of clean power, and its AM/FM tuner section brings in any station within range free of noise and interference. It offers all the controls a stereo beginner needs, and its regular $149.95 price even includes a walnut case.

The BSR 260A record changer has a cueing lever to help save records from scratches, and the Shure M81 magnetic cartridge has a diamond stylus for extra-long life. It's included along with a molded plastic base in our regular price of $44.45.

QUADRAFLEX MODEL 26 speaker systems are compact enough to fit anywhere, and their two-way acoustic suspension design produces satisfying, full-range music. A pair of 26's normally sell for $89.90, but you can SAVE nearly that amount ($86.30 to be exact) when you buy this attractive little music system at our special holiday price.

A Special Price on Quadraflex Speakers

QUADRAFLEX 33's are two-way, eight-inch speaker systems with good, deep bass response; they normally sell for $54.95 each. We have a limited supply with slight cabinet flaws that you can buy now for just $43 per system. You can save $23.90 on a pair, add stereo to a second room in your home, or use them as the main speakers in a modestly priced component system. But remember there are only a few in each store, so hurry in.

A New Sansui Receiver Plus an $81 Saving

The SANSUI 661 is one of that company's newest stereo receivers, and it offers a high level of performance for a moderate investment. There's 54 watts (RMS) of power inside, and a generous array of controls organized logically and stylishly on the new front panel. The 661 has provisions for TWO tape decks, and its regular price of $289.95 includes a handsome walnut case.

A low-friction tonearm, steady-speed synchronous motor, and an adjustable anti-skate control are some of the features that make the BSR 510A record player an excellent value for only $69.45. For that price we include a base and a Shure M75ECS elliptical cartridge.

QUADRAFLEX MODEL 44's are two-way systems with big ten-inch bass speakers that can reproduce the bass man's low E and up. At their regular price of $159.90 a pair, they sound mighty impressive. This group of components, purchased separately, would come to $519.30, but if you come in this week you can have the entire system for just $438, and your payments don't have to start until March.

The SANSUI 1050 is a two-speed manual turntable with a damped cueing control that doubles as the power switch. A synchronous motor maintains constant speed despite fluctuations in AC current, and the carefully balanced tonearm accepts just about any fine cartridge.

We think the ADC 10E Mark IV is a perfect complement to the high performance standards the 1050; it's an elliptical diamond cartridge that's nationally advertised for $50. Safety first always pays

Some safety plays are really farfetched. Others should be almost automatic for a careful player.

South's three notrump contract looks like a cinch. He wins the heart lead and if he is at all careless he counts to 10 quick, easy tricks. Two spades, one heart, five diamonds and two clubs.

Then if he is careful he reviews the bidding in accordance with the R of the code word ARCH and remembers that West made a vulnerable two heart bid without much of a hand. Obviously he held a lot of hearts for that bid. Could he be void of diamonds?

South thinks a little more and sees that he can be sure of his contract with just four diamond tricks and he can play the diamond suit in such a manner as to keep East from getting the lead if he holds all four diamonds.

South goes to dummy with a high spade and leads the 10 of diamond. If East ducks, South lets it ride. If East covers, South wins the trick; goes back to dummy with the second high spade and leads another diamond. Then back to dummy with the king of clubs to pick up the rest of the suit and wind up with five diamond tricks in spite of East's four-card holding.

Old enough for excursion

An avenue to federal aid

Valley agency seen as a way to cut vacant homes

By GEORGE MacLAREN
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — Member cities of the Pomona Valley Action Committee on Abandoned Housing could form a housing authority with joint powers to get federal money to help alleviate the problem, representatives of the committee decided Thursday afternoon at a meeting at Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan.

Charles W. Bader, Pomona City Councilman and chairman of PVACAH, during the 1½ hour meeting summarized the individual city preliminary reports on individual city problems, with recommendations and alternatives.

The committee was informed that the latest count of abandoned homes in eight Pomona Valley cities has reached 991, with the following breakdown: Pomona, 823, Claremont 30, Chino 5, Ontario 50, San Dimas 28, Montclair 35, Walnut 7, and Upland 3.

C. R. LeGros, La Verne planning director, in a letter noted that the problem of abandoned housing does not exist in La Verne, but that city officials will remain interested in the subject.

Joe F. Korpsak, Pomona assistant city administrator, recommended to the committee that Pomona Valley cities join together to form a confederation to secure a federal grant which would provide necessary staff and funds to prevent and eradicate abandonment-like housing conditions.

The committee took no formal action on the recommendation.

Bader noted that the committee has taken a "very political approach" in working with the Department of Housing and Urban Development in dealing with the problem. "We are taking a congressman with us to meetings with HUD," he said.

Richard Kumer, City of San Dimas superintendent of building and safety, said he feels the problem is financing and the conditions the cities have now. "We've just had a clean-up program, and we've got tons and tons," he said.

Kumer commented that HUD is "being stifled somewhere between here and Washington and Baltimore. How do we break this?"

Jim Coulter, planning and zoning director for Ontario, stressed the problem of no equity financing which leaves the buyer unable to sell property and that he must pay marketing costs for too many years.

He hit at HUD delays in decision-making and keeping property from returning to the market for up to two years.

Coulter said that he did not see urban homesteading as an answer because it is too costly. He stressed the need for an early notice system, and the committee felt that if a broker should go to HUD with an offer that HUD should be able to respond in seven days, not two years.

Planning Director Sharon Hightower reported that Claremont has filed liens on abandoned property after the city has cleaned up those lots.

She suggested that HUD should be encouraged in bulk sales of abandoned houses but only after HUD has cleared the proposal with the city involved, and that the city involved has reviewed prospective bidders' proposals, and concurred in the disposition of the homes.

She also suggested that there be adequate assurances of redevelopment with necessary security bonds posted with local governments, and that there be prescribed time periods for redevelopment.

Chino City Councilman Angel Martinez commented that "the quicker the federal government gives us money and lets us handle our own problems the quicker we will solve them. As a group we have power."

Board of Realtors report

Local housing said stable

POMONA — The housing situation in Pomona is as stable now as any time during the past several years, reports the Pomona Valley Board of Realtors.

About 94 per cent of the homes are occupied either by homeowners or renters. This condition has been stable, except for the war years, back to 1940 when a 5.6 per cent vacancy factor was recorded.

The Southern California Edison Co. reports that less than 1,700 of the 27,513 meters on residential property on Pomona are on a "nonconnect" basis.

During October, 100 homes in Pomona were sold through the board's multiple listing service. For the first 10 months, the home sales total is 932. This compares favorably with the same period last year.

In recent action, the realty board reaffirmed its cooperation in working with city officials regarding "for sale" signs in residential areas.

While agreeing some areas may appear to have an overabundance of signs, this is not true throughout the city, said E. L. (Jim) Riley, a board member.

To eliminate the real estate signs by ordinance would be an unfair use of governmental power and would not protect the area from "by owner" signs that would appear as a natural consequence, he added.

"The board feels strongly it is able and willing to regulate the members as to how many and where signs will be placed on a voluntary basis and has assured the city it will cooperate to this extent."

Board representatives have also assured city officials they will work with city, Federal Housing Authority (FHA) and Veterans Administration (VA) in finding a solution to the city's 6 per cent vacancy factor, he added.

Meetings between Realtors and officials of the city planning department are expected in the near future, said Riley.

The city planning staff had previously proposed that realty firms be prohibited from placing their "for sale" signs in front of homes because of an appearance of instability created.

Officials estimated there are 700 vacant homes in the city.

Holt will close for Christmas parade Saturday

POMONA — Pomona police officers, working under the supervision of Sgt. LeRoy B. Dixon who is in charge of traffic services, will close off Holt Avenue from Hamilton Boulevard to Towne Avenue Saturday at 5 p.m. for the Christmas parade.

The parade will start at 6 p.m.

All cross streets in that section also will be closed off at 5 p.m. with the exception of White and Garey avenues which will be kept open to north-south traffic until approximately 5:45 p.m.

These streets will be kept closed until approximately 7:30 p.m., Dixon said.

Traffic southbound on North Garey Avenue will be stopped at Alvarado Street and routed east to Towne Avenue.

Traffic on Holt Avenue will be diverted at Hamilton Boulevard on the west and Towne Avenue on the east and detoured south to Mission Boulevard.

Traffic northbound on South Garey Avenue will be detoured east and west at Monterey Avenue, which is a through street.

Anniversary of Pearl Harbor observed here

POMONA — The 32nd anniversary Thursday of the Pearl Harbor attack was observed locally with the signing by executives of firms of a Statement of Support for the Guard and Reserve.

Among major companies reaffirming support for a strong military serve force were the General Dynamics plant in Pomona, Southern California Edison Co. and the Progress-Bulletin.

The City Council issued a proclamation designating this week as a period of public support for the National Guard and Reserve.

Because for the first time since 1947 the nation is filling its military personnel requirements without the aid of the draft, this increases the importance of the Guard and reserve forces, said Rear Adm. (ret.) Charles F. Horne.

Radio specialty trend noted by broadcast chief

POMONA — In the past 18 years many radio stations have turned from "being all things to all people" and instead have become specialized to attract various groups of listeners.

So stated Bob Light, president of Southern California Broadcasters Association, in a talk on radio before the Rotary Club on Tuesday in the Elks Lodge.

"We now have stations devoted to rock, country, and classical music, talk shows, and all news," Light said. "The object of specialization," he added," is to zero in on kinds of people who have things in common."

Radio set sales are continuing to boom, with 63 million sets sold last year, according to Light. He said that that there are now one-third of a billion working radios in the nation.

Light said a survey shows that people listen to radio almost as many hours as they watch television. Listening to the radio, he said, is one leisure-time activity that does not interfere with a person's normal daily routine. "We get up with radio, eat breakfast with radio, do our work with radio and go to sleep with radio," he said.

Most valley gas stations to close on Sunday; allotments cut back

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

Pomona Valley motorists who plan to use their cars Sunday had better fill up their tanks by Saturday night. Gas will be mighty hard to come by Sunday.

A check of gas stations and distributors indicated today that unlike last Sunday, virtually everybody will be closed from Saturday night to Monday morning.

What time Saturday the stations will close will depend on how long their gas supply will hold out. Some stations closed up last week by late Saturday afternoon. Those who run out of gas may close up even sooner this week.

According to the spot check, virtually all gas stations will follow President Nixon's request to stay closed from 9 p.m. Saturday to 6 a.m. Monday.

What prompts the closings is not so much the President's request as concern that unless they do so, their gas allotments may not last through the month.

December gas allotments have been cut back by from 10 per cent to as much as 35 per cent in some cases from the amounts delivered to the stations in December, 1972.

Diesel fuel has been cut back as much as 50 per cent in many cases, causing additional problems for trucks which customarily transport their loads across the nation over the weekend.

"Not much has been said about the plight of the poor truck driver," said Chuck Finn, local manager of Phillips Petroleum. "But they're hurting much more than the average motorist."

The distributors agreed that the gasoline picture is likely to get much bleaker before there are any improvements.

"We can't even depend on the allotments the companies announce for the month," a Mobil gas station operator said. "They may announce a 10 per cent cut today, but by tomorrow the cut may be 15 or even 20 per cent."

Since the allotment is generally figured at the beginning of the month, gas stations can usually get delivery any time during the month. However, if they use up their allotments before the end of the month, they can't get any more gas.

Therefore most gas stations are learning to "pace" their supplies

All of the distributors and operators contacted in the spot check had the same message for the Sunday driver: Stay home.

Police again on push for holiday safety

POMONA — The Pomona Police Department will join 77 others in Los Angeles County in a concerted traffic safety effort to reduce accidents during the holiday period beginning Dec. 21.

Following a similar safety program last year, traffic fatalities for the year-end holidays were cut to 17 from a high of 41 the previous year, Police Chief F. P. Wallick said.

Also involved in the program are the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, the California Highway Patrol, Superior and Municipal courts and the Greater Los Angeles Chapter of the National Safety Council.

The coordinated safety effort was initiated by the Los Angeles County Peace Officers' Association.

Before the holidays, police agencies plan to conduct an educational program through newspapers, radio, television and churches, urging motorists and pedestrians not to drive or walk in traffic unless they are sober.

Strict enforcement will be applied to violators who are found driving or walking in traffic while intoxicated, Wallick said. "Although officers will concentrate on drunken drivers and pedestrians," Wallick said, "they also will be alert for all traffic violations."

Increase in assessment isn't for just one year

Our tax bill shows that the assessed valuation of our home has been raised by 40 per cent.

According to the Los Angeles County assessor, the market value of our house has gone up from $6,400 last year to $9,200 this year.

We can't understand how this is possible. We have done nothing in the past year to improve our property. In fact, our roof blew down and our fence has fallen down.

Can you get someone from the county assessor's office to make a more realistic appraisal.—Mr. and Mrs. T. M., Pomona.

Although the market value of your house has increased from $6,400 in 1972 to $9,200 in 1973, this does not represent a jump of $2,800 in one year, we are told by Steve Stewart, the assessor's press deputy.

Instead, it represents the accumulation of increased value on the property since the house was last appraised in 1964.

The assessor has instituted an appraisal program under which, on a priority basis, the county reappraises areas where assessments are found to be the furthest from current market value.

Properties in your area which are similar to yours have sold for amounts well above the $6,400 figure placed on your property in 1964, according to Stewart.

We can understand your concern when many other people are getting tax reductions this year but the value placed on your property appears to be valid.

I ordered a TV set from Shell Oil Co. about three months ago.

In the next monthly statement, the company charged me $215.50 for the set, although I hadn't received it. I wrote and asked to have the order canceled, saying that if I should receive the set, I would return it. I did receive the set and I did return it.

The next statement still showed the charge plus interest. I wrote to the company's offices in Los Angeles and North Brooke, Ill.

Now I have received another statement with the same charge plus interest again. I am absolutely perplexed. — J.K., La Verne.

For some reason or other, the TV set you returned didn't get back to North Brooke until the day after you wrote to us, according to Martin Berman of the Shell Order Station, Travellers Premium Co., Inc.

Berman received a report 10 days later that the set had been returned. Three days after that, Shell Oil Co. was advised to show credit for the set on your account.

Regret for your inconvenience was expressed in a letter to you and Action Line.

Even though we wrote that we weren't in the cat recovery business, the letter from J. R. of Pomona expressing sorrow over the apparent theft of her gray kitten produced several phone calls.

Three people thought they might have found the flea-collared, spayed, beloved cat which disappeared early in November. Others just wanted to give the family another kitten.

J.R .and her family gratefully accepted one of the kittens, a gift from Madeline Hill of San Dimas.

Two months ago Mrs. Hill rescued a very small kitten which had been cornered by a dog under a pile of lumber. The kitten had a broken hind leg.

Mrs. Hill fed it with an eyedropper and took it to a veterinarian's office, where she invested $50 for shots and a splint. The leg healed.

Then she discovered that her own dog wouldn't tolerate the cat.

She and her family called the cat Orphan Andy. In its new home, it has a new name, Snoopy.

Making martyr out of Shockley

Physicist William B. Shockley, co-winner of a Nobel Prize for his role in developing the transistor, has a theory about race. He believes that on the evidence of I.Q. tests and other data, members of the so-called white race, in general and on the average, possess by inheritance a greater intellectual capacity than members of the so-called black race.

To call the theory controversial is putting it mildly. But Shockley obviously thinks it is important and that people ought to know about it.

In this land supposedly dedicated to free speech, however, Shockley has not only time after time been denied the right to speak; potential audiences have been denied the right to hear him by those to whom his ideas are anathema.

The latest episode took place at New York's Staten Island Community College, where continuous applause from demonstrators prevented Shockley from addressing a public forum. Shortly before that, black students at Harvard forced the cancellation of a debate between Shockley and black nationalist Roy Innis, and New York University refused to let Shockley take part in an academic forum.

Those who oppose Shockley do so, of course, from the highest motives. They fear, rightly or wrongly, pernicious social consequences should his ideas, which are shared by only a few other scholars, gain public currency and academic respectability.

But by depriving Shockley of his constitutional rights, by refusing him publication in scientific journals, by being afraid even to let others rebut him on the platform, self-styled "radicals" not only betray their own ideals but give Shockley's arguments about intelligence and race an importance and appeal they would not gain on their own merits. They are saying that his facts are stronger than theirs and that "truth" cannot compete with "untruth."

Just what application Shockley thinks his findings should have in American society is not clear. As long as one black anywhere is as "smart" as one white somewhere, theories about race in general have little practical value.

The evil of segregation was that it treated all people on the basis of one characteristic alone, their color. If there were a scientific basis for racism, there would never have been a need for laws or customs preventing a person of the wrong color from attempting to achieve beyond his capabilities. No society, for example, ever needed a law forbidding morons to study for Ph.Ds.

That a black leader like Innis was, and still is, prepared to meet Shockley in public debate is itself the best rebuttal to anything Shockley could say.

Those who hound and silence Shockley are only making a martyr out of him, and martyrdom has been known to unleash forces more powerful than reason.

Cool yule saves fuel

The energy crisis needn't mean a blackout of the Christmas spirit this year. Americans can conserve energy and still have a bright holiday season, says the Christmas Decorations Assn., which offers a number of tips on how to do it.

For instance, restrict the hours that you light up your Christmas tree to when you are at home only.

Use miniature lights to save electricity. A normal string of 35 miniature lights consumes only 4.6 watts. A normal string of 15 larger bulbs burns 90 watts, and the large bulbs commonly used outdoors burn over 135 watts.

When trimming your tree, place shiny or reflective ornaments near the lights for a more illuminated look and use tinsel and icicles for added glitter.

Make the tree lighting ceremony something special this year by waiting until Christmas Eve to make it a "happening."

And when you light up your Christmas tree, lower the other lights in the room. It will look prettier and conserve a great deal of energy.

Bye, bye, Baja?

There's a new artery of macadam snaking its way south from California's lower border for 1,068 miles, a monument to progress no doubt but one which will bring sadness to many Norteamericanos.

It is the new Transpeninsular Highway built by the Mexican government from Tijuana down through Baja California to fabled Cabo San Lucas where the Pacific Ocean meets the Sea of Cortez.

Portions of the road have been open for some years but most of the tough but beauteous terrain has been effectively barred to all but the most rugged of motor vehicles. This has meant to avail one's self of the region's incredible outdoor opportunities—some of the world's best angling, hunting, camping and miles of sparkling beach and azure waters — the airplane was almost an essential.

With the road will come new hotels, inns, trailer parks and even more airfields and when they are permitted to drive again will come Californians by the hundreds of thousands. The $107 million road and the new tourist economy will do much to stimulate the Baja economy and encourage colonization where previously only isolation existed.

Getting rid of Mrs. O'Neal

WASHINGTON — The government persuaded one of President Nixon's Florida neighbors to give up her home, according to a classified account, because she had been "spreading wild tales of what was going on in the presidential compound."

The President's two favorite millionaires, Bebe Rebozo and Robert Abplanalp, joined in the effort to remove the alleged gossip from the fashionable Key Biscayne neighborhood. She is Mrs. Perry O'Neal, a sweet, 70-year-old widow, who assured us she "loved the Nixons" and brought them roses.

She agreed to vacate her home to make room for the President's communications staff, but she didn't want to lease it to the government. Abplanalp quickly coughed up $150,000 to buy the house from her and then he leased it to the government for $18,000 a year.

The Public Buildings Service sent Theodore Sachs from its Atalanta regional office to Key Biscayne to negotiate the deal. He met with Rebozo on February 6, 1969, and afterward submitted this confidential report of their conversation.

'Mr. Rebozo stated that this would not be the ordinary type of negotiation," recounted Sachs. "Mr. Rebozo stated that Mrs. O'Neal, who lived at 478 Bay Lane, was creating a problem for the President and for the Administration by going around the island and spreading wild tales of what was going on in the presidential compound in Key Biscayne.

"Further, since the White House Communications Agency needed space in the compound for the communication operation, it was determined that the leasing of the house at 478 Bay Lane would provide the space required by the agency and would also solve the problem created by Mrs. O'Neal by removing her from the scene."

The widow was distressed over this account of her alleged tattling. "I never did any such thing," she huffed. "That's the worst thing I ever heard . . . I was a good neighbor and I carried roses over to her (Mrs. Nixon) personally."

Sachs continued his story: "Mr. Rebozo further went on to state that since Mrs. O'Neal was not interested in leasing the house, he had contacted a friend of his, Mr. Robert H. Abplanalp of Bronxville, New York, and Mr. Abplanalp had agreed to purchase the O'Neal home as a favor to the President and Mr. Rebozo.

'Merely as a favor'

"Negotiations between Mr. Abplanalp, Mr. Rebozo and the O'Neals resulted in a sale of the home at 478 Bay Lane to Mr. Robert Abplanalp and his wife for $150,000. . . .

"Mr. Rebozo stressed the fact that Mr. Abplanalp had purchased the home merely as a favor and did not want to make a profit on it; but since Mr. Abplanalp had taken the money out of a company fund, he wanted a fair net return on his money and a price of $18,000 as an annual rental had been agreed upon."

Abplanalp also objected to signing an agreement that would permit the government to use the house for any purpose it wished. Possibly for this reason, the Secret Service and the White House Communications Agency traded houses. Thus the President's bodyguard wound up replacing the talkative Mrs. O'Neal and they have a reputation as the most tight-lipped men in government.

REID'S ANNOUNCEMENT: New York's blueblood Rep. Ogden Reid, who turned his back on 115 years of family Republicanism to become a Democrat in 1972, this week will announce his candidacy for governor of the Empire State.

The congressman, grandson of Whitelaw Reid who ran unsuccessfully as GOP vice presidential candidate in 1892, expects to announce first in Buffalo, then on the State House steps in Albany and finally, late the same day, in New York City. He faces a primary contest before the elections in November 1974.

The national significance of the six-term congressman's race is that the presidential hopes of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller may hang on the outcome, whether he runs against Reid or not. Rockefeller hotly opposes him and a Reid victory would show Rockefeller weakness at the polls.

Rockefeller tried to beat Reid in 1972 by helping to finance the congressman's GOP opponent and by lending him three top aides. President Nixon also sought to punish Reid's defection with an unprecedented 11-stop campaign in the district. Reid triumphed, thus further embittering both Nixon and Rockefeller.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Self-talk a mutter of fact

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the least understood and appreciated social activities is talking to yourself.

As an article in the magazine Psychology Today points out, there is an "extreme imbalance in the supply and demand for conversation."

The problem is that too many people need to talk and not enough want to listen.

Therefore, a certain therapeutic value is derived from talking to yourself. Self-talk "helps reduce emotional tensions by providing an outlet for hostility," the article says.

Unfortunately, however, self-talk is associated in the public mind with what the article tactfully describes as "odd behavior." This tends to discourage people from bending their own ears.

"Although we believe talking along is practiced sporadically by almost everybody in our culture, it is practiced systematically by almost no one," the article says.

True enough, but I believe self-talk is inhibited by more than the strange looks you get from persons who chance to overhear your soliliquy.

The harsh fact is that in a big majority of instances what we have to say to ourselves is pretty boring.

Oh, I suppose there are a few ego-eloquent types who can regale themselves for hours on end by articulating their thoughts and feelings for their own gratification.

But most of us simply aren't much interested in what we have to tell ourselves and can't hold our own attention for more than a minute or two. No Hamlets, we.

Instead of a "to be or not to be" type of rumination, your musings are more likely to take the form of telling yourself about your operation.

It doesn't take much of that for you to drive yourself up the wall.

Another deterrent to self-talk is the annoying habit many of us have of muttering to ourselves. We may have clarion enunciation in colloquy with others, but when we address ourselves we tend to speak under our breath.

I am a particularly bad offender on that score. Half the time I mumble so indistinctly I can't understand what I am trying to tell myself.

This happens most frequently at concerts or movies. I sit there muttering to myself about the quality of the performance but I catch so little of what I am saying I don't know whether I liked it or not.

I also mutter a lot when I am reading, which is distracting and causes me to lose my place.

That sort of thing really gets under one's skin and is the reason why most of us turn to someone else for conversation.

At times I become so irritated with myself I won't speak to myself for a week.

Beneficial relationship

On September 22 and November 20, 1973, two separate articles appeared in the Progress-Bulletin erroneously reporting that United Air Lines had applied for a government trademark registered in its own name for Mt. San Antonio College's renouned "Classroom in the Sky." Both articles further described a somewhat contentious relationship between MSAC and United. This is gross misrepresentation of fact.

Since before the "Classroom's" inception in 1965, the relationship between Mt. San Antonio College and United Air Lines has been excellent, culminating in this year's Around the World flight which can only be described as the epitome of college, community, and industry cooperation. For the last twelve years MSAC has worked closely with United's personnel, Flight Operations, and Sales Division as they have cordially hosted over one thousand MSAC students on dozens of field trips to the facilities at Ontario and Los Angeles International Airports. They have hired over 275 MSAC graduates in various job categories.

Since the first "Classroom in the Sky" flight, there have been many initiators. It became obvious to both the college and United that the trademark should be registered to protect the identity and quality. Thus, MSAC and United representatives have met on several occasions (have conducted friendly negotiations) to determine how the interests of both parties might best be served in this registration.

This mutually beneficial relationship continues to be amicable as the college's Department of Aeronautics and Transportation and United are even now cooperating on next year's unique educational flying "Classroom." —Stewart M. Angle, chairman, Aeronautics and Transportation Department.

Gossip for today

Any number of new and unusual ways for committing political suicide have been demonstrated during the past year. However, despite the many definitely inspired innovations we have been witnessing in the fine art of political harakiri, one tried and true old fashioned method continues to remain the most popular. The majority of politicians still insist on committing political suicide by simply shooting off their mouths.

INSIDE REPORT

Rocky wooing party regulars

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

NEW YORK — The strategy envisioned by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller on the eve of his fourth, last and longest campaign for the Republican presidential nomination was clarified in a recent conversation with a long-time supporter who has extensive political credentials.

The Rockefeller backer, a liberal Republican, criticized the Governor for his bland statements about Watergate and urged him to call for the moral regeneration of the Republican party. Rockefeller shrugged in his characteristic way, then replied in words to this effect: No, I ran against the Republican delegates in 1968 and I'm not going to do it this time.

To some old friends, this reflects the overlay of cynicism Rockefeller had developed during 15 years of electoral politics. But it also represents his firm conviction that he will have no chance whatever for the nomination if he again is the hairshirt of the Republican party, as he was in his disastrous three previous attempts.

Thus, Nelson Rockefeller's course leading into 1976 seems predictable. His closest associates are all but certain he will soon announce that he will not seek a fifth term as governor in 1974. Chances are even that he will resign as governor next month to improve Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson's chances for election, a course urged by key Rockefeller insiders.

Traveling banquet circuit

Freed of duties in Albany, Rockefeller will generate national publicity as chairman of his new, bipartisan commission on critical choices for America. At the same time, he will be traveling the Republican banquet circuit to woo the conservative, small-town Republican regulars who have so long frustrated his desires for ultimate power.

There is no false optimism in Rockefeller's inner circle. Gov. Ronald Reagan of California is recognized as the clear early frontrunner. The handicap of Rockefeller's age (he will be 68 in 1976) is appreciated. Most important, it is understood that many heartland Republican regulars have never forgiven Rockefeller for his past role as censor of the party—attacking President Eisenhower's policies in 1960, accusing Barry Goldwater of extremism in 1964, claiming that Richard M. Nixon was a loser in 1968.

Accordingly, Rockefeller's political advisers urge an ingratiating attitude toward the regulars. Richard Rosenbaum, New York's first-year Republican state chairman, stresses to Rockefeller this rule: a candidate must be nominated before he can be elected.

Rockefeller is heeding the advice. In recent political appearnaces in Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, Arizona and New Jersey, he consistently won applause by declaring: "The Watergate tragedy is a tragedy of individuals, not the Republican party."

Doesn't knock Nixon

Accepting his adviser' view that Mr. Nixon's support among the party workers remains substantial, Rockefeller treads carefully in talking about the President. He has been getting applause by declaring that the nation owes Mr. Nixon "a great debt of gratitude" for his handling of the Mideast crisis. His reaction at a press conference in Minot, N.D., last week to the shocking news of the erased White House tape recording was noncommittal: "Some things are a little hard yet to understand, but certainly he's on the right course (in trying to restore presidential credibility)."

Moreover, Rockefeller's move to the right during four terms in Albany makes communion with heartland Republicans easier. His hard line against welfare cheaters and drug pushers fills much of his partisan speeches around the country.

While telling the Republicans what they want to hear, Rockefeller is raising funds for hard-pressed local party organizations (for example, in Minot last week) and picking up important political IOUs.

This process of catering to the regulars would be greatly enhanced if some nationally known non-New York Republicans were added to a Rockefeller political high command which has grown old with the Governor. Some Rockefeller insiders talk of Melvin R. Laird, nearing resignation as Mr. Nixon's domestic counsellor, joining the Rockefeller campaign in a year or so—perhaps as campaign manager.

Rockefeller's current tactics have outraged the New York liberal establishment (bringing down jeremiads on him from columnist James Wechsler of the New York Post and the New York Times editorial board). But never has Rockefeller cared less about what New York liberals think of him. It may be too late, but after 15 years, he finally is trying to come to terms with the people who go to Republican conventions to pick the presidential nominee.

Big demand for horseshoers

Frontier skill is alive and kicking

By PHYLLIS CANNON
P-B Staff Writer

INDUSTRY — Will the energy crisis bring back the horse?

Perhaps.

But in the opinion of administrators at Valley Vocational Center, where 40 men and women are enrolled in a horseshoeing class, the animal never left the scene.

"We have the only public, adult horseshoeing school in the country," said Ben Murphy, vocational supervisor at the center. "People in this trade are in demand. There are more horses in California than there are in Texas.

"It isn't so much that they are used for work or for transportation, horses are a super-booming recreational activity."

The 12-month class, taught at center facilities at 15359 E. Proctor Ave. and at the Ellsworth Ranch in Chino, was started 2½ years ago by public demand.

"There is a need for people with these skills" said Charlie Halleran, 53, Ontario, the instructor. "Everyone who owns a horse wants to make sure he gets a good job for his animal. A lot of people who own horses want to take care of them themselves.

"This is a wide-open field for someone wanting to learn a trade. A good horseshoer can make a good living. If a man will give me a year of his life, I'll give him a trade which will support him the rest of his life."

Many of those who enroll in Halleran's class start picking up work in their new trade after six months training, "depending on how many hours they want to work and how much effort they want to expend," he explained.

One of his students is Brian Kerry of Pomona. "I'm good for the duration of the 12 months," said Kerry, a dispatcher for a Santa Fe Springs trucking firm. "I want to learn the trade and get away from the hustle." Kerry enrolled 2½ months ago.

"It's really an old trade," said Murphy, "but it has a new and bright future. The number of people keeping horses is increasing. A horse's hooves must be groomed each six to 10 weeks.

"There really are not enough farriers to go around. Many persons wanting to have their horses shod have to wait several weeks. Demand is good throughout the country."

The trade requires that a person know how to handle horses and work well with people, according to Halleran. "And it's physically quite demanding," he said.

Halleran teaches anatomy of the horse with emphasis on feet and legs because, as he explains, "without good legs and feet you haven't got a horse."

Two other facets of the trade he covers are psychology of horses and customer relations.

The class operates on an open enrollment basis. Anyone 18 or older may enroll at any time. The cost is $29 a semester.

Anyone interested in obtaining additional information on the horseshoeing class may contact Halleran or Murphy at 213 968-4638.

FIRST YOU CLEAN HOOF BOTTOM

Jenny Pass of Long Beach, a horse owner interested in learning proper care for her own animals, listens as instructor Charlie Halleran explains procedure. Tools of the trade, a rasp and hoof pick, knife, clippers and pinchers, lay at Halleran's feet. This instruction is given at a Chino ranch.

LEARNING THE TRADE

Brian Kerry of Pomona, a dispatcher for a trucking firm in Santa Fe Springs, enrolled in Valley Vocational Center's 12-month horseshoeing class to learn the trade.

Park group solves fuss over project

WALNUT — Construction of two concession-restroom facilities in Suzanne Park is expected to begin within two weeks following a recent decision by the city Parks and Recreation Commission on the location of the buildings.

The sites of the facilities had created a controversy between a girls' softball group, the Walnut Valley Riders and the commission. One of the "snack shacks" was originally slated to be placed between two softball diamonds under construction at the park's north end, and the other near the park's Little League diamonds.

The facility between the softball fields was protested by the girls' group because it would interfere with play on the field, and was protested by the riding group, which felt it should be located nearer the park's horse rings.

A compromise temporary facility, proposed by the commission, was vetoed by the City Council and the matter was referred back to the commission for its consideration Wednesday night.

Terry James, assistant city manager, said the commission decided to retain the original sites, except that the facility between the softball diamonds would be moved four and one half feet south so that it would encroach less into the play area.

The two facilities will cost the city about $25,000 and be built, primarily, with the volunteer labor of the baseball groups. Completion is expected before the start of the next baseball season.

County awards contract

Fullerton Rd. work due

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — The Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors has awarded a $199,152 contract to F. W. Richter of Sierrra Madre to improve Fullerton Road between Aguiro Street and Pathfinder Road in Rowland Heights.

Six bids were received on the project, ranging from a high of $297,454. Richter's was the low bid.

The work will consist of constructing pavement and drainage facilities to provide a two-lane interim paved roadway on a new alignment.

In addition, a concrete culvert will be built at Fullerton Channel to replace the existing pipe, and a concrete retaining wall will be built to protect the existing water tank reservoirs at the westerly side of the roadway.

Peter Schabarum, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, said this work is a phase of an overall project planned by the road department along a 1.6-mile section of Fullerton Road from Colima Road to Pathfinder Road to provide a multilane curbed highway with a daily traffic capacity for 26,000 vehicles.

This portion of Fullerton Road was improved in 1970 and improvements at Skyline Drive were completed this year.

During the progress of this work, which is slated for completion in April of 1974, access will be provided by the contractor who will place all necessary signs and barricades.

One lane for traffic in each direction will be maintained on Fullerton Road, except during placement of the drainage facilities and the construction of a detour.

At that time traffic may have to be reduced to one traffic lane between 9 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. controlled by a flagman.

Hearing set on Diamond Bar underground utility district

LOS ANGELES — A public hearing will be held Dec. 20 on the proposed formation of the Golden Springs Drive-Grand Avenue Underground Utility District in the Diamond Bar area.

Peter Schabarum, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, said the hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m. in Room 381 of the Hall of Administration at 500 W. Temple St.

Schabarum said the county road department has proposed the removal of existing overhead electric poles and wires along Golden Springs Drive from Grand Avenue to Torito Lane, and on Grand Avenue from the Pomona-Orange freeways to Golden Springs Drive. The lines would be placed underground.

Schabarum said undergrounding of the utilities will eliminate the existing "unsightly poles and wires" and "enhance the appearnce of the neighborhood."

All four are working with the children in the cast preparing for their play which will be performed at the Suzanne Intermediate School in Walnut Dec. 20, and at 7:30 p.m.

Walnut receives trash proposals

WALNUT — The City Council met in a study session this week at Walnut High School to consider proposals by three trash disposal companies seeking an exclusive pact with the city. No action was taken.

City Manager Andy Lazzaretto said the council looked over the proposals of Consolidated Disposal Service of Santa Fe Springs, the C-V Disposal Service also of Santa Fe Springs, and the Griffith Disposal Co. of La Puente.

Fees for pickups at individual residences in the city range from a low of $2.10 to a high of $2.50 per month, under the proposals.

Following examination of the proposals, said Lazzaretto, the council requested the firms provide additional information on services and costs.

The council did not set a date for further consideration of the matter.

Czech astronomer

Comet discoverer regrets ballyhoo

BONN (UPI) — The young Czech astronomer who discovered Kohoutek's Comet regrets all the ballyhoo, but still thinks his find will rival Halley's when it blazes through the skies next month.

"I'm really sorry people over-estimated this thing," Lubos Kohoutek said Wednesday in a telephone interview from his Hamburg Observatory workshop. "I hope it will not be a big disappointment and I hope people will understand that it's difficult to make exact forecasts of such things."

Kohoutek, 38, a recent emigre from Czechoslovakia, discovered Comet 1937F—Kohoutek's Comet—by accident last March while scanning the heavens for other things.

"It is always very difficult to say exactly what magnitude a comet will reach," he said "But I expect this one will achieve the same or greater brightness than Halley's Comet—but not 50 times as bright as Halley's as some scientists and journalists were predicting."

Soon after Kohoutek's discovery, other astronomers tracked it and predicted the world could expect another Halley's Comet or better by Christmas. That generated an avalanche of newspaper headlines about "The Christmas Comet" and "The Comet of the Century."

Halley's Comet was so bright it scared the wits out of the ancients and was held responsible for the Black Plague and other dreadful events. It was last seen in 1910.

It was supposed to streak into naked-eye view sometime in November, but so far even scientists with telescopes have had trouble finding it and the headlines have shifted to such as, "Where on Earth is the Comet Kohoutek?"

Kohoutek began star-gazing through a homemade telescope made of old spectacle lenses as a boy of 14 in Zabreh, Czechoslovakia. He has discovered three comets and 50 asteroids.

He predicted his comet would "achieve its maximum observable brightness between Jan. 2 or 3 and Jan. 15, with perhaps a brilliance comparable to the star Vega or the planet Jupiter."

Geographic centers

A point near Lebanon, Kan., is the geographic center of the 48 states, but a point near Castle Rock, S.D., is the center counting Alaska and Hawaii.

Californians warned against lure of Alaska jobs

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Californians thinking of heading north to work on the Alaskan pipeline were warned today they could be taken by unscrupulous employment firms and find themselves stranded in the nation's largest state.

Richard Dewalt, chief of the California Bureau of Employment Agencies, said "despite congressional approval, work has not started on the pipeline.

"There are no jobs available now and it is unlikely there will be a need for others to join those already in Alaska when construction commences," he added.

DeWalt warned applicants responding to employment promises of Alaska jobs "to make every effort to determine the legitimacy of the firm and report any suspicious operations to the bureau.

Couture touch

Home seamstresses can give their clothes the couture touch with a meshed metal chain of flat links which helps make jackets or coats hang better. The chain is placed at the lower hem edge within the hem of the garment. The number of chains needed may be one, two or more, depending on the style. The weight, used the same way, also helps perfect the hang of draperies. The product is dry-cleanable and rust-resistant.

Pine cones used in decorating

Line a cookie sheet with aluminum foil and spread the cones on this. Put them in a warm oven (not more than 200 degrees F.) for an hour. The pitch will melt onto the foil. Old cones saved from year to year don't need this treatment. They are dried out.

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you plan to use fresh pine cones in holiday decorations, dry them out first or you may find that their sticky juice will ruin table linens or furniture. The juice is called pitch.

Flournoy reconsiders sale of 'royalty' oil

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — State Controller Houston Flournoy, chairman of the state Lands Commission, today agreed to reconsider sale of state-owned "royalty" oil to independent oil companies.

Flournoy, a Republican gubernatorial candidate, had been urged by legislators to allocate the oil instead to state and local government agencies who are experiencing difficulty in obtaining fuel supplies.

He ordered an "immediate review" of the legal and economic aspects of pulling back proposed contracts worth $9 million to the state and allocating the oil to government use.

Involved is the proposed sale over the next three years of about 7,000 barrels a day "royalty" oil from state-owned tidelands to small, independent oil companies. The high bids approved Nov. 29 by the commission averaged $1.11 a barrel over the posted price of about $3.25 for the "royalty" oil.

Flournoy said the proposed contracts with the independents represented an "excellent" price to the state but that the federal government is also "very much involved" in the issue.

The review, he said, will consider "the desirability of an action that puts the state in a preferred position for fuel supplies as compared to the general public."

He said there is an extra 3,000 barrels of royalty oil a day that was not bid upon which could "potentially be reserved for emergency utilization by the state."

But he said he didn't want to see "routine operations" of state government "placed on a higher priority than the needs of the general public."

One legislator, Assemblyman Ken Meade, D-Oakland, urged Flournoy not to put the contracts into effect.

"The question now is whether the state should sell its crude oil royalty at any price," Meade said. "Cities, counties, public transit systems, public utilities and even the state itself are unable to find adequate supplies of fuel in the traditional marketplace."

For Saturday, Dec. 8

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Let your heart rule your head today where your generosity is involved. Be kind rather than too logical in helping one who needs you now.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Through your ideas and another's represent divergent points of view, yield. Make concessions now so your relationship will remain stable.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone will ask you to do them a favor today. At first you may refuse. Upon second thought the nicer you will come through.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you will inadvertently say something that will upset a pal. Be sure to apologize promptly so hard feelings won't ensue.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You have two close companions: one talks a lot, performs little; the other always comes through. Give your support to the doer at this time.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You will need some mental diversion today. Get your mind off everything. Devote some time to a hobby or creative pursuit.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You will have to keep a tight rein on your purse at this time. Before buying something, be sure present obligations are taken care of.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It would be wise for you not to jump to conclusions today. Wait till you have the complete picture—it will save you an apology later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Early in the day you won't be too productive. Don't saddle yourself with disagreeable chores at that time. Toward afternoon you're much more industrious.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19) If you have social appointments today try to schedule them toward evening. You'll be more related and able to enjoy the company of others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) One of your family will have her feelings hurt today by thoughtless remarks of an outsider. She'll require some soothing from you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You'll be quite sensitive today to comments regarding you. Hold your replies. After you think them over you'll realize no offense was intended.

Your Birthday Dec. 8

You will become involved in some new creative interests this year. They'll afford you much enjoyment. Aside from the pleasureable aspects, they will be profitable as well.

TAKE A GIANT step would appear to be the name of this game. A workman installs baffles of wood inside the cooling tower of a nuclear power station under construction at Port Clinton, Ohio. Cooling water will flow over the baffles to carry off heat created when the plant begins operating in 1975.

Telephone co. installing new fire protection

Fire protection systems, superior to any used in the past, are now being installed in 74 General Telephone office buildings including those in Pomona, Claremont, Chino and Walnut.

Pomona Division manager Bill McNee said that in addition to providing greater safety, the advanced systems enable General Telephone to obtain adequate insurance for its central offices at a reduced rate.

The doctor comments

Numerous medicines are 2-edged swords

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have read several times that aspirin may cause bleeding of the stomach. I would like to know how one would know if this takes place. I take aspirin about three times during a 24-hour period. It is the only way I find relief of aching knees. I get faster relief if I take them between meals, rather than with food. Yet, I'm told this is wrong, that food of some sort should be taken along with the pills. Please advise.

DEAR READER — Yes, aspirin can irritate the lining of the stomach and actually burn a small hole. If the irritation is large enough, it can cause bleeding. Other than the indigestion type symptoms some people have from taking aspirin, you would not notice anything. These symptoms do not mean bleeding either. From the small amount of bleeding that usually occurs you couldn't tell it. Larger amounts might reveal traces of blood on examinations by your doctor. Or, the doctor could see the burned spots by using a special instrument to look inside the stomach. I doubt you are planning on that procedure.

If a large amount of bleeding occurred, then you would have findings of severe internal bleeding, which would include weakness and even shock-like reactions.

The point most people do not recognize about almost all medicines is that they are two-edged swords. They can help, but they can also harm. That is why the amount and taking your medicine exactly as your doctor prescribes it is so important. This isn't limited to medicines. Most of the things we need in life can be harmful in excess amounts. Oxygen is a typical example. Too much oxygen can cause oxygen poisoning and even death.

You should take something just before or with aspirin to help protect that stomach lining. A glass of milk will help, or a bit of cottage cheese. It should be more than a glass of water or ordinary liquids, though, because many liquids go right through the stomach and won't offer much protection for this problem.

Yes, you are probably right that you get faster relief when you take aspirin between meals without food. The aspirin is more likely to be dissolved and emptied immediately into the small intestine in this state. Then, it is rapidly absorbed into the bloodstream. Almost all medicines are most rapidly absorbed on an empty stomach. You will get a longer and more sustained action, though, when it is taken with food, simply because the absorption process is slowed down and leveled out.

I don't think people should become unnecessarily alarmed about the effects of aspirin in causing stomach irritation and bleeding. It is a good medicine and many people really need it for control of pain of arthritis and other conditions. I do not approve of aspirin popping, though, without a good reason. And, no one should be a habitual aspirin taker without their doctor's approval. A persistent problem that justifies regular aspirin also is important enough for the doctor's attention.

Van Norman found sane in murder of couple

SAN BERNARDINO — Thomas E. Van Norman, 22, Wednesday was found sane by a San Bernardino County Superior Court jury, which earlier found him guilty of first degree murder in the brutal killing of a hitchhiking West End couple in the desert near Victorville.

Judge Richard C. Garner ordered Van Norman to appear for sentencing Dec. 21. He denied motions for a new trial for a reduction of the degree of murder, and immediate sentencing.

Van Norman, a George Air Force Base sergeant was charged with murdering John W. Bell, 18, of Ontario and Kathleen Marie Heron, 17, of Cucamonga following a week-long jury trial.

The same Superior Court Jury that found Van Norman guilty of murder Tuesday went on to hear testimony in the sanity phase of Van Norman's trial Wednesday. Van Norman had pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity to the killings.

In presenting the sanity phase portion of the case, Deputy Dist. Atty. Louis Glazier and Van Norman's defense attorney, Jack Luoma, stipulated that five different psychiatrists who examined the defendant if called to testify, would find Van Norman was sane at the time of the murders and that there was an element of malice in the crime.

Luoma stated during the trial that his client could remember most of the events surrounding the deaths of the couple, but not of the actual shooting and stabbing of the victims.

The prosecution alleged that Van Norman picked up the West End couple while they were hitchhiking to Las Vegas to get married. Van Norman stopped the car and pulled off the highway onto the desert.

The prosecution believes that Van Norman then beat Bell over the head with a shovel and raped Miss Herron. Van Norman then shot and stabbed Bell to death after he recovered consciousness.

The prosecution presented a county pathologists testimony that showed Miss Herron was shot and stabbed and then buried, still alive, in a shallow grave. Miss Herron died of suffocation.

The defense claimed that Bell had pulled a knife on Van Norman, and that Van Norman beat Bell with a shovel in self-defense.

Ganesha in U-M finals

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

MONTCLAIR — As expected, Ganesha High will battle for the championship of the Upland-Montclair Tournament tonight at Upland High.

But the road to the final showdown wasn't easy.

The Giants, who were the favorites at Montclair this week, came out on top for the second year in a row Thursday night.

Now they need just one more victory against Azusa at 8:30 p.m. tonight at Upland to claim their first ever U-M Tourney championship.

Coach Gary Fulkerson's quintet almost didn't make it to the championship game, though.

The Giants had to struggle through a tough defensive game Thursday night against Northview before finally coming away with a 69-57 victory over the Vikings.

"They (Northview) made us play their kind of game," stated Fulkerson after the victory. "He (Northview coach Ron Rice) dictated the game. I don't know how he did it though. We weren't able to move the ball at all. We played a good defensive game and a pretty good offensive game, but we couldn't run. They were able to slow the game down even when WE had the ball."

LOCAL - NATIONAL
Sports

This is the second consecutive year Ganesha has reached the finals. Last year the Giants met eventual tournament champion Garey and could only claim the runnerup trophy, 82-63.

There are four other valley teams competing today in the final round. Claremont clipped Montclair, 72-59, to reach the finals for fifth place against Garey at 3:15 p.m. today at Upland.

At 4:45 p.m. today, Upland battles Northview for the third place championship.

Tonight at 7 p.m., Pomona will face Alta Loma, a slim 65-63 winner over Eisenhower Thursday.

All the games today are at Upland.

Ganesha looked like it was going to go on one its scoring rampages again when the Giants reeled off an 18-4 lead just before the end of the first quarter.

The 18-point effort was a little short of what the Giants usually totaled by the end of the first eight minutes, but the six points they allowed was far less than what they usually gave up.

Ganesha played a spirited defensive game for the whole 32 minutes, but the offense just couldn't explode after the first few minutes.

Only 30 seconds into the second quarter, Ganesha had built up a 15-point lead over the Vikings, 21-6, but then Northview found the range.

After hitting only 42 per cent from the floor in the first quarter, the Vikings blistered the nets in the second quarter—finishing the eight-minute period with a shooting percentage of 57 per cent.

Ganesha was outscored in the second quarter by a 22-19 margin and held 37-28 cushion at halftime.

But before the half had ended, Giant forward Broderick Hunter, who finished the night as the game's highest scorer with 23 points, picked up his third foul.

With only two minutes and 15 seconds remaining in the half, Northview had Ganesha's lead cut to seven points, 27-20. Then the Giant offense was able to run for a short time and opened up the spread to 13 points with 1:10 showing on the clock. A pair of free throws and a field goal put Northview back in striking distance again before the buzzer sounded.

Ganesha's offensive woes continued through the third quarter, where the Giants shot only 36 per cent from the floor and collected only 11 points to Northview's 13. But then Hunter went wild and scored 11 of his 23 points in the fourth quarter.

Northview had cut the Ganesha lead to five, 57-52 with only 3:15 remaining in the game, and the Vikings weren't about to let go. It was Hunter's heroics to put Ganesha out ahead to far enough to win.

The 6-4, 185 all-tournament candidate, who has now scored 64 points in the three tournament games, also pulled down 16 rebounds for Ganesha.

Giant center Cleve Porter was the second-leading scorer in the game with 22 points, while also grabbing 15 rebounds.

Guard Earl Wilson was the only other Giant in double figures with 14 points. In fact, only the five starters for Ganehsa got into the scoring column.

Northview's leading scorers were guard Bob Bishop with 14 points and guard Greg Smoyer with 18.

Claremont hit its first four field goals of the game against Montclair, but the Cavaliers were almost able to match it. Montclair pumped in its first three shots of the contest to make the game look like an eventual high-scoring battle.

But Montclair's only lead came early when the Cavs led the Wolfpack by a 6-4 margin. One more field goal by Claremont and a three-point play by Wolfpack guard Todd Ervin put Claremont ahead to stay.

After Claremont took its 9-6 lead in the first period, Montclair couldn't get any closer than one point—that coming at the end of the quarter when Montclair guard Tony Esquibel bucketed a field goal just before the buzzer. Claremont led by a 15-14 margin at that point. But then two Montclair turnovers gave Claremont the opportunity to pull away, and the "Pack did just that.

Claremont held a 12-point lead midway through the second period, only to see Montclair come charging back to trim the lead to only four with 1:30 left in the half.

Claremont then scored the next six points to lead at halftime, 40-30.

COMMAND OF SITUATION

Ganesha High's Cleve Porter (40) clearly has command in Giants' win over Northview in Upland-Montclair Tournament.

Azusa stops Upland rally in semifinals

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

UPLAND — Azusa High will meet Ganesha for the championship of the 14th Annual Upland-Montclair Basketball Tournament tonight at 8:30 p.m. at Upland High.

Pomona will tangle with Alta Loma for the consolation title at 7 p.m. Upland and Northview will vie for third place at 4:45 p.m. with the battle for fifth place between Garey and Claremont having been played at 3:15 p.m.

Azusa earned the right to meet Ganesha for the title by virtue of staving off a late Upland rally. Azusa was held to just 21 points in the second half by an aggressive Upland defense but held on to nip the Scots, 63-60, Thursday night.

Pomona moved into the consolation title picture by posting an easy 81-65 win over Gladstone, while Garey routed Corona 79-60 to advance to tonight's game.

In the most exciting game of the evening, Upland fought back from a 42-24 halftime deficit to put the scare into the Aztecs from Azusa.

Entering the final quarter and still trailing 52-42, Curt Oldenkamp got the Scots rolling with a driving layup. However, he was charged with an offensive foul after the shot, his fifth, to force him to depart from the game with 13 points.

Upland followed that effort with six more points before Larry White sank a pair of free throws to break Azusa's fourth period scoreless draught with 5:35 to play.

Trailing by six, 60-56, Mike Matusewicz drove in for a layup and moments later added a pair of free throws to cut the deficit to 60-48, when he was fouled by Sukie Melgoza (his fifth of the game).

White's two free throws with 1:31 to play gave the Aztecs a four-point lead. Upland countered on Bryan Hutton's half court pass to Stu DuVall, under the basket, made it 62-60 with 16 seconds left.

The Scots got the ball back, out of bounds at midcourt, with 12 seconds left. Matusewicz drove under the hoop on the right side, leaped up and with anguish on his face, watched the ball bound off the rim to the left. Azusa's Fred Davis grabbed the loose ball and was fouled with three seconds left. Davis made one to give Azusa its 63-60 win.

Azusa utilized its height advantage, the starting quintet averaged 6-feet-3½, and displayed an outstanding team game in jumping to a 14-4 first quarter lead.

Center Mike Ayers (6-8) scored six points in the period to get the Aztecs rolling. The Scots, playing individual basketball (for most of the game), hit on just two field goals as they were unable to penetrate the Aztec defense.

Azusa outscored the Highlanders 8-2 in the early minutes of the second quarter but the Scots went on a spree, outscoring the Aztecs 10-4 to trail 26-14 with 3:46 left in the half.

Forward Mike Jantz led all scorers in the first half with 14 points while Melgoza added 10. He had scored 12 when he fouled out in the final stanza. The Aztecs shot a torrid 60 per cent in the first two stanzas, connecting on 18 of 30 shots.

Upland's defense dominated the second half action as DuVall held Jantz to just four points, Ogg checked Davis on five points and Oldenkamp limited Melgoza to just two points.

The Scots outscored Azusa 36-21, in the final half.

Ogg finished with 11 points, DuVall added 15 while Matusewicz scored 13 of his 15 in the second half.

Diamond Bar Don's fund raising caper

Never trust a track coach. Especially if its Don Ruh at Mt. San Antonio College.

In hot pursuit of funds for an all-weather track, Ruh and a number of his colleagues cooked up a scheme which on the surface appeared harmless and inexpensive to an innocent sports writer.

Ruh was going to run for the money—literally—in the Western Hemisphere Marathon, a Sunday jog from Culver City to El Segundo and back—26 miles in all.

"I hope I can make 10," was the hustler's poly Diamond Bar Don used as he went about collecting pledges of a quarter or more for each mile he would run.

Ruh had almost an entire track team assembled to make the run, with each participant gathering pledges which totaled nearly 400 before the big race.

When the results were in it amounted to more than $1,000 towards an all-weather track.

Ruh had to be proud of himself and his stalwarts. Minimum distance run: 10 miles, Ernie Gregoire, administrator and part time assistant track coach. Maximum distance run: all 26 miles, Le Stahl, member of the Mt. San Antonio Relays Committee, and seven members of the MSAC cross country team.

Sixteen miles

And Ruh? Well, Diamond Bar Don didn't make 10 miles. He ran 16. So did John Norton, his assistant; Earl Conn, a Relays Committee vice president; and Walnut City Manager Andy Lazzaretto. Relays committee vice presidents Larry McMillan and Don Tweedy each ran 15 miles.

Ruh even enlisted the support of the ladies.

Phyllis Leslie and Terry McCray, two shapely physical fitness instructors at MSAC, ran 14 miles—each. One of Phyllis' pledges got soaked for $14.

It just goes to show what a little organization and a lot of hustle can do.

Even a sports writer, who had to pop for a modest $4, can appreciate that.

Speaking of hustling

Four-year college recruiters are courting a number of MSAC football players, and especially quarterback Steve Myer, who has San Diego State, Florida State, Idaho State and Utah State interested in his services.

San Diego has plucked other Mounties from the valley in recent years, including Garland Chandler, Herbie Dobbins, Mike Lambert and Claudie Minor, all of whom completed their eligibility there this season.

Minor, a 6-foot-4, 285-pound offensive tackle, prepped at Garey High where he played only infrequently.

"It just goes to show that young athletes ought to keep trying," said a San Diego scout who expects Minor will be a high draft choice when NFL teams make their picks next month.

In two seasons at MSAC, Myer threw passes for 3,643 yards and 29 touchdowns, eclipsing Dennis Shaw, who was a Mountie quarterback in 1967 before moving to San Diego where he achieved national prominance.

Among the recruiters at MSAC this week was Bill Douglass, former head football coach at Garey High who is now an assistant coach at Cal State Long Beach.

Baseball returns to Washington

Padre sale going to court?

HOUSTON (UPI) — Baseball left Washington two years ago with a cloud over its head and when it returns to the nation's capital next April the cloud will still be there.

The National League voted unanimously Thursday to allow grocery store chain owner Joseph Danzansky to move the San Diego Padres cross country to Robert F. Kennedy Stadium in Washington, D.C. Danzansky had bought the Padres from C. Arnholt Smith for $12 million.

It will be the first time in history Washington has had a club in the National League.

After approving the sale and move, the league owners— already the defendants in a $12 million breach of contract suit filed by the city of San Diego— were threatened with an antitrust suit as well.

"I was shocked when I heard of the league's action," said San Diego city attorney John Witt. "I'm confident as I can be in an anti-trust suit we will file against the National League."

Witt was almost as incensed with the idea that a congressional committee would suggest using taxpayers' money to repay the city of San Diego for the financial loss the city suffers when the baseball team moves.

Just as much acrimony arose two years ago when Bob Short uprooted the Washington Senators and moved them to Texas, leaving the city without major league baseball for the first time since 1901.

"I'm very happy for the fans of Washington," Short said Thursday.

The league owners felt they had no choice but to move the team after Smith's attorney, John Holt, surprised them by stating Smith could no longer keep the team.

Despite Smith's allegedly crumbling financial empire, it had been expected he would attempt to keep ownership of the club and that if he did want to keep the club it had been thought the owners would allow him to just keep it in San Diego.

"We are surrounded in a legal thicket, burdened endlessly with suits, and it would not be fair to the sport, the players or baseball if Mr. Smith. continued operating the team," said Holt.

That was that, since the only other alternative the owners had to was to opt in favor of a group headed by racetrack owner Marge Everett which had promised to keep the club where it was.

But Mrs. Evertt was involved in the briberty scandal surrounding former Illinois governor Otto Kerner and apparently never received serious consideration from the owners.

While the Padres were being moved from San Diego, the Los Angeles Dodgers were doing some moving of their own — shipping left pitcher Claude Osteen to Houston in exchange for the Astros' slugging centerfielder Jim Wynn.

The Osteen-for-Wynn trade (Houston also received minor league pitcher David Culpepper) was the biggest swap on the next to last day of baseball's winter meetings. It was the busiest treading day of the session.

Osteen, 34, compiled a 16-11 record last year, while Wynn, 31, had a disappointing season in the leadoff position, batting .220.

In other deals Thursday:

—California traded veteran catcher Jeff Torborg to St. Louis for 24-year old lefthanded pitcher John Andrews.

—The Angels also sent right handed reliever Aurelio Monteagudo and Minor league outfielder Chris Coletta to the Phillies for second baseman Denny Doyle in the completion of a deal which had sent Billy Grabarkowitz from California to Philadelphia last August.

—Detroit dealt righthanded pitcher Mike Strahler to Milwaukee for lefthanded Ray Newman.

—The Chicago Cubs sent catcher Randy Hundley to Minnesota for catcher George Mitterwald.

—And Texas sold shortstop Jim Mason to the NewYork Yankees while purchasing Baltimore Oriole first baseman-outfielder Terry Crowley.

Wynn gives L.A. power

HOUSTON (UPI) — Walt Alston knows sentiment has its place. But it cannot stand in the way when it comes to doing what you think is best for your ball club.

So Claude Osteen, the left hander who has toiled in the major leagues for 16 years and in Los Angeles for the last nine, was traded Thursday to Houston in exchange for Jim Wynn, the Astros 5-9 power hitting outfielder.

"When a player has been such a fine pitcher for us as long as Claude has," said Alston, the Dodgers manager since 1954, "There has to be some sentimentality involved."

"I can't foresee how much this trade will help us. But obviously we would not have made the deal if we didn't think it would do us some good.

"We came into these meetings knowing that we were willing to give him up and we stuck to it."

Wynn has been a major disappointment to Houston for two of the past three seasons, hitting .220 last season with 20 home runs and 55 RBI's. But Alston said the batting averages did not tell Wynn's whole story.

"When you look at his run production and the times he reaches base I would say he has had disappointing years."

The Astros were delighted to have Osteen, who has been a problem for them.

"With our ball park and our defensive infield behind him Claude should win 15 games a year in a breeze and the rest will be gravy," said Astro Vice president Grady Hatton.

"Some people may think I'm through," Osteen said, "but I'm not one of them."

Although he was 16-11 last season, he lost his last five decisions as the Cincinnati Reds caught the Dodgers in the final month to win the National League West.

"I deserved to lose a couple of those games," said Osteen, "but I didn't pitch that badly in the others. People talk about how we blew the lead but Cincinnati's tremendous pace is seldom mentioned. I simply think it was a case of the Reds catching us. After all, we won 95 games."

Osteen, who earned $100,000 last season in his ninth year as a Dodger, has a 133-115 career record and has won 20 games twice.

"I'm very excited about it (the trade)," he continued. "The Astros have solid hitting, an outstanding defense and a manager (Preston Gomez) I respect. It's all up to me. It's a real challenge.

"I hate leaving. I can't say enough good things about the organization. I had the thrill of pitching on a world champion and two pennant winners. I had the opportunity of pitching in the same rotation with Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and Johnny Podres. My pride in being a Dodger will never rub off."

A low ball finesse pitcher, Osteen was asked about playing in the Astrodome at Houston.

"Initially," said the Brea, Calif., resident, "I felt Astroturf would work against me since I like to keep the ball on the ground and Astroturf is such a fast surface.

"But the more I saw of it the more I was inclined to feel otherwise. With my control and that great Houston infield, there shouldn't be any problem pitching on it regularly."

The 6-7 freshman will be playing tonight when the Ducks host Sacramento State. In his first game at Oregon, Ballard grabbed 15 rebounds and scored 11 points. He is one of five outstanding freshmen at Oregon.

Poly seeks first victory

BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

POMONA — Cal Poly's basketball team needs a victory this week-end.

Coach Don Hogan knows it better get the win tonight since there's not much chance Saturday.

The Broncos, 0-2 after dropping both games last weekend in the Pomona Host Lions Club Bronco Classic, are hosting Stanislaus State at Kellogg Gym tonight then head for Tucson, Ariz. Saturday to play the University of Arizona.

Obviously, Poly has a much better chance to win tonight. The tipoff tonight is 8 p.m. There will be no preliminary game.

Like Poly, Stanislaus State is winless this season with an 0-3 record after Thursday night's 92-84 loss at Cal State Northridge on the first stop of this weekend tour.

Arizona is a different story. Under coach Fred Snowden, the Wildcats are 2-1 for the season in trying to maintain their high pre-season rankings.

After last weekend's disappointing start, Hogan is hoping to celebrate his first victory as a head coach tonight. But his team still has many problems to overcome.

Final quarter exams have occupied the players' attention this week with little time to concentrate on basketball.

"I hope they're ready to play," Hogan said, "but it's hard to tell with everything else going on."

Hogan isn't certain who will be in tonight's starting lineup.

"I'm going to be shaking things up," he said. "We got to juggle things until we get the right combination."

Guard Alphonso Adair, who lies to be known as "the Wizard", will defnitely be starting as Hogan was pleased with his play last weekend.

The 5-8 magician from Maryland by way of Trinidad (Colo.) is finally getting a full opportunity to display his talents after riding the bench most of last season under coach Dan Ayala.

Adair is a natural attention getter with his size and quickness as the fans easily respond to him but both Ayala and Hogan have felt he needed more consistency.

"Wizard's play last week was one of our highlights," Hogan said. "According to our statistics, he had seven steals. He just played super."

Center Lee Roy Williams, a 6-foot-9 senior, leads Poly in scoring and rebounding with respective averages of 16.5 and 11.

Stanislaus State, a NAIA District Three member located in Turlock, also has a new coach in Dr. Armin Pipho. He has the task of taking over a club with a 2-24 record last year.

The Warriors opened the season by losing, 79-72, in overtime to Fresno Pacific. Cal State Bakersfield then took an 86-56 win over Stanislaus.

Guard Steve Harris (6-2), a transfer from Nevada Reno, is the Warriors' top scorer with a 21.0 average followed by forward Arthur Shanks (6-5), a former Los Angeles City College star. Stanislaus has some size in 6-9 center Bob Berning.

Hogan knows his team has a much beter chance of entering the victory circle tonight then Saturday. He would like to go to Tucson with one win under his belt.

Arizona may be playing without one of its stars. Guard Eric Money suffered a sprained ankle in Wednesday's non-counting 86-77 win over Athletes in Action. Reserve center Jerome Gladney also suffered a broken nose in the game.

Azusa star takes lead in scoring

Not surprisingly, sensational Azusa Pacific newcomer Rick Reed is the leader in the Progress-Bulletin's first report in the annual scoring derby for four-year colleges.

Reed, a 6-2 forward from San Diego City College by way of Cal Poly SLO, averaged 27.3 points per game while leading the Cougars to a successful defense of their Redlands tournament crown. Reed tied the tournament scoring record with 82 points and was named the Outstanding Player.

Reed is starting off with a big lead over his competitors for the scoring trophy which the P-B awards to the four-year college player in the valley who averages the most points per game over a full season.

Last year's winner, APC's Dennis Vanzant, is not yet back to top form or condition. The 6-9 Vanzant is recovering from a motorcycle accident and is averaging between 10 and 20 minutes playing time per game.

Vanzant averaged 20.5 points per game in winning the title as a junior. He finished third with a 16.5 points per game average two years ago as a sophomore. To date his average is 14.3 good enough for sixth place.

Pomona-Pitzer senior Norm Carter is second. Teammate Brandon Boyd, a freshman, and Cal Poly's Lee Roy Williams are tied for third.

Cal Poly and Claremont-Mudd have the most players, three. The other schools have two each.

La Verne's fine football player, Joe Edmonds is making an auspicious start in basketball and ranks 10th.

Success story

MSAC's Nash develops

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

Gary Nash, Mt. San Antonio's 6-foot-10 center, never played high school basketball.

Head coach Gene Victor discovered the gangly youngster one day two years ago, and it was the start of a success story which is in its final chapter at MSAC this season.

Nash is currently leading the Mounties in scoring and rebounding, averaging 23.9 points and 15 rebounds per game.

In his first season of varsity basketball last year, he averaged about eight points and nine rebounds as a full time starter.

"He's performing very well for us," says assistant coach Ralph Osterkamp. "He still has room for improvement and we look for more. I know that's hard to say after he scores 28 points and gets 18 rebounds."

Those were Nash's totals in Tuesday's game against San Beranrdino.

"You have to say he's certainly performing well," Osterkamp continued. "But the jury is still out on how good he can be and at what level of competition he can play at in the future."

Nash will get his stiffest challenge of the young season tonight when the Mounties host Rio Hondo in a 7:30 p.m. game.

Nash will have to contend with Rio Hondo's 6-foot-8 center Fred Haberecht, who was selected most valuable player at last weekend's Moorpark Invitational Tournament. Haberecht averaged 34.1 points and 17 rebounds in three games to win the honor.

The Roadrunners are 3-1 overall for the season, while the Mounties are struggling with a 2-5 record following Tuesday's 69-63 loss to San Bernardino in overtime.

"That loss set us back a little," said Osterkamp. "But we're making progress. We think it will probably take about two weeks to get untracked."

The Mounties complete the week by visiting Chaffey Saturday night. They open play in the Chaffey Invitational Wednesday against L.A. Harbor.

In one other community college game tonight, Citrus (2-3) hosts the Cal State Fullerton junior varisty.

Cal Baptist's foul shooting proves too much for Stags

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — The Stags of Claremont-Mudd had a foul time of it Thursday night.

It wasn't that they committed that many. It was just that visiting Cal Baptist simply didn't miss at the free throw line.

The Lancers sank 30 of 33 free throws enroute to a 76-68 victory. What was worse was that they made good on 24 of 26 in the second half.

Still, the free throws were not solely responsible for the C-M loss. With the game tied 10-10 five minutes into the first half, the Stags suddenly turned ice cold.

They managed only one bucket by Kevin McCarthy in five minutes. Thereafter they averaged one about every three minutes until the final four minutes of the period.

Down 40-30 at the half, they battled back and finally took a 56-55 lead on Dave Wilhite's basket with 7:52 remaining in the game.

The two teams then traded baskets and the lead with C-M going in front 58-57, 60-57, 62-61, 64-63. The score was knotted at 66-66 and 68-68 before the Lancers went out in front to stay, 70-68 on Steve Johnson's two free throws with 1:29 left.

Johnson sank two more with :52 left when Norm Richards fouled out. In fact, 13 of the last 15 Cal Baptist points came on free throws.

Meanwhile, the Stags were either missing shots or missing the first free throw in a one and one situation. The fouls were just about even, 25 for the visitors to 24 for C-M.

So, too, were the turnovers, 13 for Cal Baptist, 12 for the Stags.

C-M hit on 26 of 67 field goal attempts (38.8 per cent) while Cal Baptist connected on 23 of 58 (39.6 per cent).

The loss negated a great effort by Ray Rotolo. The 6-4 junior came off the bench to score 18 points, 12 in the second half to lead the Stags.

Center Steve Deering, who fouled out with 4:11 left in the game, led all scorers with 19 points.

"We didn't play as well tonight as we did at Redlands," Coach Ted Ducey observed, "especially in the first half. I was pleased the way we came back in the second half, but the breaks just didn't go our way in the last two minutes."

Ducey singled out Rotolo and Willhite for their good work. "Rotolo did a fine job coming off the bench," he said, "and Willhite (10 points) went in and did the things we wanted him to."

The Stags, now 2-2, travel to Pt. Loma in San Diego Saturday night. Cal Baptist now is 4-2 for the season. Center Kevin Finnerty of Chino was slated for examination by Dr. Robert Kurland today and Lancer coach Floyd Evans hopes to have him back next week.

Tonight, Azusa Pacific opens play against the host team in the Cal Poly SLO tourney at San Luis Obispo. Saturday night, Pomona-Pitzer is at Cal Lutheran.

Upland leads SAL polo club

As expected, San Antonio League champion Upland and runnerup Claremont dominated the All-SAL water polo team selections.

The Highlanders placed five men on the first team, while Claremont had the other two selections. Upland players on the first team were Dick Yahne, Vic Miller, Larry Kuhlman, Dennis Miller, and Pete Soelter. Wolfpack players picked were Marcus Miller and Rick Lantz.

Upland and Claremont both placed two men on the second team, while Alta Loma copped the other three places. Uplanders Tim Covert and Marc Accomazo made the second team, while 'Pack members were John Gaylord and Kim Keating. Alta Loma players tabbed were John Lawrence, Ken Watson, and Jeff Della Penna.

Barajas gets KO over Billy Backus

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mexico's hard-punching Zovek Barajas stopped former welterweight champ Billy Backus of Canastota, N.Y., with a severely cut right eye in the third round of a scheduled 10-round fight at the Olympic Auditorium Thursday night.

Barajas, who upset Armando Muniz on a 10-round decision here Oct. 11, started closing Backus' right eye in the first round and opened a cut in the second.

Three inches taller at 5-foot-10 and with a big reach advantage, the 22-year-old welterweight from Sinoloa, Mexico, took a big step toward a title fight.

Suffering his third defeat in four fights this year, the 30year-old Backus all but dropped out of contention for the crown now held by Jose Napoles of Mexico, a title he lifted from Napoles in 1970 for six months.

Barajas weighed 147 and Backus 149 ½.

A 6-5 favorite, the young Mexican fighter improved his record to 28-2 with his 25th knockout. Backus now is 35-14-4.

In a preliminary bout, Venezuelan heavyweight Jose Luis Garcia, making a comeback after suffering three knockouts in the last 13 months, stopped veteran Charley Polite of Holyoke, Mass., in the sixth round.

Referee George Latka halted the scheduled 10-round bout at 2:08 of the sixth with the 25-year-old Garcia, 210, pounding Polite, 225, mercilessly with lefts and rights.

Rough day for Valley prep teams

Local teams saw rough sledding in high school basketball action, as Damien, Webb, and Chaffey all suffered tourney losses.

Damien dropped a 66-62 squeaker to St. Francis in the Bishop Amat Tourney, Flintridge downed Webb 47-32 in the Pasadena Poly Tournament, and Chaffey fell victim to San Gabriel 70-59 in Arroyo Tourney action.

Damien got a sensational 36-point effort from 5'5" guard Bill Karr, but crucial turnovers in the final quarter wrecked the Spartans. St. Francis was led by center Tom Zetlmaier who potted 17 points.

Karr hit on 17 of 24 shots from the floor, most of them from long-range. Fellow guard John Pignotti added 10 points for the Spartans but beyond that there was not much scoring help for Damien.

Damien, who suffered a 63-40 loss to Bishop Amat in the opener of the tourney, is now eliminated from further tournament action.

Not much of anything went right for Webb in their Pasadena Poly opening game. In a low-scoring contest, the Gauls held a 16-13 lead at the half but fell apart in the second stanza and bowed to Flintridge 47-32.

The Gauls committed twice as many fouls as Flintridge, 20 to 10, and never did solve the Highlanders zone defense. John Baer wound up as top Gaul scorer, although he had only eight points and was four-of-20 from the field.

Webb will now meet Rim of the World in a consolation game to start at 3:00 p.m. this afternoon. The game will be played at Pasadena Poly High.

Chaffey suffered a similar fate in the Arroyo Tourney against San Gabriel, as the Tigers were dumped by a 70-59 count.

Sophomore guard Mark McQuaid led all scorers with 19 points, but he fouled out midway through the third period to severely hurt Chaffey's chances of victory.

Chaffey will now meet Alhambra, a narrow 51-50 loser to Edgewood, for third place in the Arroyo Tourney. Tip-off is slated for 6:30 p.m. tonight at Arroyo High.

Devils, Vikings win

Pomona played a team game, except for a few minutes early in the second half, and had little trouble in downing Gladstone.

The Devils played good man-to-man defense and controlled the boards as they moved to a 20-14 first quarter lead. Forward Mike Yarborough grabbed six rebounds and scored 10 points to start coach Ed Taylor's team on the right track toward their second win in four outings.

Pomona scored seven straight points at the outset of the second period to get momentum. The Gladiators had a spree of six points midway through the quarter but the Devils closed the half with six straight to lead 42-27.

Guard Derrick Thomas had four steals and four points in the quarter to spark Pomona. Gladstone's Dave Fritz tossed in seven points.

The teams played fast and loose in the second half with Pomona running well and controlling the boards. Taylor emptied his bench as 10 Devils made the scoring column. Rueban Huntsman, who scored the game winning basket in the 65-63 win over Charter Oak Wednesday, scored 12 in a reserve role. Thomas finished with 12 while Yarborough led the team with 26 points and 15 rebounds.

Fritz took game scoring honors with 29, including nine of 12 from the foul line.

Pomona shot 49.9 per cent on the game (37 of 75) while Gladstone shot a poor 32.9 per cent.

Garey High outscored its much smaller opponents, 40-25, in the second half to notch its semifinal win over Corona.

The Vikings broke a 35-35 deadlock at intermission with a 21-point third quarter. Garey Carpenter and Delbert McDonald scored 10 each as Garey entered the final stanza leading 56-45.

Both temas started sluggish. Corona was unable to penetrate Garey's zone defense. The Vikings ran well but committed eight turnovers in the first quarter.

The Vikings started fast in the second period, outscoring the Panthers 12-2 over a four minute span. Corona retaliated with a 10-2 outburst in the next two minutes.

The lead changed hands four times in the final two minutes with McDonald's layup with six seconds left sending the game into the locker room at the half tied at 35-all.

McDonald, Carpenter and Leverich all tied for game scoring honors with 22 points. Garey's Ashley (Poncho) Thomas tossed in 11.

Garey finished with a 50 per cent effort, connecting on 17 of 34 attempts while the Panthers made just 24 of 74 (32.4 per cent).

Claremont, Garey meet for 5th spot

There wasn't much to the second half.

Claremont had its lead trimmed to only six points halfway through the third quarter, but then exploded and eventually held a 19-point lead at one time during the final period.

Claremont center Bruce Abraham finished the day with 17 points and only five rebounds, while his teammate Ervin capped his day with 10 points.

Montclair center Mark Gosswiller was the game's high scorer with 21 points and nine rebounds.

Sharks' little man outshines big man

By United Press International

The little man stole the big man's thunder Thursday night.

The Los Angeles Sharks entertained all-time hockey great Gordie Howe and the Houston Aeros at Long Beach, Calif., and while Howe was expected to star, it was little Gary Veneruzzo, a 5-foot-8, 165-pounder, who was the night's key figure.

Veneruzzo scored two goals and assisted on two others as the Sharks beat the Aeros 4-3.

The Sharks, who had not beaten Houston in three previous games this season, took a 41 lead at 7:29 of the third period as Veneruzzo popped in a rebound of a Marc Tardif shot on a power play. The Aeros came back to close the final score to one goal on scores by Mark Howe, Gordie's 18-year-old son, and Larry Lund.

Veneruzzo, who led the Sharks in goals scored last season with 45, got his 11th and 12th goals and his 20th, 21st, 22nd and 23rd points. After Mark Howe put Houston in front 1-0 in the second period, the Sharks exploded for goals by Brian McDonald, J.P. LeBlanc and Veneruzzo.

In the only other World Hockey Association action, the Jersey Knights edged the Cleveland Crusaders 3-2 and the Edmonton Oilers nipped the Toronto Toros 4-3.

Norm Ferguson's power play goal midway through the third period rallied the Knights over Cleveland. The Crusaders took a 2-0 lead early in the first period on goals by Jim Wiste and Norm Cournoyer. Late in the first period, Bobby Sheehan scored on a breakaway to keep the Knights close.

Mike Laughton got Jersey's second goal in the second period to tie the game and Ferguson then scored on a power play with Cleveland's Paul Shmyr serving a two-minute penalty.

Jim Harrison scored two goals in the third period, one short-handed and the other with less than two minutes remaining, to give Edmonton the victory over Toronto.

Harrison, the WHA's leading scorer with 38 points, beat Toronto goalie Gilles Gratton with a 15-foot shot at 18:07 of the final period to climax an Edmonton rally. He scored the short-handed goal at 6:07 of the stanza.

Len Lunde and Ross Perkins scored earlier for the Oilers as they won their 12th game in 14 home contests. Wayne Carlton, Guy Trottier and Pat Hicke scored for Toronto.

SMU tries Walton

By United Press International

It's Ira Terrell's turn tomorrow night.

The 6-foot-8 sophomore has the unenviable task of handling Bill Walton, UCLA's two-time All America center, when Southern Methodist takes on the top-ranked Bruins in Los Angeles Saturday night.

Walton is the key man for UCLA as it seeks its 78th consecutive victory after a scare last weekend against Maryland. The Bruins held off a late rally to win 65-64.

Walton has scored 41 points and has taken down 44 rebounds in UCLA's two victories this season but he tired against Maryland last week and the Terps' Len Elmore began to work successfully in the late stages.

SMU is 2-1 and sends out a big front line to challenge the Bruins. Joining Terrell are 6-7 Sammy Hervey and 6-9 Jeff Cummings.

"I don't know anything about Southern Methodist," said UCLA Coach John Wooden, "except that they're favored to win their conference."

In Thursday night action, five ranked teams were in action and all won. Notre Dame (No. 8) ripped Northwestern 98-74, Houston (13) blasted Wabash 119-71, Kansas State (14) downed Texas 71-63, Alabama (17) rolled over Oklahoma State 96-74 and Nevada-Las Vegas beat Stetson 66-50.

John Shumate, Gary Brokaw and Adrian Dantley combined for 72 points as Notre Dame took a lead late in the first half and then rolled over Northwestern. Shumate, who had 30 points, broke a 35-35 tie late in the first half. Brokaw had 22 points and Dantley, a freshman, hit 20 as the Fighting Irish lifted their record to 3-0.

Louis Dunbar's 30 points lifted Houston over Wabash, the Cogars' first victory after two losses. Houston toyed with the smaller Wabash club, hitting 65 per cent of its shots and outrebounding Wabash 59-28.

Lon Kruger had 16 points and Gene McVey 14 before leaving with an ankle injury as Kansas State beat Texas and Alabama, with 6-10 sophomore Leon Douglas hitting all his 22 points in the first half, had little trouble with Oklahoma State. Bobby Florence scored 16 points to give new basketball coach Jerry Tarkanian his first victory of the season as Nevada-Las Vegas beat Stetson.

Elsewhere, Utah, with Tickey Burden and Ty Medley teamming for 45 points, upset Southern California 90-66 and sophomore Phil Sellers' 22 points carried Rutgers to an 8453 rout of Scranton. Greg Boyd, a 5-9 guard, scored 21 points to help DePaul beat Washington State 67-45.

Bulls keep domination over 76ers

By United Press International

At this stage, it's 10 to 1 the Chicago Bulls won't lose a game to the Philadelphia 76ers this season.

Those aren't odds. The figure represents Chicago's won-lost record with the lowly 76ers over the last three seasons.

The Bulls continued their domination over Philadelphia with a 103-98 victory Thursday night, making it two in a row against the 76ers. Chicago won all four of their meetings in 1972-73 and was 4-1 the previous season.

Chet Walker, who is averaging five points above his career 17.1 point mark, scored 27 points and Bob Love added 24 as the Bulls cut Milwaukee's lead to 2½ games in the midwest division of the National Basketball Association.

Chicago, ranked 11th in NBA offense and third in defense, trailed in the first two minutes of the game and allowed Philadelphia a tie later in the contest, but the 76ers couldn't overcome the potent Bulls shooting as Jerry Sloan added 21 points for the winners.

Fred Carter scored a game-high 30 points for Philadelphia as the 76ers lost their 17th game in 26 outings this season.

The Detroit Pistons rallied to edge the Seattle Supersonics, 110-108, in the only other NBA action.

The Pistons, who have now won four in a row, trailed 106-101 with 2:53 remaining but put together two foul shots by Don Adams, five points from Dave Bing and a field goal by Bob Lanier, while Holding the Sonics to two points in the final 3½ minutes.

Bing led the winners and took game honors with 33 points. Spencer Haywood was high for Seattle with 29.

CSLA edges Pepperdine

MALIBU (UPI) — Six-foot-five forward Billy Mallory scored 21 points and grabbed 10 rebounds Thursday night as Cal State Los Angeles edged Pepperdine 63-61.

Billy Williams had 18 points for the Waves, and Chris Thompson scored 16.

Cal State is now 2-2. Pepperdine is winless in two outings.

Trojans hope to regroup after ambush

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A 24-point loss to Utah's Utes hasn't changed Southern California Coach Bob Boyd's mind.

"I'm still very positive about our team," Boyd said Thursday night after his Trojans were walloped 90-66 here. "We're going to win our share of games."

USC acted like it still had its mind on its 100-76 opening season victory over Western Athletic Conference favorite Arizona at Los Angeles last weekend. The Trojans trailed 45-30 at halftime and didn't look like they belonged on the same floor with Utah.

"They beat us in every department," admitted Boyd. "We fumbled the ball all night, we didn't shoot at all and they had seven or eight unmolested layups."

The reason for the Trojans' poor play?

"We were sluggish and maybe it was the altitude," said their coach. "I'm sure, too, we came into the game thinking Utah wasn't as good a team as Arizona."

The Trojans take their 1-1 record to Illinois for a Saturday night game. They're back home the following weekend to play Santa Clara and Arizona State at the Sports Arena.

"We'll have to regroup now," said Boyd, "But I think we can do it. We have a couple of days before our next game and we can use them."

In the Utah game, the winners were led by guards Tickey Burden and Ty Medley, who scored 24 and 21 points, respectively, while Gus Williams paced the Trojans with 15. Reserve Bruce Clark added 10 and Dan Anderson hit nine for USC.

Morgan not talking about UCLA opening

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Athletic Director J. D. Morgan may already know the name of UCLA's next football coach but he's not talking for publication at the moment.

The surprise announcement of the departure of headman Pepper Rodgers to take over at his alma mater Georgia Tech caught Bruin fans by surprise Wednesday but Morgan had an inkling a week ago. It was then that Georgia Tech Athletic Director Bobby Dodd told Morgan he wanted to talk to Rodgers, his old quarterback, about the head coaching job.

Morgan, currently at the Pacific 8 conference meeting in San Francisco, declined comment on a successor to Rodgers who had two good years out of three. He was 2-7-1 his first season, then 8-3 and 9-2 but never could beat the USC Trojans. He got a 7-7 tie in 1971.

Morgan would not have to look far for a man with head coaching experience.

Rodgers' no. 1 assistant and the offensive co-ordinator who installed the Wishbone for the Bruins, was Homer Smith. Smith, 42, a 1954 Princeton graduate, was boss at Davidson College in North Carolina 1965-69 and at the University of Pacific, 1970-71.

Another prospect close at hand is Dick Vermeil, 37, offensive backfield and special teams coach for the Los Angeles Rams. Vermeil served under coach Tommy Prothro at UCLA in 1970.

Prothro, who quit the Bruins and coached the Rams for two seasons before he was fired, says he's not interested in returning to UCLA.

Names thrown by sports writers into the hopper for the UCLA job include Barry Switzer of Oklahoma, Lou Holtz of North Carolina State and Doug Dickey of Florida.

Buffalo Sabre rookie Likes playing rangers

United Press International

Other players might fear playing against the powerful New York Rangers but rookie Rick Dudley of Buffalo seems to savor it.

The young right-winger, who scored his first National Hockey League goal against the Rangers two weeks ago, picked up his first NHL hat trick against them Thursday night as the Sabres whipped New York 8-4. The loss snapped a 10-game New York unbeaten streak.

"That's my lucky team, I guess," Dudley said with a wide grin. "I felt after the first period we were going to beat them. We had a lot more legs than them and when you're skating, you're hard to beat."

In the other two games, Montreal beat the New York Islanders 4-2 and Toronto topped Minnesota 4-1.

Buffalo was down 3-2 after the first period, but Jim Lorentz scored two goals, his ninth and 10th of the season, during a five-goal second period onslaught by Buffalo that gave them a 7-4 lead.

Lorentz also assisted on four of Buffalo's goals to tie Sabres team records for most assists and most points scored in a game.

"We started to play better in the last three or four games," he said. 'I was working hard but nothing was happening. Then things finally started clicking and all kinds of things happened."

Seven of Buffalo's eight goals came off Ed Giacomin, who was replaced by Gilles Villemure in the net after two periods. New York scored three of its four goals against Roger Crozier, who was replaced by Dave Dryden after one period.

Robnett paces Cal Northridge

NORTHRIDGE (UPI) — George Robnett scored 21 points and Reggie Williams added 18 Thursday night to lead Cal State Northridge to a 92-84 win over Stanislaus State.

The win gives Northridge a 21 record. Stanislaus is 0-3.

New Mexico fires Feldman, seeks grid coach

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UPI) — Rudy Feldman was fired Thursday as New Mexico University's football coach.

University President Ferrel Heady said he notified Feldman of his dismissal, effective Jan. 31.

No successor has been chosen and some contractual matters remain to be ironed out between the university and Feldman, who still has three years to go on a five-year contract. Feldman's salary is $25,000 annually.

Feldman said contractual matters were under discussion with school officials. The coach said he has no plans at the present time and declined comment about whether he would be willing to take another job at the school for the remainder of his contract.

In the dismissal letter to Feldman, Heady said, "I regret that we have not been able thus far to reach a mutually satisfactory agreement" on the contract. The university president said he was "requesting the university's legal counsel to continue discussions with you and your counsel on these matters."

Feldman was an assistant coach at Colorado before coming to New Mexico six years ago. His teams have compiled a 24-37-2 record, including a 4-7 mark this season.

Washington State Coach Jim Sweeney was in Albuquerque this week for interviews with university officials about his possible candidacy for the Lobo coaching job. Feldman's chief assistant, Bill Mondt, is also scheduled to be interviewed for the post.

FDA requests consumer aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) asked consumers recently whether they wanted the labels on canned food and vegetables to show what the contents weigh when the liquid is drained off.

The FDA said its own information was too skimpy to make a decision on a Consumers Union petition for the FDA to require such "drained weight" labeling on processed fruits and vegetables.

A spokesman for Consumers Union said he wished the agency had acted sooner on the request but, "We welcome it and we hope consumers will shower the FDA with comments and express their desire for this type of reform."

Progress-Bulletin Home and Garden

Gardener's Checklist

1. Start thinking about a gift for your gardening friend. Plants in bloom, an indoor foliage plant, a book on gardening, or a special gadget are good choices.

2. Geraniums will bloom this winter if you bring them indoors by a sunny window and keep them watered.

3. Select a living Christmas tree this week, while supply is still good. Nurserymen have several varieties to offer.

4. Prepare planting beds for new roses. The 1974 varieties will be in nurseries soon.

5. Special crabgrass controls should be applied this month. Your nurseryman will recommend one.

Cyclamen can color dull winter yard

When looking for something extraordinary for the winter garden, don't overlook cyclamen. These cool season charmers will flower from now into spring. They provide a succession of noticeable color.

Many Californians have suddenly discovered these time-honored plants which once had the reputation for being an indoor delight, or a tender specimen to grow in a lanai or protected patio.

Cyclamen is hardier than many give it credit for being, according to the California Association of Nurserymen. On a frosty morning, for instance, the flowers may hang their heads, but by afternoon they will perk-up and be exquisite as ever.

Nurseries have cyclamen in several different sizes of containers. Pots of the free-flowering plants are charming decorations for indoor rooms. In the garden, cyclamen shines in a variety of situations: several plants massed for effect create a beautiful border. Tuck in a few plants in front of foundation shrubs, or spot several at random throughout the garden, for colorful accents.

The colors available are sure-to-please. The range goes from glistening white to the deepest violet. There are luscious shades of pink, red and lavender, too.

In coastal gardens, cyclamen will take more sun than in the hot inland valleys, where partial shade is recommended. Planting under an overhead eave or tree affords the needed relief from the sun.

PLEASANT PLANTS — Cyclamen can make gardening a fun, and color-filled, winter experience.

Deciduous trees often overlooked

People who overlook deciduous trees and shrubs for highlighting the landscape are missing the boat. Many Californians shun deciduous plants because they do shed their leaves in winter.

However, the bare framework of the tree or shrub often offers focal interest to the garden; the bareness serves as a reminder of seasonal changes in a land of mild climate — where seasons change so little. Also, a deciduous plant's leafing out after a winter's sleep can be a delightful highlight of spring.

There are several flowering deciduous shrubs generally available to Californians, and worthy of consideration. Some do better than others in a given area; your nurseryman can offer recommendations for local conditions.

SMU tries Walton

By United Press International

It's Ira Terrell's turn tomorrow night.

The 6-foot-8 sophomore has the unenviable task of handling Bill Walton, UCLA's two-time All America center, when Southern Methodist takes on the top-ranked Bruins in Los Angeles Saturday night.

Walton is the key man for UCLA as it seeks its 78th consecutive victory after a scare last weekend against Maryland. The Bruins held off a late rally to win 65-64.

Walton has scored 41 points and has taken down 44 rebounds in UCLA's two victories this season but he tired against Maryland last week and the Terps' Len Elmore began to work successfully in the late stages.

SMU is 2-1 and sends out a big front line to challenge the Bruins. Joining Terrell are 6-7 Sammy Hervey and 6-9 Jeff Cummings.

"I don't know anything about Southern Methodist," said UCLA Coach John Wooden, "except that they're favored to win their conference."

In Thursday night action, five ranked teams were in action and all won. Notre Dame (No. 8) ripped Northwestern 98-74, Houston (13) blasted Wabash 119-71, Kansas State (14) downed Texas 71-63, Alabama (17) rolled over Oklahoma State 96-74 and Nevada-Las Vegas beat Stetson 66-50.

John Shumate, Gary Brokaw and Adrian Dantley combined for 72 points as Notre Dame took a lead late in the first half and then rolled over Northwestern. Shumate, who had 30 points, broke a 35-35 tie late in the first half. Brokaw had 22 points and Dantley, a freshman, hit 20 as the Fighting Irish lifted their record to 3-0.

Louis Dunbar's 30 points lifted Houston over Wabash, the Cogars' first victory after two losses. Houston toyed with the smaller Wabash club, hitting 65 per cent of its shots and outrebounding Wabash 59-28.

Lon Kruger had 16 points and Gene McVey 14 before leaving with an ankle injury as Kansas State beat Texas and Alabama, with 6-10 sophomore Leon Douglas hitting all his 22 points in the first half, had little trouble with Oklahoma State. Bobby Florence scored 16 points to give new basketball coach Jerry Tarkanian his first victory of the season as Nevada-Las Vegas beat Stetson.

Elsewhere, Utah, with Tickey Burden and Ty Medley teamming for 45 points, upset Southern California 90-66 and sophomore Phil Sellers' 22 points carried Rutgers to an 8453 rout of Scranton. Greg Boyd, a 5-9 guard, scored 21 points to help DePaul beat Washington State 67-45.

Bulls keep domination over 76ers

By United Press International

At this stage, it's 10 to 1 the Chicago Bulls won't lose a game to the Philadelphia 76ers this season.

Those aren't odds. The figure represents Chicago's won-lost record with the lowly 76ers over the last three seasons.

The Bulls continued their domination over Philadelphia with a 103-98 victory Thursday night, making it two in a row against the 76ers. Chicago won all four of their meetings in 1972-73 and was 4-1 the previous season.

Chet Walker, who is averaging five points above his career 17.1 point mark, scored 27 points and Bob Love added 24 as the Bulls cut Milwaukee's lead to 2½ games in the midwest division of the National Basketball Association.

Chicago, ranked 11th in NBA offense and third in defense, trailed in the first two minutes of the game and allowed Philadelphia a tie later in the contest, but the 76ers couldn't overcome the potent Bulls shooting as Jerry Sloan added 21 points for the winners.

Fred Carter scored a game-high 30 points for Philadelphia as the 76ers lost their 17th game in 26 outings this season.

The Detroit Pistons rallied to edge the Seattle Supersonics, 110-108, in the only other NBA action.

The Pistons, who have now won four in a row, trailed 106-101 with 2:53 remaining but put together two foul shots by Don Adams, five points from Dave Bing and a field goal by Bob Lanier, while Holding the Sonics to two points in the final 3½ minutes.

Bing led the winners and took game honors with 33 points. Spencer Haywood was high for Seattle with 29.

MALIBU (UPI) — Six-foot-five forward Billy Mallory scored 21 points and grabbed 10 rebounds Thursday night as Cal State Los Angeles edged Pepperdine 63-61.

Billy Williams had 18 points for the Waves, and Chris Thompson scored 16.

Cal State is now 2-2. Pepperdine is winless in two outings.

Morgan not talking about UCLA opening

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Athletic Director J. D. Morgan may already know the name of UCLA's next football coach but he's not talking for publication at the moment.

The surprise announcement of the departure of headman Pepper Rodgers to take over at his alma mater Georgia Tech caught Bruin fans by surprise Wednesday but Morgan had an inkling a week ago. It was then that Georgia Tech Athletic Director Bobby Dodd told Morgan he wanted to talk to Rodgers, his old quarterback, about the head coaching job.

Morgan, currently at the Pacific 8 conference meeting in San Francisco, declined comment on a successor to Rodgers who had two good years out of three. He was 2-7-1 his first season, then 8-3 and 9-2 but never could beat the USC Trojans. He got a 7-7 tie in 1971.

Morgan would not have to look far for a man with head coaching experience.

Rodgers' no. 1 assistant and the offensive co-ordinator who installed the Wishbone for the Bruins, was Homer Smith. Smith, 42, a 1954 Princeton graduate, was boss at Davidson College in North Carolina 1965-69 and at the University of Pacific, 1970-71.

Another prospect close at hand is Dick Vermeil, 37, offensive backfield and special teams coach for the Los Angeles Rams. Vermeil served under coach Tommy Prothro at UCLA in 1970.

Prothro, who quit the Bruins and coached the Rams for two seasons before he was fired, says he's not interested in returning to UCLA.

Names thrown by sports writers into the hopper for the UCLA job include Barry Switzer of Oklahoma, Lou Holtz of North Carolina State and Doug Dickey of Florida.

Buffalo Sabre rookie Likes playing rangers

United Press International

Other players might fear playing against the powerful New York Rangers but rookie Rick Dudley of Buffalo seems to savor it.

The young right-winger, who scored his first National Hockey League goal against the Rangers two weeks ago, picked up his first NHL hat trick against them Thursday night as the Sabres whipped New York 8-4. The loss snapped a 10-game New York unbeaten streak.

"That's my lucky team, I guess," Dudley said with a wide grin. "I felt after the first period we were going to beat them. We had a lot more legs than them and when you're skating, you're hard to beat."

In the other two games, Montreal beat the New York Islanders 4-2 and Toronto topped Minnesota 4-1.

Buffalo was down 3-2 after the first period, but Jim Lorentz scored two goals, his ninth and 10th of the season, during a five-goal second period onslaught by Buffalo that gave them a 7-4 lead.

Lorentz also assisted on four of Buffalo's goals to tie Sabres team records for most assists and most points scored in a game.

"We started to play better in the last three or four games," he said. 'I was working hard but nothing was happening. Then things finally started clicking and all kinds of things happened."

Seven of Buffalo's eight goals came off Ed Giacomin, who was replaced by Gilles Villemure in the net after two periods. New York scored three of its four goals against Roger Crozier, who was replaced by Dave Dryden after one period.

Robnett paces Cal Northridge

NORTHRIDGE (UPI) — George Robnett scored 21 points and Reggie Williams added 18 Thursday night to lead Cal State Northridge to a 92-84 win over Stanislaus State.

The win gives Northridge a 21 record. Stanislaus is 0-3.

Trojans hope to regroup after ambush

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A 24-point loss to Utah's Utes hasn't changed Southern California Coach Bob Boyd's mind.

"I'm still very positive about our team," Boyd said Thursday night after his Trojans were walloped 90-66 here. "We're going to win our share of games."

USC acted like it still had its mind on its 100-76 opening season victory over Western Athletic Conference favorite Arizona at Los Angeles last weekend. The Trojans trailed 45-30 at halftime and didn't look like they belonged on the same floor with Utah.

"They beat us in every department," admitted Boyd. "We fumbled the ball all night, we didn't shoot at all and they had seven or eight unmolested layups."

The reason for the Trojans' poor play?

"We were sluggish and maybe it was the altitude," said their coach. "I'm sure, too, we came into the game thinking Utah wasn't as good a team as Arizona."

The Trojans take their 1-1 record to Illinois for a Saturday night game. They're back home the following weekend to play Santa Clara and Arizona State at the Sports Arena.

"We'll have to regroup now," said Boyd, "But I think we can do it. We have a couple of days before our next game and we can use them."

In the Utah game, the winners were led by guards Tickey Burden and Ty Medley, who scored 24 and 21 points, respectively, while Gus Williams paced the Trojans with 15. Reserve Bruce Clark added 10 and Dan Anderson hit nine for USC.

New Mexico fires Feldman, seeks grid coach

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UPI) — Rudy Feldman was fired Thursday as New Mexico University's football coach.

University President Ferrel Heady said he notified Feldman of his dismissal, effective Jan. 31.

No successor has been chosen and some contractual matters remain to be ironed out between the university and Feldman, who still has three years to go on a five-year contract. Feldman's salary is $25,000 annually.

Feldman said contractual matters were under discussion with school officials. The coach said he has no plans at the present time and declined comment about whether he would be willing to take another job at the school for the remainder of his contract.

In the dismissal letter to Feldman, Heady said, "I regret that we have not been able thus far to reach a mutually satisfactory agreement" on the contract. The university president said he was "requesting the university's legal counsel to continue discussions with you and your counsel on these matters."

Feldman was an assistant coach at Colorado before coming to New Mexico six years ago. His teams have compiled a 24-37-2 record, including a 4-7 mark this season.

Washington State Coach Jim Sweeney was in Albuquerque this week for interviews with university officials about his possible candidacy for the Lobo coaching job. Feldman's chief assistant, Bill Mondt, is also scheduled to be interviewed for the post.

FDA requests consumer aid

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) asked consumers recently whether they wanted the labels on canned food and vegetables to show what the contents weigh when the liquid is drained off.

The FDA said its own information was too skimpy to make a decision on a Consumers Union petition for the FDA to require such "drained weight" labeling on processed fruits and vegetables.

A spokesman for Consumers Union said he wished the agency had acted sooner on the request but, "We welcome it and we hope consumers will shower the FDA with comments and express their desire for this type of reform."

Cyclamen can color dull winter yard

When looking for something extraordinary for the winter garden, don't overlook cyclamen. These cool season charmers will flower from now into spring. They provide a succession of noticeable color.

Many Californians have suddenly discovered these time-honored plants which once had the reputation for being an indoor delight, or a tender specimen to grow in a lanai or protected patio.

Cyclamen is hardier than many give it credit for being, according to the California Association of Nurserymen. On a frosty morning, for instance, the flowers may hang their heads, but by afternoon they will perk-up and be exquisite as ever.

Nurseries have cyclamen in several different sizes of containers. Pots of the free-flowering plants are charming decorations for indoor rooms. In the garden, cyclamen shines in a variety of situations: several plants massed for effect create a beautiful border. Tuck in a few plants in front of foundation shrubs, or spot several at random throughout the garden, for colorful accents.

The colors available are sure-to-please. The range goes from glistening white to the deepest violet. There are luscious shades of pink, red and lavender, too.

In coastal gardens, cyclamen will take more sun than in the hot inland valleys, where partial shade is recommended. Planting under an overhead eave or tree affords the needed relief from the sun.

PLEASANT PLANTS — Cyclamen can make gardening a fun, and color-filled, winter experience.

Gardener's Checklist

1. Start thinking about a gift for your gardening friend. Plants in bloom, an indoor foliage plant, a book on gardening, or a special gadget are good choices.

2. Geraniums will bloom this winter if you bring them indoors by a sunny window and keep them watered.

3. Select a living Christmas tree this week, while supply is still good. Nurserymen have several varieties to offer.

4. Prepare planting beds for new roses. The 1974 varieties will be in nurseries soon.

5. Special crabgrass controls should be applied this month. Your nurseryman will recommend one.

Deciduous trees often overlooked

People who overlook deciduous trees and shrubs for highlighting the landscape are missing the boat. Many Californians shun deciduous plants because they do shed their leaves in winter.

However, the bare framework of the tree or shrub often offers focal interest to the garden; the bareness serves as a reminder of seasonal changes in a land of mild climate — where seasons change so little. Also, a deciduous plant's leafing out after a winter's sleep can be a delightful highlight of spring.

There are several flowering deciduous shrubs generally available to Californians, and worthy of consideration. Some do better than others in a given area; your nurseryman can offer recommendations for local conditions.

Scripps to hold annual Music Day

CLAREMONT — Scripps College will hold its annual Music Day for high school students, parents and teachers starting at 9 a.m. Saturday.

The program, sponsored by the music faculty, is expected to draw groups from all over California, Oregon and Arizona.

From 9 a.m. to noon students will tour the campus, be auditioned if they wish, and talk to Scripps Admission Counselors. After lunch there will be a discussion with the Scripps music faculty — composer Gail Kubik, pianists Alice Shapiro, Audrey Grigsby and Natalie Tillotson, singer Val Stuart, Concert Choir director John M. Lilley, music historian William C. Lengenfeld and Collegium Musicum lecturer Shirley Robbins. In addition, they may visit rehearsals of the Collegium and of the Concert Choir of Claremont Men's, Harvey Mudd, Pitzer and Scripps colleges.

The day will conclude with a scholarship benefit recital by violinist Yukiko Kamei accompanied by pianist Doris Stevenson. A Scripps alumna, Miss Kamei will perform at 3 p.m. in the Humanities Center Auditorium. A reception will follow.

Recording stars slated at Swing

SAN BERNARDINO — The fast-rising Loggins and Messina will appear in concert at the Swing Auditorium Dec. 16 at 8 p.m.

Jim Messina first gained attention for his work with the Buffalo Springfield. He went on to play a crucial role in evolving the Poco sound with Richie Furay. After leaving Poco, Messina returned to producing, where he had started before joining Springfield.

Ken Loggins wrote "House at Pooh Corner" for the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band and signed with Columbia as a solo artist. His producer turned out to be Messina, who was so attracted to Loggins' music that he wound up "Sittin' In," the title of their subsequent joint album.

Matthau, Lemmon team up—again

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jack Lemmon and Walter Matthau will co-star for the third time in a remake of "The Front Page," the 1931 Ben Hecht classic which starred Adolph Menjou and Pat O'Brien.

It reflects an obsessive compulsion on Lemmon's part to be overshadowed.

In 1966 Lemmon and Matthau starred in "The Fortune Cookie." Matthau won the critics' praise and an Academy Award.

Two years later they got together in "The Odd Couple." Again Matthau galloped away with the picture. A couple of years ago Lemmon directed Matthau in "Kotch" and Walter was an Oscar prospect once again.

"I get top billing in 'The Front Page' and Walter will steal the picture," Lemmon said happily.

The actors are close friends. They form a mutual admiration society unlike any other in Hollywood. While most male stars fight for billing, close-ups and sometimes even for the leading lady, Matthau and Lemmon could care less.

They will be working for director Billy Wilder who also directed "The Fortune Cookie."

"Walter and I have been looking for another script to do together since 'The Odd Couple,'" Lemmon said. "But it isn't easy to find two good parts that would enable us to use our personal relationship.

"Our affinity for one another evidently shows through on the screen. If two performers have love and respect for each other it is felt by the audience.

"It's difficult to develop the kind of relationship Walter and I have on the screen when I'm working with a total stranger. But we see one another all the time. It makes every scene easier for us to play."

Lemmon, currently starring with Anne Bancroft in "The Prisoner of Second Avenue" at Warner Bros., is as rich in his praise of the actress as he is in his admiration for Matthau.

"Walter is the best actor I've ever worked with," he said. "But I don't think his talent has been fully tapped. I've never seen an actor more professional in his conduct or in control of his craft.

"I envy the ease with which he acts. I find the acting process more difficult. He's not depending on sheer technique. He does all kinds of things fully and immediately."

When it came time for contractual agreements on the billing for "The Front Page" Matthau was as fully established a star as Lemmon.

They share the same agent.

'Cutting in' not polite in Europe

NEW YORK (UPI) — The custom of "cutting in" originated in crowded ballrooms and somehow found its way even into polite society. Quite generally accepted in America, it is considered far from polite in Europe.

Sponsors losing grip on TV broadcasts

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Sponsors are not as personally identified with specific television shows as they used to be, and that's both good and bad.

It's good because backward sponsors no longer have as much power to strangle the creative elements in a program or series. But it's bad because enlightened advertisers who were identified with certain shows generally had more power than nowadays to tell meddling network executives to go fly a kite.

Overall, considering the mentality of most advertisers, it's probably more good than bad that sponsors generally don't control individual broadcasts as much as they did.

Certain sponsors, usually enlightened ones, maintain a close identification with network programs they back entirely on their own. The Hallmark firm, of course, is one. Its periodic series of NBC-TV specials, the "Hallmark Hall of Fame," has distinguished itself for years, and done the firm nothing but good.

Every so often, an advertiser that backs a show fully will also do itself—and the public— some good by taking a particularly enlightened attitude in its style and restraint in the use of commercials.

For example, when ABC-TV's new production of Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" is presented Dec. 16 with Katharine Hepburn, the sponsoring IBM Corp. will, according to the network, interrupt it "only once for commercials."

Says ABC-TV: "IBM has scheduled the commercial 'intermission' at the point which marked the end of the first act, as originally written, in order to preserve the mood and dramatic action as conceived by playwright Williams."

The Xerox Corp. has, of course, long been considered one of video's honored "America" series is an example of its taste and discernment in programming.

And on Jan. 3, Xerox will be the sole sponsor of an hour NBC-TV documentary about the high cost of college education. The title of the broadcast is "The College Money Crunch." Formerly it was called "Colleges and The Middle Class." Edward Neuman is the reporter.

Speaking of money, "Bill Moyer's Journal," a series of video's noncommercial network, has a provocative sounding program Wednesday described in advance publicity as "a report on the role that banking institutions play in the deterioration of inter city communities."

According to the program summary, "Moyers examines two banking policies which, he says, 'contribute wittingly and unwittingly to neighborhood decay' . . . red-lining (denying conventional loans and mortgages to entire geographic areas) and its corollary, disinvestment (the process of taking money out of one community in order to invest it in another.

"Without home improvement loans, conventional mortgages and business loans, a declining neighborhood is easily pushed into its death throes."

In a less significant area of commerce, an expected new NBC-TV series starring Dan Rowan and Dick Martin of "Laugh-In" fame will not be on the network's midseason schedule. The show business trade press reports that negotiations regarding the series were unsuccessful.

Over at ABC-TV, meanwhile, the negotiations that landed noted producer Joseph Papp for at least two dramatic specials should result in some talked about shows for television. A powerful force in the theatre, Papp, in the past year, was represented on CBS-TV by two highly discussed productions, "Much Ado About Nothing" and "Sticks and Bones."

GREEK TRAGEDY — Charlie Dougherty as Jason, confronts Evanne Christian, right, as Medea, while the nurse, Ruth Howe, looks on in a scene from the Four Colleges Players production of Euripides' "Medea." The tragedy will be staged in Balch Hall, Scripps College, at 8 o'clock tonight, Saturday and Sunday. Jesse Swan directs.

The Panama Canal was opened in 1914.

The Regional Planning Commission, County of Los Angeles, has adopted a resolution recommending:
